

SCHOOL NEWS

The following pupils of the grade school were neither absent nor tardy during the school month ending January 25th. Betty Burt, Wayne Kollenburn, Charles Hulse, Howard Broliar, Jeanne Orvis, Lawrence Costanzo, Pat Ryan, Laella, Glaster, Chester Woodward, Wayne Morron, Elsie Harris, Eileen Sprague, Robert Hollyn, Kenneth Woodward, Clement Kollenburn, Dick Harrison, Ebel Ferguson, Norman Lovell, Dorothy MacKinnon, Helen Rosabach, DeElta Moore, Jack Todd, Eldon Neilson, Barbara Shields, Harrison Wade, Sidney Woodward, Genevieve Woodward, Lee Campbell, Kenneth Piper, Lorane Nichols, Evelyn Huff, Nell Rae Broliar, Forest Hess, Riley Jenkins, Delmer Moore, Eleanor Sprague, James Beckel, Lucille Nichols, Mildred Beckel, Jessie Kollenburn, Wallace Almack and Shirley Snyder.

The Parent Teacher's association voted to continue operation of the soup kitchen in the basement for at least two more weeks, and also to sponsor the play, "Oliver Twist," at the high school March 11.

Parents, teachers and friends of the Cascade Locks schools met Friday for an interesting program, and meeting. Entertainment was furnished by students who gave numbers selected from their regular class work.

The first was selections from old-time favorites, sung by members of the high school boys' glee club. Singers were Howard Harrison, Laurie Brink, Russel Huff, Von Fuger, Dave Johnson, Hank Brink, Al Jenkins, Bobby Douville, Jim Stubblefield, Ted Johnson and Harrel Kanzler. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Walker.

Miss Stewart presented children of the Primary room in a dramatization of the three little pigs.

A kitchen orchestra led in synchronizing rhythm by the spoon of Shirley Autrieth furnished novel music for the program. Songs by the upper grade girls and a reading by Betty Burt concluded the program.

BONNEVILLE

P. D. Gibbs, the barber in the shop in the Community Center building on the reservation, is back on the job again after a hard siege of influenza at his home in Portland. To the boys who inquire about his health he says he is feeling slicker than a worn nickel. He was in bed three weeks and has had to take things easy for nearly a month since being up and about.

Fred Abbott, assistant engineer, was taken to a Portland hospital Thursday, suffering from acute tonsillitis. The well-known U. S. E. D. man is reported to be recovering satisfactorily.

Frank Sholkoff, official in the Bonneville Merchandise store on the highway, has returned to his work after an enforced absence of ten days, caused by flu. V. Flink, of Portland, who has been replacing him, will return to the city.

Roy Waggoner, government engineer, was forced to call Dr. Wells for medical attention Monday. The ailment was not disclosed.

Mrs. Wilson E. Schiffer and Mrs. Archie Roth and daughter, Rosemary, of Portland, were the guests of Mrs. Robert LePere at her reservation home Monday. Mrs. Schiffer luncheoned with Mrs. John J. Torkelson.

Margaret Wiley, waitress at French's tavern, received minor bruises and shock Saturday night while returning from her parent's home in Hood River, when something snapped in her steering gear near Wyeth and she struck a telephone pole. Joe and Bob Miller and Harold Jenkins, all of Cascade Locks, brought Miss Wiley to the Locks. The car was demolished. Bob Raney, who investigated the accident, reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert LePere were Portland visitors over the week-end.

Margaret and Elizabeth Miller, Joan Gorlinski, Patsy and Frances Linton, Janet Torkelson, Marjorie Marvin, Rosemary Roth and Michael Berni, attended the birthday party of Miss Lellani LePere, held Monday at her parent's reservation home on her sixth anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Markwart, of the Bonneville phone office, completed a mixed business-pleasure trip to Portland, spending the night with relatives.

Mrs. Stanley E. Wells spent the week-end in Portland, while her husband, government doctor, went fishing with friends on the Nestucca. The "Doc" landed two steelheads, one weighing ten pounds. It is noteworthy to mention that although an estimated 100 fishermen were on the river, only eight fish were caught, two going to the reservation's new Isaac Waltonian champion.

Captain and Mrs. J. S. Gorlinski and Lieutenant and Mrs. Colby M. Myers attended the regular dance of the Portland Heights club Saturday.

Miss Connie Turnbull, of French's tavern staff, spent the week-end at her parent's home on the coast.

Mrs. D. H. Henderson returned from the hospital Friday to her General-Shea home on Bradford island, after two week's confinement.

Mrs. T. F. Johnson was hostess at the reservation's weekly social event, holding one of the most novel and successful teas of the year. Guests thought of games to play at the Washington birthday party. The first and only prize, a potted plant, went to Mrs. J. S. Gorlinski. Others attending were: Mrs. Stanley E. Wells, Mrs. Dave M. Marvin, Mrs. Howard MacC. Rigler, Mrs. I. E. Burks, Mrs. Don D. Orput, Mrs. Robert LePere, Mrs. Leo J. Miller, Mrs. Roy Waggoner, Mrs. Ben Torpen, Mrs. Otto Hartman, Mrs. William Laxton, Mrs. E. C. White, Mrs. John J. Torkelson, Mrs. George E. Goodwin, Mrs. Colby M. Myers and Mrs. Paul Spice.

Grandpap had a rig and a gal; Dad had a river and a flapper; and the son is going to have a plane and a Jane.

Young West Pointer Gets Chance In Million

When the 1934 class at West Point was graduated last June the war department grabbed the first 18 ranking classmen and sent them out on large projects to study engineering at first hand. The balance of the class had to take whatever the Lord and army had in store for them. Some did fairly well, the others did not do so good.

Robert MacDonnell, who went to West Point from Spokane came out of school with a second lieutenant's commission and is 23 years old, ranked 12th in his class. So the Secretary of War dropped him in Bonneville, where he is learning the gentle art of engineering under the watchful eye of Capt. J. S. Gorlinski, who has forgotten more about engineering than many army men will ever know.

Life is not all roses for Lieutenant MacDonnell, but he is standing up under the terrific hammering he is taking. He has been getting graveyard shifts and the muck and the mud, but continues to grin. First month on the job he fell in the river and had to crawl out. That is the army's way of building men who can take punishment, appreciate discipline, lead men.

Off duty he sleeps in the guest house. Sounds like a life of hell, but it has some drawbacks.

"It's great stuff, this life," said the Lieutenant the other day. "It is one opportunity in a million. You pick up things out here. When it's all over I want to go back to tech school and do some post graduate work."

FILM IN PROGRESS

The United States Engineers department is making a motion picture on the progress of the dam, for permanent record use. Government photographer A. R. McAden has already taken more than 2000 feet of film.
