Richard Holbrook, an Inspector at the dam, and Mrs. Holbrook were painfully bruised when their machine struck a concrete abutment over a drain ditch a mile east of Multnomah falls Saturday. Mrs. Holbrook was knocked unconscious. They were given first aid treatment at the dam.

The Bonneville post office will be open all day Sunday, but will be closed Christmas day, except to hand out parcel post packages at the rear door.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weller of Bradford Island were guests last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Evans of Corbett.

Friday night of last week the Bonneville engineers enjoyed a dinner dance at the Latourelle tavern. Approximately a hundred and twenty-five people were present and enjoyed the evening.

Captain Rexford of the Multnomah county sheriff's office is holding a first aid class at the guards barracks once a week. The class will hold nine meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Torkelson were Portland visitors Friday.

Lipman Wolfe and company entertained the Women's club of Bonneville at a luncheon Tuesday.

The Sunday School program and Contata will be given this coming Sunday at 8:15 p. m.

Several hundred socks for the American Legion Christmas party were made last Thursday at the meeting of the Women's club held at the Community Center. Approximately forty women were present.

Stephen D. Harris, of the transportation department in the U. S. engineers, has been passing the cigars around among the boys since the nurses called down the corridor at the hospital to him that he and Mrs. Harris are the parents of an 8-pound baby, born in Portland December 10. The new daughter has been named Carolyn Jean.

Arnold Henney, son of D. C. Henney, consulting engineer for the five large dams which the federal government is building in the west, is moving his family into the house on the reservation formerly assigned to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hartman. Henney is in charge of the crews which are concreting the grout holes at the dam. Mrs. Hartman has been ill, and after leaving a hospital in Portland went to California, where she will seek to recover her health.

Archie Cook is clearing away the underbrush and laying off the hillside in the rear of his tavern into lots which he proposes to lease for cabin sites. He owns 40 acres of property. It is his intention to grade a road up the hillside, swing it through the trees and bring it down to the point where the old telephone office stands.

ROUTE A YEAR OLD

Roy Sinner, who drives the Brandes creamery truck, has just celebrated his first year in serving the Bonneville Dam area. He came into the district when houses were few and far apart, and when only a handful of men were employed at the dam. He has seen houses spring all along the highway, has seen the population in the Cascade Locks district mount from 300 to nearly 1500 people. The year has been a profitable one for his firm in this district. It sells its products to all of the contractors, to homes and stores. Through Roy Sinner's efforts his company has developed a route that serves a large territory in the district.

We suppose the entire district has been down by the railroad station in Bonneville before this to visit the Community Center. If you haven't visited this modern business district, you have missed something. You will observe the dream of Paul C. King and associates come true. To Mr. King, our congratulations.
