Local members of the Daughters of the American Revolution and prospective members were hostesses Tuesday to the state regional and other state officers at a beautifully appointed luncheon held at the home of Mrs. L. S. Bennett, covers being placed for twenty.

Following the organization of the new chapter which has been named Waucoma, the following officers were chosen: Regent, Mrs. Charles H. Castner; vice-regent, Mrs. H. G. Cooper; treasurer, Mrs. L. S. Bennett; historian, Miss Gertrude Wheeler; and registrar, Mrs. Bert Heaman, of White Salmon.

Honor guests at the meeting were Mrs. Gordon McCracken, state regent, Ashland; Miss Anne Lang of The Dalles, past vice-president, general of the national society; Mrs. E. C. Apperson of McMinnville, state chairman of extension, and Mrs. Lulu B. Crandall, past state regent of The Dalles.

Out of town members present included Mrs. Bert Heaman of White Salmon and Miss Ruth Mason of Ione. The new chapter will meet the first Friday of each month, and all women of the county eligible to membership are invited to join.

The dining room of the Mt. Hood hotel was crowded Tuesday evening, when members of the Hood River Elks lodge and their families gathered for a real elk dinner and banquet. More than 225 were seated around the banquet board. The piece de resistance of the sumptuous meal was furnished by the state of Oregon and park who took advantage of the opportunity on an open season for elk in Idaho. He furnished the Elks lodge with two quarters of the delicious meat, which was cooked by Andy Rand. The remainder of the dinner was all home cooked, being furnished and served by the women of St. Mary's parish.

Songs that were highly appreciated were furnished by the Elks' trio, James Wilson, D. E. Rand and William Sylvester, and the chorus of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion. The chorus of the latter party in their unique costumes, which they wore last summer at the annual convention at La Grande.

It was regretted that Judge R. R. Butler and Mr. Cramer, of The Dalles, were unable because of illness to be present. Judge Butler had been scheduled for the chief address of the evening, and Mr. Cramer was to have rendered solos.

James H. Hazlett, the lodge's exalted ruler, began the program, eloquently setting forth the serious purposes of the fraternal order, which, however, is characterized, too, by the good fellowship of its members. Others who responded to toasts were: J. H. Fredrick, H. S. Laga, J. L. Beckenridge, Norvin C. Coulter, E. C. Newell, John Bakke, Earl Weber and Father Hugh J. Marshall. The latter eulogized the order for the realism of its charitable works.

Hans Laga, J. Dobson and Geo. A. McCurdy were introduced as pioneers in the activities of Elks in the Hood River Valley. They were members of The Dalles lodge before the Hood River lodge was organized. Mr. Rand was introduced as the author of the dinner. The committee in charge of arrangements for the successful party included James Wilson, Edger and Cecil Lefferty. Joe D. Thomson was toastmaster.

Following the banquet the tables were cleared away, and with Bud's Aces furnishing music, dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

Musical at Rockford Professor I. C. Colcord of Portland will again put on his musical program at the Rockford Grange hall Monday, December 5, at 8 p. m. He will have the same male quartet, violinist and man soloist who were with him in the program at the Grange hall last fall.

An excellent band and a lady soloist will be in the company. Mr. Hickman is one of the best violinists in the northwest. Mr. Colcord with his company is putting on this program in response to numerous requests to come again to Rockford Grange.

A general invitation is given the public to attend this excellent program. A silver collection will be taken.

RIALTO PRESENTS SPECIAL NUMBERS

Several special attractions are billed at the Rialto this week. Friday, December 2, Miss Thelma Layton, late H. S. dancing specialist with Fanchon and Marco, who has just opened a dancing class in Hood River, will present herself and advanced pupils in one of the acts as features for Fanchon and Marco at the Broadway in Portland.

Starting Monday for four days the second big Fox superpal following "What Price Glory" will be shown. This wonder play is "Carmen" taken from the operetta of the same name and featuring Victor McAglen, the captain of "What Price Glory," and Dolores Del Rio, feminine star of the same picture.

"Carmen" is without doubt one of the biggest of the year's pictures and is one of the most costly of the Fox productions. In addition to the regular showing of "Carmen" Miss Alice Carson, a Hood River girl, will appear singing airs from the opera at each evening performance. A special musical score will be played on the Rialto's mighty Wurlitzer by Vera Kolstad, who will also appear in concert Sunday featuring "If I Were King" overture on the ascending Wurlitzer.

Mrs. A. S. Shepler, who is convalescing from an operation for appendicitis, has been removed from the Hood River hospital to her home on Columbia street.

WOMEN'S CLUB NEWS

The Hood River Woman's club observed the Thanksgiving season with an appropriate program arranged by Mrs. W. H. Chipping.

Community singing, "America, the Beautiful," Mrs. J. C. Meyer read "The Origin of Thanksgiving."

Mrs. N. G. Coulter, accompanied by Mrs. Geo. R. Wilbur, gave a group of songs. Mrs. H. G. Cooper gave an address on "The Background of Early American Literature," which depicted the stern Pilgrim and Puritan period of our literature.

first American song writer and composed in 1759 a song entitled "My Sars Have Been So Wonderful." William Billings, the first New England composer, organized the Stoughton Musical society, which is the oldest musical society still in existence. "Tanke Doodle" was one of the first national airs. "Hall, Columbia" was used at Washington's inauguration. The "Star Spangled Banner" was produced in 1814. "America" was written after the Revolution.

As an extreme contrast from the popular dance of the Revolution period, Mrs. A. L. Anderson gave the "Character."

The next regular meeting will be held December 7. Miss Ruth Howes, chairman of the music committee, will present a review of the opera, "La Boheme." Miss Howes will read the story of the opera. Miss Isabel Weatherly, soprano, will sing selections from the role of "Mimi." Miss Sarah Howes will sing selections from the role of "Musette." Ernest Crosby or Mr. Foot, cher, tenor, selections from "Eudoph." Dean Moore, role of "Marcel." These artists are connected with Mr. Boucher's conservatory in Portland. Miss Sarah Howes will accompany. Guests will be welcome by paying the great fee.

As it was necessary for the library board to cut the budget for the current year, there was no available funds with which to purchase books for the library. It was voted to make this meeting a "book show." Those having books which they wish to give, please bring them.
