

CASCADE LOCKS NEWS

Stella Woodward had to root for both baseball teams when the Cascade Locks town nine played Hood River Sunday. Her brother, John Woodward, was catcher for the Locks, brother Robert, catcher for Hood River. Bob Woodward is a high school student at Hood River.

Casts on Mrs. Fred Anderson's legs, broken in an automobile wreck several months ago, are expected to be removed Tuesday. Mrs. Anderson, although tired of lying in bed, is cheerful and wishes to thank the many friends who have come to see her.

"Bob" Finlay, who has been employed on the dam for the past several months, is recovering from injuries suffered when he fell from a ladder while taking tests demanded from him and others who underwent an examination in an effort to obtain positions with the fire department in Portland.

Busiest man in the district these days is Jack McCrary, who has watched the Columbia river flow to the sea since he was a boy and will celebrate his 84th birthday next month. Jack sells the Townsend Weekly in Cascade Locks, and as the boys down south would say, he is doing right smart at it. The past week he sold 100 copies.

Swinging a pick and shovel, Al Meyers, Independent Water company owner, has been observed several times during the past few days helping in the patching and replacing of his water pipes, torn up by workers on the new highway. "Don't you dare print a word about it," admonished the sweating Mr. Meyers, leaning on his pick handle.

Mrs. Jack Elmer returned Monday from a weekend spent in Portland, shopping, visiting the National Housing exposition.

Dr. and Mrs. Ben Scott at The Dalles Freight Line have become foster parents for three squirmy, black cocker spaniels, present of Mrs. Russell Nichols of Portland.

Mr. and Mr. R. J. Wuner's new home, into which they moved last Wednesday and Thursday, should be well christened. Sunday a mere 22 relatives and intimate friends dropped in for dinner, served on a long table borrowed from the Odd Fellows hall. Visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Richards and daughter, June, the two men being Mrs. Wuner's brothers; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wuner and son, Harry; Mr. and Mrs. E. Kenneth Wuner and daughters, Marian and Joyce, the men being the Wuners sons; Mrs. J. C. Fox, Mrs. J. Hutchinson and daughter, Mary, J. G. Slater, all of Portland. From Walla Walla came Mrs. Wuner's sister, Mrs. Lon Harper; from Hood River, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mason; and from Sapulpa, Okla., Miss Irene Saner, niece of the Wuners. Of six large cakes, nothing was left.

Last week was moving week for officials and employees of The Dalles Freight Line office as Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wuner moved into their new home south of the office. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scott and daughter, Jean, took their apartment at the office, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Manchester, owner of the company, moved into the separate apartment in other half of the new Wuner home. The Manchesters formerly lived in The Dalles.

Mrs. Lon Harper, sister of Mrs. R. J. Wuner, returned Sunday night to Walla Walla after a week's visit at the Wuner home.

Miss Irene Saner, niece of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wuner, returned to her home in Sapulpa, Okla., after a visit with the Wuners.

Miss Norma Heppner of Warrenton visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haggblom, this week.

Guests at the W. N. Hulse home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Miller, Jim Tom Welch, Webster Kincaid, Duke Ryan, all of Portland; Morse Painter, John Carpenter, Darrell Butts of Benson CCC camp; Lillian Martinsen, Virginia Bybee, Cascade Locks.

M. A. Shearer and children, Marguerite and James, returned to Rockaway this week after a short visit at the W. N. Hulse home.

At James Blevins' twelfth birthday party last week were John Carlson, Burton and Ben Finley, Rosemarie Mahn, Dorothy Lessier, Shirley Christianson, Cohen and Charles Diffens, Joel Abbott, Norman Wheeler, Jim's mother, Mrs. Glen Blevins, served luncheon on the lawn in front of their home.

Henry Fulgham, in the Veterans' hospital in Portland for several weeks, is now almost recovered from his nervous breakdown.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Strand were visited this week by Mrs. Strand's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. B. Kirby of White Bluffs, Wash.

Mrs. Agnes Knopp and Miss Margaret Rankin traveled to Gresham Sunday to see the automobile races. They returned with a verdict, "very good."

At Eugene Hanford's seventh birthday party Sunday were present: Jim and Edward Nichols, Peter and Barbara Shields, Lucille and Lorraine Nichols, Wilbur and Jack Glazier, Howard Hall, Donna Jean Hewitt, Jeanette and Wilma Walker.

New cook at Merrill's is "Slim" Harrison, former Bonneville dam worker and professional cook, who began work Saturday night. "Slim" flips a mean hotcake.

Lakeside hotel's exterior decoration of ladders was taken down Saturday after residents thought they might become permanent fixtures, perhaps fire escapes. The hotel's new cream paint job is finished, as is the balcony over Ralph Nelson's Lakeside meat market. Managers Joe Burt and Ted Hauser hope to show off their inn, rebuilt with seven new rooms, new fixtures and an oil burning unit for the kitchen range at a cost of about $1000, within the next week or two.

Canada's celebrated quintuplets may celebrate their first birthday this week, but Mrs. Jim Merrill's prolific muscovy duck hasn't been so fortunate with her 11 ducklings. For, where last week were 11, now quack but six, warm, sticky tar and exposure to cold winds being responsible for the death of five.

G. N. Hesgard this week received word of the death by burning of his brother-in-law, H. E. Eldahl, at his home in Orfordville, Wis., where all of Mrs. Hesgard's relatives live. It is believed that Mr. Eldahl used kerosene to start a furnace fire, the kerosene exploding to catch his clothes afire.

Fifteen Camp Fire girls under the leadership of Mrs. Carl Epping and Mrs. Max Millsap picked Tuesday afternoon at Dry creek, their first outing of the year.

Teddy McGarrigle is visiting his grandmother this week in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Huff and children, Evelyn and Russell, purchased the new Frank Clark home, and are now living in it.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Skinner and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Skinner motored to Salem and Eugene over the weekend.

Mrs. E. H. Matheny gave a birthday party Sunday for her son, Dell Bradburn. A large number of relatives and friends attended.
