

HOOP COURT PROMISE
In appreciation of the cooperation received from the United States Engineers department, the Multnomah county school board, through Superintendent Cannon, announced last week that the government basketball team would be able to use the 40 by 70 foot floor, now under construction at the Bonneville grade school, at its convenience next season.

Friends of Mrs. Robert Weller will be glad to learn that she will soon be home from Portland, completely recovered from her illness.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Markwart, of the Bonneville phone office, completed a mixed business and pleasure trip to Portland over the week-end. The popular pair spent Sunday with parents in Gresham.

The reservation's initial dance in the new series was held Friday night at Latourell's Tavern, with more than 50 couples attending. Music was furnished by Mrs. Caroon's orchestra. Hosts for the invitational affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert LePere, Lieutenant and Mrs. Colby M. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Dave M. Marvin, and Mr. and Mrs. George Goodwin. The first dance was so successful that the group planned another for this Friday, at the same place.

J. H. Crane, of North Bonneville, was hospitalized at St. Vincent's in Portland Sunday for a crushed left leg and possible fracture. The injury was received when Crane's leg was caught between two falling planks.

"Red" Jarman, star guard of the United States Engineers, has returned to the lineup after a week's confinement to his bunkhouse with an unknown ailment. Two horseshoe courts, for the reservation's barnyard sport followers, will be started this week between the General bunkhouses and the Community Center building.

Tom Dippery, medical assistant in the government hospital, is the proud father of a new and smelly pipe, which burns fully one quarter of a can of tobacco at one sitting.

In order that the government's "heat" may keep warmer in the spring months than they did in the winter ones, new oil burning stoves have been installed in the administration building.

Mrs. Peter Nicholson, of Bonneville, was the guest of Mrs. S. O. Levack at the meeting of Delta Rho chapter of the Delphians Friday.

Mrs. Stanley Levack motored to Portland last week to attend the reception for Dudley Craft Watson and his music-picture-symphonic on "Itlay."

Mr. Eddie, popular manager of the Guy F. Atkinson Construction company office in Bonneville, has been transferred to grand Coulee, where he will resume active duties for the company. He will be replaced here by Mr. Shaffer.

O. L. M. Hauser, proprietor of the Bonneville Drug store, has utilized the space left by the vacated postoffice for a new prescription office, and has equipped it with modern conveniences.

Mrs. T. F. Johnson, Mrs. John J. Torkelson, Mrs. Roy Wagoner and Mrs. Leo W. Miller attended a tea held by Mrs. Robert LePere in her reservation home Thursday honoring Mrs. Williams of Portland.

J. J. Nunn, office manager for G. F. Atkinson company, whose Bonneville Dam contract has been completed, will leave for Astoria this week, accompanied by Mrs. Nunn, to take over assistant manager duties for Winston Brothers and the Atkinson company on the Jetty project.

Motorcycle Delivery anyplace in the Bonneville Dam area. Cascade Drug Co. Phone 321.

Bonneville's first birthday party in several months was held Tuesday by Elizabeth Miller, on her ninth anniversary. The children attending, who played games and devoured tasty refreshments in the course of the afternoon, were: Patricia Laxton, Dorothy Duncan, Nelda Beebe, Lois and Frances Linton, Yvonne Bolin, Fonia Blower, Leiloni LePere, Janet Torkelson, Margie Marvin, Joan Gorlinski, Bonnie Jean Trefern, Dolores Hadley and Margaret Miller.

The Lakeside Market offers free daily delivery to the Bonneville Dam area. Phone 17.

LOCKS HIGH LOSES

Cascade Locks high lost its place at the top of the district basketball division last week when the fast-stepping Odell preppers turned in a 26-13 win and Stevenson high trounced the Pirates the following night, 24-11.

Following in the footsteps of their varsity, the Locks second stringers also bowed twice, falling before Odell reserves, 11-2, and to the Stevenson subs, 23-17.

ENGINEERS WIN TILT

A daring move in throwing two veteran but "out of shape" players into the lineup at half time, brought victory to the United States Engineers and their wily mentor over the Cascade Locks Buccaneers, 21-17, in an exciting Mid-Columbia basketball league game on the latter's floor last week.

The newcomers, Jim Hermann and George Ellertsen, the former once coach of the Astoria YMCA quintet and the latter an independent star, accounted for seven points between them in the final half, sparking the government five to a wild fourth quarter win.
