PLANS FOR BASEBALL TEAM GET UNDER WAY

Falling in their quest to obtain the A. Alger property, east of town for a baseball field, interested residents turned their quest in other directions last week, and received permission to use a number of fields, most of which have proved unsatisfactory, however.

Barney Conlon's Herman Creek property, though some distance from town, seems the most likely place at present. J. B. Laber offered his land near the bridge, but it was felt that too much work would be necessary to build a diamond. Alaska Junk company, of Portland, sanctioned the use of ground near the Craigmont, but it was not suitable.

General-Shea Construction company has offered the use of a bulldozer whenever desired, the only conditions being that gasoline and an operator be supplied. Mid-Columbia league officials have approached players as to joining their loop this season.

Those in the district who would be interested in forming a team this year or who feel they have suitable ground nearby, are requested to talk to Dave Dinsmore, barber at the Horn Club, Cascade Locks, or to leave their names at the Chronicle office.

GRADE SCHOOL PROGRAM REAL ENTERTAINMENT

For more than 300 children and parents who attended the two performances of the Bonneville grade school, held Friday in the Community Chapel on the reservation, the program was more entertainment, both dramatic and humorous, than any ever presented in the district.

The seriousness of the children taking part in the plays and novelty entertainments was superb, and the rounds of applause that followed every number plainly showed it.

The number that really "stole the show" was the one presented by the first and second grade room "Cinderella". Little Bobette Rathman's characterization of the heroine was splendid, as was Ronald Beck's as the prince. The minuet, feature of the ball, in which the entire class took part, was especially entertaining.

Barbara Beck, as Babs, in "Rescued by Radio," was a finished artist, and her selection for the part was astonishingly well chosen. The teachers, working under Principal Robertson, directed the program.

BONNEVILLE SCHOOL NEWS

The second grade room has a new pupil, Muriel Checketta, from Clackamas. She is living at Eagle Creek, and has a sister, June, in the third grade.

There is a new resident in the third and fourth grade room. He is a toad and his name is Napoleon. The workmen, while digging the foundation for the new auditorium found him hibernating three feet underground. The children of that room voted on his name.

The total amount earned at the candy sale, which was under the supervision of Miss Stevens, was $8.10.

The fifth and sixth grades are progressing in their collection of new information from each state. Facts are obtained from Chambers of Commerce in large cities. They are also working on a scrap-book of the Bonneville Dam project.

The boys and girls of the seventh and eighth grade will play basketball Friday with Corbett.

The eight grade pupils are working on a map of the United States. They are going to put on it all the gov't dam projects.

Why not subscribe for The Chronicle for a friend or relative and let them know what is going on at the dam?
