Three Kinds of Values

Articles are valuable principally for three reasons:

- I—They have intrinsic value, due to the costly materials or skilled labor with which they made.
- II—They have sentimental value, due to their association with some one we love.
- III—They are valuable because they are rare—or because they are irreplaceable.

Every one has valuables in at least one of these classifications—probably in all three. Unless they are in constant use, the best place to keep them in is a safe deposit box in this bank.

MEET DRUGS SKI CHAMPS

SOUTH SIDE TOURNAMENT SUNDAY

Guida Ski Club Meet, Whose Carnival Comes February 12, Will Journey To . . .

A large delegation from the Guida ski club will journey to the south side of Mount Hood next week end to participate in the annual winter sports carnival to be held at Swin. The local winter sports enthusiasts are putting forth every effort to make their own second annual carnival, scheduled for Sunday, February 12, a success. Many of the ski experts who will be seen in action at Swin Sunday, will be here the following Sunday.

While weather conditions last Sunday were far from good on the south side of the mountain, the 15 automobile loads of local recreationists who motored to Argonne camp reported that skiing conditions were fine on the north side. A chinook wind had melted and softened the snow on the south side of the peak.

Former ski champions of Norway, Sweden and Germany will participate in the first annual tournament of the Mount Hood Ski club, to be staged on Mount Multnor, at Swin. Thor Lead, who held the championship of Sweden in 1916 and 1919, is the latest ex-titl holder to participate in this event, which will reveal to the people of Oregon the value of winter sports in the state.

The entry of Hans Otto Giese, former champion and a jumper of great skill, was received by Dr. DuPuis, president of the club, a few days ago. In addition to these two ex-titl holders, the entry of Charles Wozman, who held the Norwegian championship titles in 1901 and 1902, has been filed with the champion. Wozman, it is understood, has not been on skis in 25 years, but is willing to pit his skill against that of the latter-day champion.

C. Ronstad, who jumped 183 feet in the Revelstok, B. C. tournament, in 1925, is among entrants, and before the end of the week it is expected that close to 20 former stars of the winter sport will be among the participants. Ronstad arrived in Portland Saturday and went to the club headquarters to practice for the event.

The Mount Hood Ski club has a natural slide of 800 feet, with a 200-foot drop, which is considered by experts to be an ideal place for the event. Assisting the Mount Hood Ski club officials in the details of the tournament are the officers of the Masanuma.

Arrangements have been made by the ski club officials for the parking of 1500 cars on the highway near Swin. There is room for three rows of cars parked diagonally along the highway, as the road from Government Camp to the Ad club slide is 90 feet wide. Last year at the club's tournament, there were 600 cars and this year the ski club leaders are expecting twice that number.

The club has planned for a banquet to be held in the Government Camp Hotel in the details of the tournament are the officers of the Masanuma. Arrangements have been made by the ski club officials for the parking of 1500 cars on the highway near Swin.

ROTARIANS TO TAKE SCOUTS TO PORTLAND

The Portland Rotary club is sponsoring a boy's vocational exposition to be held at the Portland auditorium February 9, 10 and 11. A number of the Hood River Rotarians will motor to the metropolis with local Boy Scouts and give them an opportunity to see the numerous exhibits. In Sunday's Oregonian, the following story of the exposition was carried:

The English folk dance, "Erdsden Swords," will be presented at the boy's vocational exposition to be held at the auditorium February 9, 10 and 11. Five members of troop 45 of the Irvington district Boy Scouts will present the dance.

The dance, traditional in certain parts of the north of England, has been done by the natives since time immemorial, according to Otto C. Mauthe, chairman of the program committee. It embodied many of the ritualistic rites of the earliest English civilization. One figure, the Lock of the Swords, was said to have at one time been made about the head of a human victim of sacrifice. The movement that freed the lock was said to have served to sever the head and accomplish the sacrifice.

Double-bladed, two-handled swords of unpolished Sheffield steel will be used in the dance. It is believed that only one other set of these awards can be found in America. The Erdsden Sword dance has plenty of action and requires great dexterity on the part of the Scouts participating, who will be Emmett Oulton, Harry Scott, Elbert Mattson, David Walter and Arnold Davis. They were trained by Mrs. G. C. Schaeffer.

Another section of the Boy Scout presentation on the arena show program will be a descriptive skit called "The Scouting Trail". It will cover the life of a Scout from his tenderfoot days to the time he has passed the first-class Scout examinations. Clarke Schouboe, director of the skit, has gathered his cast from local troops 89, 28, 61, 43 and 66.

NOTED NEGRO SONG TEAM IS COMING

Hood River folk have a treat in store for the evening of Sunday, February 12, when the choir of the Olivet Baptist Church (colored), Portland, will be presented in concert at Riverside Church by the Men's Brotherhood. These singers have won a reputation throughout the Pacific northwest. They have appeared frequently in concert and have been heard in broadcasts from KGW.

The program will be especially appropriate for February 12 because of that date being the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln. The noted choir offers a great variety in the program. They render sacred songs, negro spirituals and dialect songs. The quartet is to sing of real service to Old Black Joe when they are presented here.

Hackett in New Store
W. A. Hackett has finished moving his stock from the Stewart building and is now at home in his new location in the Hall building. The interior of the big store room has been improved greatly, and the displays of furniture are very appealing.

The big basement of the store has been turned into a display room. Old fashioned dance at Rockford, Friday, February 3. Come.
