The Independent Water company, which serves a large share of the business houses and residence of Cascade Locks with clear cold water from the mountains, plans to begin installation of fire hydrants on Main street. The hydrants are badly needed and the company's action will not only be cordially endorsed by business houses but should have the result of cutting down insurance rates quite materially.

Camp grounds at the east end of town are filled with families, who are unable to obtain houses due to the acute shortage of dwellings in Cascade Locks. More than 25 families are now living in the district around W. J. Carlson's Red & White store.

Dr. F. Folsom, who practiced dentistry in Portland for 15 years, has moved to Cascade Locks, as also has his brother, Louie Folsom, a jeweler. Heretofore Cascade Locks has had neither dentist nor jeweler and their presence here is a great convenience to dam workers and towns people alike. They have attractive offices in a newly renovated building at the east end of Main street.

Master John Carlson, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carlson, proprietors of the Red and White store in the east end of town, has been seriously ill with intestinal flu.

Henry Nelson, student at Oregon State college, spent the Easter holidays with his parents, Captain and Mrs. Charles Nelson.

Al Barber, who has lived in Cascade Locks for years, is remodeling a building on Main street and will open a sandwich stand and beer parlor. The room he will occupy was formerly a part of the building now being occupied by the Cascade Food Store, Inc.

end of town. When completed one of the three cottages will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reuterskjold, long time residents of Cascade Locks.

Dr. E. H. Berger, Portland physician with offices in the Medical-Dental building, Portland, has opened an office on the second floor of the I. O. O. F. building, above the Cascade Drug company's store. He plans to spend Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays in Cascade Locks, and will spend more time here if conditions warrant.

Mrs. Sam Hill is remodeling her property on Main street, across from the meat market, to meet the demand for offices and stores. She is building an addition to the property next to the sidewalk which will be completed early next week. It will accommodate two business firms.

The Bank of Stevenson is extending the accommodations of its services to Cascade Locks by assisting in the cashing of payroll checks. Last Saturday Cashier Beck came across the river with sufficient funds to take care of workers who were paid off during the day. The bank reports that it is getting an increasing volume of business from the Locks.

Erick Erickson was one of the few men who were willing to gamble on Cascade Locks before President Roosevelt authorized construction of Bonneville dam. He came here last October and opened the Rapids Club. He is not only getting his share of trade from the employes on the dam, but is getting a good trade from the highway.

Helen Christensen, Gibson Harrison, Ed Glazier, Nick Harrison and Elma Glazier went to Portland Tuesday and motored to Oregon City to visit relatives before returning to the Locks.

Wilbert Harrison, Miss Burt and Miss Stuart motored to Eugene and Corvallis over the weekend. Miss Stuart's sister, Willena, and Miss Burt's sister, Jean, returned with them for a visit.

Young Man: "Sir, your daughter has promised to become my wife."

Prospective Father-in-law: "Well, don't c moteo me for sympathy. You might know something would happen when you have been hanging around here five nights a week."

New Drug Store Opens for Business

The Cascade Drug company is now established in its new quarters in the Odd Fellows building and is doing a lively business. The soda fountain, the most modern and complete between Portland and Hood River, is attracting an excellent trade, especially among the ladies. The store has a splendid stock of fresh goods and a prescription department. It is the property of S. J. Hemmel, who has a drug store in Portland near the public library, and is under the management of D. J. Francis, a registered pharmacist. Mr. Hammel was engaged in the lumber business with his father in Cascade Locks and Bridal Veil more than 30 years ago. Mr. Francis has owned and operated drug stores in Portland for years.

Dam Inn to Entertain Saturday Evening

Frank Bennett, proprietor of the Dam Inn, is preparing to entertain the public with another of his Saturday night parties tomorrow night. This time he is going to feature the Cascade Locks Lumber company. He has arranged for good music and promises plenty of fun for all seeking it. We have no doubt the house will be packed, so suggest you go early.

New Beauty Shop Opens to the Public

Mrs. Lucille Henderson, a graduate of the Pacific Beauty School of Portland, and for the past four years a resident of Cascade Locks, has opened a beauty shop and hair dressing parlor on the second floor of the Odd Fellows building. Mrs. Henderson was formerly employed in some of the best beauty shops in Portland and is thoroughly experienced. She recently purchased considerable shop equipment and hereafter should be able to keep the ladies of Cascade Locks and the surrounding communities looking their best. She has given her new business the name of Lucille Beauty Shop. If uncertain of the location, watch for the new sign which she is causing to be painted.

Cascade Locks Lumber Co. Opens Its New Plant

The Cascade Locks Lumber company has finished work on its new off the ground in front of its building. A mounting demand for lumber plant and is now preparing to level as the result of the town's rapid growth is keeping Manager I. Owen busy. The yard is well stocked. In stock of paints, plumbing supplies addition to lumber it is carrying a and builders hardware.

The plant, a building 50 by 20 feet and two stories in height, was built by J. B. Lober to meet the demand for lumber which has grown up since spring opened and public attention became centered on Cascade Locks. The stocks are complete, making it unnecessary for purchasers to go out of town to obtain their supplies.

Mr. Owen, who is in charge, came to Cascade Locks from North Bonneville, where he was manager of the Fisher Lumber company.

A colored woman boarded a street car recently. Comfortably seated, she went about the chore of giving her baby its noonday meal from the breast. The baby, a husky youngster, was too interested in its surroundings to eat. After a time the mother stopped coaxing and commenced threatening the baby.

"Look here, you all," she said finally, "if you don't eat Ise gwine to give youh dinnah to the motoman."

Judge: "Where is your husband?"
Defendant: "I ain't got no husband. He been dead nigh onto ten years."

Judge: "Are those your children?"
Defendant: "Yas, suh. Dey's mine."
Judge: "But I thought you said your husband is dead."
Defendant: "Yas, suh; he dead, but I ain't."

"Can I live to be 100 years old, doctor?"

"How old are you?"

"Fifty."

"Have any vices—drink, smoke, gamble or chase women?"

"No."

"Then why n be you want to live to be a hundred?"

She: "Now, before we start this ride I want to tell you that I don't smoke, drink or neck; I visit no roadside inns, and I expect to be back home by 10 o'clock."

"You're mistaken."

She: "You mean that I do any of those things?"

He: "No, I mean about starting on this ride."

Customer: "I don't like the looks of that haddock."

Fish Dealer: "Lady, if it's looks you're after, why don't you buy a goldfish."

Artist, talking to model: "Miss Smith, how many times have I asked you not to wear such tight garters"—(looking more closely) "and for heaven's sake quit sitting on those cane-bottom chairs."

Teacher: "What is a censor?"

Student: "A censor is a man who goes from house to house to increase the population."

Teacher: "Willie, I think I'll keep you after school."

Willie: "It won't do you any good; I'm a woman hater."

Announcement

Our confidence in Cascade Locks is proven by our selection of this town for future, as well as present, business.

We have given Cascade Locks a real modern, up-to-date drug store. A store that will be a credit to this community long after the Great Dam has been completed.

We will appreciate the opportunity of being of service to you and extend to you and yours a direct personal invitation to drop in and become acquainted. Call upon us when you are in need of merchandise and make a personal inspection of our all-mechanical fountain service.

The store will be in charge of a registered pharmacist at all times. Your prescriptions will be accurately and correctly compounded, as ordered by your doctor.

The policy of our drug store will be to render the type of service that will merit your confidence and patronage, and supply the type of merchandise you want.
