

BONNEVILLE SCHOOL NEWS

To Mrs. J. V. Lloyd, Mrs. J. A. Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Avery, Mr. Trefford and Principal Robertson the school extends its thanks for furnishing cars to the game at Corbett.

The seventh grade expects to complete its geography map this week and turn it over to the electric class, who will beautify it with a lighting system.

The junior dramatic class will issue parts this week for their newest play, to be presented here soon.

The art class is busy making posters for the Bonneville Women's club's community fair, to be held the last of March.

Many changes in the student body were made last week. Ernest Arnaldo and Rose, Annie and John Ceciliani moving away; Richard Carter and Wayne Checketts being new pupils, the former coming from Holliday school in Portland and the latter from Clackamas; and Betty Philips returning after a long illness.

Corbett won both games of the basketball double-header played Friday, the boys winning 13-7, over Bonneville, and the girls 14-8.

ROUTINE SAFETY WORK DISCUSSED BY COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the Bonneville Safety Council was held Tuesday in the administration office, with Mr. Hunter, safety engineer on the coast bridges, and Mr. Jackson, chief claim agent for the state accident commission, as honor guests.

The pair spoke briefly on their views of safety among workers. Hunter commending foremen in particular for their work on the bridges, and also explaining their safety contests.

The rest of the meeting was occupied by routine reports on unsafe features on the dam project and those remedied. Four new safety boxes, in which men are to place suggestions, were delivered.

POSTOFFICE NEAR PERFECT

So efficiently does Frank Hall, Cascade Locks veteran postmaster, run his office, that J. R. Freeman, government postal inspector, on one of his official but unannounced trips through the district, could find only one listable mistake. Rating was 93 per cent perfect. The one thing missing out of the 100 requirements was a sign Hall had not posted. This was explained by the limited space on the small bulletin board in the office.

SCOUT TROOP INTERESTS

Nineteen boys of the district, interested in forming a scout troop turned out at Jack Travis' call last week. They will meet again Monday night at 7:30 in the high school. Those who attended were: Howard Broliar, Jack Douville, Elden Nielson, Charles Hulse.
