EAGLE CREEK

By Mrs. Hugh W. Cople.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Kissinger spent Sunday in Portland at the H. W. Heim home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hibbard of Portland were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snider.

Miss Gladys Oliver spent the weekend in Portland with her sister and mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Davis and sons spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reed. They all enjoyed a trip to Government Springs.

Mrs. M. Cellers and sons, Stanley and Ronald, spent several days of last week visiting in Newberg with Mrs. Cellers' mother, Mrs. J. D. Armstrong.

Mrs. J. B. Fambion and son Jimmy are in Portland this week, the latter to have his tonsils removed.

Robert E. Smith from Portland is visiting for a few days with Jack and Marshall Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bell had as company this week Marie and Ragna Aneson and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Egdling, all of Portland.

Thomas Swanson from Hood River spent Monday evening at the T. T. Hickok home. Mr. Swanson will be going to Corvallis soon to enter O. S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Waring have as guests this week Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sohlstrom from Portland. Mr. Sohlstrom is employed with the General-Shea Contracting company.

Miss Lois Mitchell of Portland has returned to her home after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Waring.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollingsworth had as Sunday guests an aunt, Miss Singleton of Portland, and Harold Carlberg.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Goodhart, of the Eagle Creek Lodge, were both pleased and surprised when Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and her secretary, Mrs. Hicok, stopped at their place Thursday on their way to Portland.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Cellers were Mr. and Mrs. Cupples from Newberg and Miss Kinney, a niece, from Union, Ore., Guy Amberry and children from Hermiston and Mrs. Palmer from Yoncolla.

Mrs. Fred Snider is again home after spending ten days in the east. She attended the world's fair and visited relatives near Chicago. She returned by airplane to Cheyenne and from there to The Dalles by train. Mrs. Snider expected to stay longer, but having a chance to pilot his own plane, decided to do come part way with a cousin who so. She reports having a fine trip, but much prefers Oregon weather.

A suggestion has been made that those living on Eagle Creek Heights put the number of their lots where they can be easily read. Many of the original stakes have been lost. This will help the baker and butcher and also friends who are trying to locate them.

Four generations were represented at picnics at Eagle creek park on Sunday, July 29. Rev. and Mrs. Stanley D. Trefren and daughter, Bonney Bartlett, enjoyed a picnic dinner with relatives Sunday. Those present were Great Grandfather M. N. Bonham and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bartlett, grand parents, from Scholls, Ore. Other relatives were Mr. and Mrs. George Allison and sons from Newberg and Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Howell and two daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Ranke enjoyed a visit from Mrs. Ranke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Vails from Pasco, Wash. Also from Mr. and Mrs. Dee Harkness from Breckenridge, Texas.

Mrs. Daisy Smith is spending the week with her daughter, Mrs. L. L. Hickok, during her illness.

Guests of Mrs. George E. Goodwin Wednesday were Mrs. Hugh Ball, Mrs. Howard Smith and Mrs. Lynn Paddock, all of Hood River.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Dye from Portland were weekend visitors at the E. P. Cosby home.

Camp Fires Not Extinguished

While making his regular patrol trip, Ed Mohr, lookout fireman on Chinidere mountain, Mt. Hood National Forest, discovered a camp fire which had not been extinguished, near the Indian Mountain trail.

The persons responsible for leaving this fire were later apprehended by Ranger Wiesendanger before they had returned to the Columbia River highway and were arrested and taken to Hood River where Judge Stranshan, who heard their plea of guilty, gave them a lecture on fire prevention, followed by a fine of $12.00.

The names of the campers were: Gilbert Foster, Steve Yukich, Tony Rinella, Geo. Nickachson, Gus Grace and Anto Yukich, all of Portland.

Bridge Luncheon.

Mrs. Leo Stewart and Mrs. Jack Meehan were hostesses to a number of friends at a luncheon last Tuesday at the spacious dining room of the Craigmont hotel. The tables were attractively decorated. Following the luncheon the ladies played bridge.

Those in attendance were: Mesdames C. E. Ferguson, Geo. Atkinson, Ray Northcutt, R. E. Morgan, Dolph Carpenter, C. E. Franklin, Walter Hill, O. H. Johnson, Charles Shinn, H. C. McCellan, George Kambistead, William Ellis, D. E. Root, W. J. Carlson, John Standish, Charles Andrews, John Kier, George E. Goodman and Fred Jordan.

Sturgeon Farm.

Harry Matthewson now owns what promises to develop into a high class fish farm, or as polite society might term it an aquarium. The farm, located in the back yard of the Carlson homestead in the rear of the Lakeside market, now boasts a pair of hopeful that they will mate, but only time will tell.

Rev. E. F. Smith, who comes to Cascade Locks from Newport to fill the pulpit at the Methodist Community church, held his first services last Sunday. He will continue to hold services each Sunday morning and evening. Church people are delighted to know they are to have a full-time pastor.

J. A. Barker from Boulder Dam is visiting his nephew, George W. Barker. Miss Marian Barker of Portland accompanied him here on Friday. Mr. Barker is employed with the Big Six company and is planning to move his family, now visiting in California, here later.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Robbins and son, Linn, of Walla Walla have returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Tharp, who are in charge of the toll bridge.
