Extensive remodeling of seven third floor rooms of the Lakeside hotel is now under way under supervision of Managers Ted Hauser and Joe Burt. Modern equipment, new paint job and a balcony over Ralph Nelson's Lakeside meat market will bring the cost approximately to $1000.

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Marshfield for John and Milton Elliott, uncles of Mrs. Erwin Broliar of Cascade Locks. The brothers were Coos county pioneers, living together and dying within 24 hours of one another at the ages of 76 and 78, respectively. Mrs. Broliar's father, their brother, died in Marshfield in February, and the widow, Mrs. Mae Elliott, is living with her daughter, Mrs. Broliar.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wuner were visited several days this week by Mrs. Lon Harper of Walla Walla. Mr. Lloyd Mason of Hood River drove Mrs. Harper down.

Mrs. R. J. Wuner was a Portland visitor this week.

The Drama club held its meeting with a weenie roast last Wednesday evening on the island. Plans for the coming year were discussed with much enthusiasm, a number of productions being planned.

Guests at the Hulse home last week included Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Hulse and son, Charles, Mrs. M. A. Shearer, of Rockaway, Mrs. Ruth Peacock and daughter, Peggy, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Abel of The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Auld are being visited by Mr. Auld's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ore Vincent, who arrived Friday from their home at Otis, Colo., for an extended visit.

G. N. Heggard last week began construction of a two-room house back of The Chronicle office for his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Heggard. Completion is expected within a week.

"Your suit is starting to look rusty."

"My tailor told me it would wear like iron."

CHRONICLE ANNOUNCES
CONVENIENT WANT AD
SERVICE FOR READERS

To make classified advertising easier for readers, The Chronicle has installed boxes this week in a number of places between Cascade Locks and Dodson where want ads may be left.

Want ads at one cent per word, strictly cash in advance because of the low rate, may be left at the following places: Warrendale, Mrs. William Steiner at the store; Bonny Villa, home of Mrs. Glen Farrington; Eagle Creek, Frank Moran at Moran's tavern; Cascade Locks, Carlson's Red and White Store just east of the high school.

Ads must be deposited with the above named persons before 5 p.m. Monday for publication the following week. Readers are especially urged to leave all their news items in the boxes.
