At the Theatre

Sunday night attendance have not warranted the presentation of a second holiday show. Manager Sid Phillips declared last week in explaining the Roosevelt theatre's new policy. The usual afternoon matinee will, of course, be given.

The Sunday, Monday, Tuesday run will be filled by the glamorous Greta Garbo, who with Herbert Marshall, George Brent and Warner Oland, enacts a stirring love drama of medieval life in China. The feature of the picture, the plot of which is the eternal love triangle, is a beautiful dragon dance on the steps of an ancient temple.

"The Gilded Lily," is billed for Wednesday and Thursday, concluding the week's entertainment, and promises to be a sparkling comedy. Claudette Colbert plays the leading role, as a young stenographer who falls in love with an unemployed Englishman. The way in which Fred MacMurray, an adoring newspaperman, breaks up the affair brings the picture to a pleasing conclusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Orput entertained Portland friends Wednesday in their reservation home.
