Paul Peterson, official gardener at the Bonneville dam, is busy landscaping the grounds surrounding the police sentry box at the main gate. The grounds will be planted with flowers and promise to become quite colorful as the season advances.

Restaurant owners on the highway in Multnomah county have been warned by the state liquor control board that they will no longer be permitted to display beer signs. It is expected that the warning will be broadcast to all restaurants and hotels in the dam area. Under the new ruling, just promulgated by the board, signs cannot carry the words beer, wine or ale; can not be greater than 30 inches in length, or 6 inches high. Beer cannot be served to occupants of cars on the highway, but can be served outdoors when the car is parked on a restaurant's property.

Rolf Enquest and Hal Babbitt are enjoying a nice business at their new grill on the highway in Enquist's addition to Bonneville. They have named it Bonny Villa. One of the nicest features is a large stone fireplace, which they installed at considerable expense. The boys are building an outdoor garden in the rear of the place and will have it in operation with the coming of warm weather.

After rising steadily fore more than a month, the Columbia became stationary Friday and began to fall slightly on Saturday. Old timers say the freshest is the earliest ever known, coming even ahead of the unexpected high water of 1893, when the flood took heavy toll.

Erick Erickson was host at a very happy and a highly successful firthing party Saturday night at his Rapids club. In reality it was something of a joint celebration, for both he and Mrs. Erickson are celebrating their birthdays this month. The party was largely attended and everyone had a splendid time. There was no disorder and no loud or boisterous talk.

Mrs. Rosenback had Mr. Chas. Smith and son Esson for dinner the evening of the 7th.

Miss Wilma Eddy returned to her home at Corvallis Thursday. Her mother, Mrs. S. H. Eddy, and Bertha Eddy, her sister and Mr. Cecil Rife came for her.

Mrs. Oscar C. Hyde came up from Portland Saturday to visit her husband, who has opened the Men's Store in Cascade Locks. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon W. Goetz. Mr. Hyde is located in the new building just finished by J. B. Laber. He expresses himself as pleased with the business he is doing, and has expressed the opinion that Cascade Locks has a bright future ahead.

Mrs. William Keeler came up from Portland this week to join her husband, who is agent for J. B. Laber in Cascade Locks. They have taken a house on Main street, near the Merrill Barbecue.

Mrs. Leo Stewart entertained at a luncheon and cards at Lamb's Inn, on the highway, Friday. Guests were Mrs. Dolf Carpenter, Mrs. C. R. Johnson, Mrs. G. I. Kambstad, Mrs. Shinn, Mr. W. B. Hill, Mrs. O. H. Jack Meehan and Mrs. H. C. McClellan.

O. J. Birkelid, a member of the Union Pacific's bridge crew in the dam area, spent the weekend in Seattle, returning to Cascade Locks Monday.
