Some prize winning whiskers are being grown these days by business men and others in anticipation of the Fourth of July celebration. There are a variety of colors and styles. Red appears to be the favorite color with black a close second. Indications are that a majority of males will be wearing facial decorations before the coming of Saturday night.

Oscar Hyde, proprietor of the Men's Shop, promises to become Hyde, the Clothier, now that he has put in a line of men's suits of the Pendleton woolen mills brand. It is the first line of men's suits brought into the Bonneville dam area, and they are of good quality and style.

Banners have been hung across the highway at either end of town, calling attention to the dam celebration. They are so prominent that no one can drive along the highway without noticing them.

Mrs. Northcott and Mrs. G. F. Atkinson were visitors in Portland last Tuesday.
