

ANNUAL LEGION HOOD CLIMB

In accepting your invitation to write an article on the above subject for your New Year's edition, it is with some hesitancy as I feel you have, at all times, amply covered the subject and that your readers are quite familiar with the purpose and aim of the American Legion in its efforts to popularize Mt. Hood.

For God and country, the members of the American Legion have associated themselves together "to incalculable the world in many different parts of the world, to be a source of inspiration to the community, state and nation." Immediately after the close of the world war the Hood River men who had served their country in many different parts of the world, realized that Hood River was, in fact, the original Garden of Eden and that the scenic attractions of the valley and the mountain should be broadcast to the world, that prospective tourists might learn of the many attractions awaiting them in and about Hood River.

The Legion has been unselfish in all its efforts. It has never attempted, and in fact never has made a profit on its annual climb. Many hours of service and many miles of hiking have been freely contributed in the spirit of "service to the community". There might be some criticism of the fact that the Legion has handled its climb but the efforts have, at all times, been sincere and for the good of the community.

The Legion has appointed a climb committee and plans are already being made for the Eighth Annual Climb for some time near the middle of July. In closing, the American Legion wants every booster in Hood River to feel an interest in the Climb, talk when they can, plan on being in the party and reminding their friends of the advantage of making the climb with the American Legion.

WINTER SPORTS

Every community has its quota of people interested in out-of-door sports and Hood River probably has a much larger portion than the average. Since 1925 these enthusiasts had to content themselves with summer sports and with practically nothing to look forward to during the winter months for recreation.

The purpose of the Guide Ski club has been to promote winter sports and to develop the winter possibilities of the north side of Mt. Hood. Realizing that many people enjoy the winter forms of sport but believe that skiing is an art far removed from their own accomplishments, this organization has done much to interest and instruct beginners in the mysteries of skiing, so that at the present time over 150 local people have discovered that there is nothing difficult or dangerous connected with this form of sport and in fact they attain the maximum of enjoyment and healthful exercise from a day at the Homestead Inn and vicinity.

ROTARY CLUB GROWS

By Dr. C. H. Jenkins, President The Hood River Rotary Club was established in April, 1924, by the organization and the presentation of the charter by the Portland club occurred at a dinner at the Columbia Gorge hotel, soon after that hostelry was opened for the season. The club's weekly luncheons were held each Thursday at the Columbia Gorge until the hostelry closed for the season. Since then, however, except for a meeting at Mrs. Alan Howe's Cottage Farm, the weekly luncheons are being held at the Hotel Watkinson.

In contact the diverse business and professional interest of Hood River, and as a result much good has resulted. The members, representative of every phase of business and professional life, have come to know each other better. They have gained a new understanding of each others daily life, and have formed friendships that will redound to the pleasure of themselves and the credit of Hood River. The activities of a Rotarian are not centered so directly through the club itself, in civic affairs of the community, but the service organization seeks to develop among its members the urge to serve through the chamber of commerce, their businesses, the churches and every other worthwhile body to the best of each individual's ability.

An outstanding feature of Rotary is to help the boys of a community help themselves. The local club has been active in Boy Scout work and in securing employment for the boys. The Boys Work committee has announced that the club will present a medal to the student of the Hood River high school who is voted as rendering the greatest service to the institution during the year.

No Rotary event here was ever more pleasant than the luncheon given last summer for the members of the Grand Army. The old boys who wore the blue were taken to the Columbia Gorge, where a special program was held. This week the members will entertain their sons and fathers at the luncheon.

The Hood River Rotary Club is young as yet, but its growth is gratifying to those who know the possibilities of such an organization to aid its individual members and serve the community. The tenets, objects and aims of Rotarians give an assurance that it will be a greater and greater factor for good as each year rolls around.

PARKDALE

J. R. Pifer went to Portland last Wednesday to spend the holidays with his family. William R. Smullin (Billy) came home from Willamette University last Thursday to spend his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smullin. Friends of Joe Irwin were saddened to hear of his death last Tuesday, many not knowing of his illness.

The teachers of both the grade and high schools are spending the vacation week with friends and relatives in Portland, Salem, Seattle and other points. J. E. Van Nuy received word of the death of his sister, Mrs. Mary Fisher, last Thursday at her home in Seattle. Miss Edna Renfro, who is teaching at Orchard, spent the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Renfro. Miss May Allen of Portland spent Christmas with her niece, Mrs. Barbara Miller, and family.

Miss Florence Crayp came home from Walla Walla to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Craven, during the holiday week. Mrs. Ralph Davies has the misfortune to be suffering with a felon on her index finger. Geo. Andrus of Mt. Hood was quite sick last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. McGuire of Mt. Hood moved to Ridgefield, Wash., the first of the week. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Paul and their children, Miss Rosa Kelley, all of Portland, spent the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kelley. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Sommers are spending ten days' vacation in Portland and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gibbs went to Vancouver for Christmas. Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hardman were sorry to learn that their baby died last week. Mr. and Mrs. Salling entertained Mrs. Salling's sister over Christmas. Mrs. Lee Rose (Frances Doggett) of Pendleton spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Doggett, at Mt. Hood.

The women's missionary meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Warren Gibbs on Wednesday afternoon. The Japanese are having a New Year's entertainment in the church next Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Puddy of Hood River spent Christmas with Mrs. Puddy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Van Nuy. The Grange entertained the children with a Christmas tree and treat at their last meeting. The pageant given by the Sunday school and members of Religious Education classes on Sunday evening was a success. Mrs. Harold Melroe, having it in charge, had worked hard and with the cooperation of willing helpers presented a lovely entertainment.

Black reports that the team played a strong game. Our next basket ball attraction is a double-header with the Odell quintets. These games will be played on the Parkdale floor Friday evening, January 6. This will be the first appearance of our girls against a visiting team. We have two fast, clever squads. Come out and see them in action.

The last day of school before Christmas was impressive and happy in both schools. Teachers and pupils both had the whole gamut of holiday spirit from the joyous to the serious and impressive. At 9 o'clock in the high school the girls gleu club sang several selections in a vivacious yuletide brilliancy. Harriet McIsaac and Sheldon Laurance spoke interestingly of the delights and values in college life. George Higgins, playing well the role of a real old-fashioned Santa Claus, distributed the presents; and it was a lively whole-some group of young people to whom George Kris Kingle played host. Then followed a rally with songs and yells sung.

The grade school high school girls gleu club came into the hall soon after one o'clock and sang for a few minutes to the grade school children. Then there were songs and Christmas exercises of a rich variety by the different rooms. The distribution of presents, candy and nuts put the children a-tiptoeing in the air. It was a delightful day for all the young people. There were more of the vital elements of Christmas—the beautiful, the heroic, the helpful—in the activities than one usually sees. It is gratifying how completely children and teachers can enter into a gladsome comradeship in the modern school—in the Parkdale school.

School will re-open Tuesday, January 3, 1928. Last year during the whole year we enrolled 302 pupils in both the grade school and the high school. This year during the first four months we enrolled 277 pupils. Several new pupils will enter early in January—some at the beginning of the second semester. The prospects are that the enrollment at the end of this year will be larger than it was at the close of school last year. During the holiday vacation Miss Johnston will visit an aunt in Salem. Miss Blatrap, Miss Bayle, Miss Romo and Mr. Macdonald will be with home folk in and near Portland. Miss Cosine will visit friends in Seattle for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will attend the meeting of the Oregon State Teachers' association in Portland.

The autumn months for the Parkdale schools have passed away quickly and generally satisfactorily. Suggestions have been mostly kind and constructive. There has been a worthy degree of love, loyalty and helpfulness between parents, teachers and children. One of the brightest of 277 pupils wrote a bright bit of verse in the regular English assignment. The theme is youth, love, life, and immortality. This is it: One day while walking in the sun I saw a little rabbit run Across my path. Said I, "Sir Bun, where goest thou?" And with a dainty life of brow came "Follow me, I'll show you." Through meadows green and marshy swale Over the field and through the dale. And then into a forest dark; All silence, and then—oh hark; 'Tis wedding bells. And then from out a woodland glade I heard a happy laughing maid; And no one tells How hand in hand we went Full of sunshine, gay and free; Till at last My sweetheart falls quite near my side And I go on without my bride, A different man. My heart no more is free and light; The bunian feeds from out my sight; But ere I fall I look, and lo! my eyes behold My sweetheart dressed in robes of gold. The fluffy Bun Leads into cloud-land creamy white In which I enter with delight. The daylight fades; The stars appear; And all the joys of heaven are near. —E. H.

ODELL

Joe Tompkins, who is now in Los Angeles, Calif., under the care of specialists, has many friends in Odell and vicinity who will be pleased to know that there is decided improvement in his condition. Mrs. Harold Melroe has been of several years' duration and recently had become very discouraging. Mrs. W. H. Shelton is ill. Reports indicate gradual improvement. She has a host of friends who hope for her speedy return to health. Two members of last year's graduating class at Odell high school are leaving the first of the year: Irene Ingalls to enter U. of C., Eugene and Irma Bowerman, Northwestern Business College of Portland.

Because of the fact that holiday week is time of religious activity in the meeting of the Ladies Society of the Methodist church for this week was omitted. The following announcement was received from Edna Kelley, of Astoria: "A Christmas dinner was given at the home of Miss May and Leonard Fletcher. The following announcement was received from Edna Kelley, of Astoria: "A Christmas dinner was given at the home of Miss May and Leonard Fletcher. The following announcement was received from Edna Kelley, of Astoria: "A Christmas dinner was given at the home of Miss May and Leonard Fletcher."

Both of our teams came out from Grass Valley games at the losing end. Both had pretty fair allays. The day was so cold and the way long and dangerous. Our boys saw seven cars pile up at once and so we consider that they were not in a perfect mental condition when they started to play. Anyway they say that at the return game we will have the score reversed. Our town boys did not arrive until 9:15 and played suppressive. They all got home very early for Christmas so we have that much to be thankful for.

The Rebekahs held their Christmas tree in the Odd Fellows hall last Thursday evening. After the games a fine supper was served. A question box has been put up in the church. The purpose is to give an opportunity for everyone to make suggestions or inquiry on any kind of religious question and have it answered from the pulpit. Sermon topics or texts may be suggested, or ideas offered for the improvement of the church services. The names of the drivers need not be signed. Next Sunday evening a stereo optical lecture will be given by Rev. E. G. Scherer in the church at 7:30. The subject is "Scenes From Syria." Mr. Scherer was teacher in Tripoli Boys' school for two years and has visited the scenes shown in the lecture. Everyone is invited. The New Year sermon topic for Sunday morning is "Forward!" Parkdale School Notes In the college entrance examination taken recently by the seniors in Parkdale high school Ralph Priest rated highest in algebra. Middlewart next. Ralph's rating was identical with that made last autumn by Yamhill which graded the highest in the state. This average of the whole class was gratifying.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Bowerman and their small son and daughter, enjoyed Christmas dinner in the Bowerman home Sunday. A special feature was the center piece of real poinsettias from southern California for this occasion. On Tuesday, January 10, at a program sponsored by the P. T. A. and Home Economics committee of the Grange, Mrs. Jessie McComb, state leader in Home Economics from Oregon State College, will deliver an address. Other numbers on the program will be: Music, Mrs. Walter Wells; reading, Mrs. Joe Vannier; song, Mrs. C. H. Sletton.

DEE Nels E. Nelson and daughter, Pauline, were Christmas shoppers in Portland last week. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor visited De on business last Monday. Val Bearson, Moyne Rogers and Nails Gorman are fighting their way back to California. Several battles have been arranged for in the southern end of this state and the fighters will be in good condition when they reach California, the state where they raise good horses and prunes. Cliff Thomas, a prospective bachelor of Trout Creek, is visiting his brother, Charles, of Troutdale. Charles Thomas is engaged in raising thoroughbred dogs and is doing a growing business. It was not a very lonely drive to Troutdale. N. Gilbert Theoban, who is now located in Portland, is visiting his parents in Des. His large number of friends in the valley were very glad to see him. Gilbert is an unusually gifted musician and his absence from the community is much regretted, although he does blow a saxophone. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Leary, late of Des but now of Portland, are Christmas visitors, spending the holidays with the George Wirlich family and entertaining Master Jerry O'Leary. The John R. Edgars are spending the yuletide in Portland with their daughters, Mrs. Thibberg and Miss Louise. The construction of the new power plant of the Oregon Lumber company is progressing very nicely and should be in operation by the middle of January. After January first the company will completely repair all the rolling stock in anticipation of an early spring opening. The population of cats at Des has now reached the point of completion. The village is saturated with cats and also sufficed with cats. We have achieved the highest elevation in satiation with cats, the pinnacle of the ultimate. We are gladdened with cats and we are trying to convey the impression that we don't want no more cats. So our friends on the Flats or elsewhere have a surplus, excess or overload of cats we would suggest that they take them out in the hills or down to the Apple City and let them feed on the Grand Falls. Charlie Church had his tonsils removed just before Christmas and he naturally enjoyed his soup during the holidays. The American magazine for January shows a picture of Multnomah Falls and describes it as one of the beauty spots on the Columbia highway—"a picture taken in California."

An equal amount of money will be contributed by the state of Oregon for the same purpose, making a total of $28,000 to be spent on market roads in this county for the year 1928. At their meeting on January 4, of next year, the county court will consider whether this money is to be spent. About a year ago several Odell citizens circulated petitions throughout the districts of Odell, Summit and Pine Grove to have the Tucker and Crockett hills cut down to a reasonable grade. These petitions were signed by the above mentioned taxpayers with only two or three people refusing to sign. Practically all those who did sign were enthusiastically in favor of having these grades put on the market road map last year and the work started as well the past summer. The county court spent their market road money on projects which were only partly finished. We believe that a sound judgment on the part of the county court to finish what was already started before attempting any new work. At the present time there are really no uncompleted projects and we think the Tucker hill is the longest and steepest hill carrying the volume of traffic it does of any road in the county. The Tucker hill is 17 per cent and the Crockett hill is over 20 per cent grade. Practically all the people living directly south of each grade are going to travel over those hills as long as they are passable because they provide the shortest and quickest route to Hood River. In other words, it is the natural route for the entire western half of the Odell section and all of the Summit section. In addition, the market road provide a much closer route for the Des people than the Loop highway in case the river route was impassable or in bad condition. During the past summer a survey was made from the O. L. Walter corner in a northeast and east direction to the Loop highway on a five per cent grade and the cost was found to be something over $30,000, or approximately the same as the estimate for the Tucker hill project as far as the Tucker bridge, according to an expression of opinion from about 15 Des taxpayers and about 40 Odell taxpayers who were interviewed on the subject very few people would travel that route if it were built. In other words, it would be a "white elephant" the same as the Whiskey creek grade is as far as serving a large number of people is concerned. The Tucker Hill project, according to County Engineer Hurlbut, could probably be graded cheaper with a steam shovel than with teams and scrapers. Consequently, it would seem that it would be cheaper for the county to complete that project this coming summer than split the funds with some other smaller project which we understand there is being a demand for.
