OF COURSE GARDNER-DENVER'S

MODEL S. 55 DRILL WAS CHOSEN

FOR BONNEVILLE'S HARDEST DRILLING!

Model S. 55 drill in action at Bonneville on center line of main dam.

Gardner-Denver Co. is proud of its record nationally as well as at the Bonneville dam—for here—two of America's prominent contracting firms—The Guy F. Atkinson Company and The General Construction Company—contractors on the toughest part of the Bonneville excavating job—chose the Gardner-Denver S. 55 drill to do part of the drilling work.

Such a choice "didn't just happen". The utmost efficiency was required of every piece of machinery used by these contractors. It was a fast moving job. Break down delays are too costly. Tests show the S. 55 to be the fastest drill on the market in its class. It is adapted to general excavation, road work, shaft sinking, and drifting.
