The temperature at Dodson was reported to have stood at 106 degrees Sunday, with most of the residents scurrying out in their cars, either to swim in McCord creek or some other spot to cool off.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kimbrough are expected back next week from a three-weeks' vacation motor trip through Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Correll were visited last week by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fales and daughter, Caroline, and Miss Mildred Fales of Orleans, Nebr. Miss Fales is Mrs. Correll's sister.

Bobbie McAden, small son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McAden, is recovering from a severe bout with pneumonia. He took sick a week ago, ran a temperature of 104, is now definitely better and able to be up. Little James McAden has been suffering for some time with what is believed to be chronic appendicitis.

MAN SHOOTS SELF AND LIES ALONE IN TORTURE FIVE DAYS

Rescued by Two Fishermen,
He Tells of Horror of "Living Death."

Springfield, Mo.—Despondent over his failure to obtain work, William Slack, twenty-nine, a transient painter of Fort Erie, Ont., shot himself beside a creek near Galloway, Mo., then lay paralyzed for five days and nights without food until discovered by two fishermen.

He had two bullet wounds in his neck and he was in an emaciated condition. His throat and legs were paralyzed. His chest and sides were sunburned. He could not talk above a whisper. At a hospital here he told his story.

"It was h—l," he said. "The first bullet didn't seem to effect me, so I re-loaded and shot again. This time the bullet seemed to paralyze me. I fell down and rolled to the foot of the hill, which was near the bank of the creek.

Undescribable Agony.

"For a while I seemed dazed; then I must have lost consciousness. I guess it was hours later that I awakened, because it was dark. That was where h—I started in. I went through agony that cannot be described.

"I was thirsty but couldn't crawl to the stream. I was hungry, but there was no hope of getting food. At times, I could hear voices of people passing and autos. But I couldn't call for help. My voice had faded to a whisper.

"Sometimes I would go into crazy sleep and dream that I was being given a drink. Then I'd wake up, my mouth dry as a desert, and see the stream, but couldn't get to it.

Crawls to Stream.

"I wouldn't be here today if a little strength hadn't come to me the morning before the fishermen found me. That morning I found I could use my arms a little. Slowly and painfully I raised in a sitting position, then crept along, snake fashion, to the stream. I was expecting to drink the creek dry, but two little sips were all I could take—I couldn't swallow. The only other water I tasted was rain that fell into my mouth on two nights.

"I had given up all hope of being rescued and was wanting to die when I saw the fishermen. I hadn't been able to make a vocal sound, but I knew that was my only chance, slim as it was. The men were not walking in my direction.

"I put all the strength I had in my throat and tried to yell. I did make some kind of a noise. It attracted the fishermen and they came to me."

Asked if he wants to recover, Slack said: "It doesn't make much difference to me."

BONNY VILLA

Mrs. Lenore Babbitt of Springdale dropped into Bonny villa Tuesday to remind her son, Hal, that it was his 26th birthday. She brought a cake to celebrate with him.

Mrs. Fred Wirth is spending this week in Portland visiting her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Jones were called to Bellflower, near Long Beach, Calif., Wednesday by the sudden serious illness of Mr. Jones' father, E. R. Jones. The elder Mr. Jones had been ailing for some time, but his son and daughter-in-law were planning for a visit from him in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tucker are busy finishing up the inside of their home. They work in all their spare time, hope to have it all done by the end of the week.

Ira Shortridge is thanking the mosquitoes. He's being kept busy building screens and screendoors for most of the residents of the neighborhood.

Mrs. F. Shallenberger and children are visiting her parents in Portland this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Schwartz returned to Portland Tuesday from Shady Nook. Mr. Schwartz having finished his work as truck driver for Fred Christianson.

Visitors at the C. R. Grim home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nedvedick of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Butler of Corbett, Miss Hazel Deveral of Hurlbut.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Blaine, new residents at Shady Nook, spent Saturday in Hood River.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matkin of Pendleton are now living at Shady Nook. Mr. Matkin is foreman for Warren Northwest Roads, Inc., contractors for the paving of streets on the dam reservation.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fleming spent the weekend at their home near Millwaukie, Ore.

Mosquitoes in great swarms have invaded the neighborhood, caused residents of Bonnevue, particularly, to flee to more windy spots for comfort during the day and early evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Phillips were visited Monday and Tuesday by Mr. Phillips' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips, of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Johns are being visited by Mrs. John's father, I. M. Miller, of Caldwell, Idaho. Mr. Miller will spend several months with them at Bonnevue.

Miss Margaret Adams of Seattle is visiting Miss Yvonne Falconer this week.

Anna M. Hansen of Seattle spent the weekend at Lost lake.

Hugh Williams, one of Columbia Construction company's right hand men, has rented a cabin from E. Enquist, will make it his home.

Carl Sanford is rebuilding and enlarging his house back of the tavern. Rumor hints marriage in the offing.

Miss Grace Butler no longer lives in Bonny Villa, is no longer "Miss" Friday, she and Michael J. Bowen of General-Shea said "I do" to each other at Vancouver, with Mike's brother, Jim, as best man. Their new residence is in the home Bowen built for her in Cook's addition at Bonneville.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ferrington and Rolph Enquist spent Saturday to Tuesday escaping the hot weather by vacationing at the ocean. Mr. and Mrs. E. Enquist, parents of Rolph and Mrs. Ferrington, drove Rolph down, to return with his sister and brother-in-law. While the dam area was sweltering, the ocean breezes were actually chilly, they said.

Bob Allen, General-Shea carpenter, is at his work following recovery from injuries received in the wreck of his automobile the night of July 4. Blinded by lights as he was driving home, he ran off the road at the 39 mile post, smashed into a boulder and was thrown out of the car. Principal injuries were a cracked rib, numerous cuts and bruises and shock. The car is still in the shop.

They're still talking about the good time they had the Fourth at the picnic at Lost lake. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. "Chris" Christianson, Mr. and Mrs. John Tucker, Mrs. Bonny Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wirth and children, Ira Shortridge, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Jones and children, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Grim, Bob Grim, Mr and Mrs. Ed Bowles and Junior, Mr and Mrs. A. Fehrman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Matthews. The men caught enough trout for three complete meals for the group.

FRANKSTERS CAUSE TROUBLE

O. L. M. Hauser, new Cascade Drug company manager, muttered to himself Wednesday at Cascade Locks when he found his ice machine shut off, the ice cream beginning to melt. About the time he was going to call an electrician to find the trouble, it was discovered that some wag had thrown off the Odd Fellows hall switches, cutting out all electricity for the building.

BUS HAS PAINT JOB

"Porky" Fancher's "Toonerville Trolley," known more formally as the Bonneville-Cascade Locks bus, is as changeful as the chameleon. Starting with repainting the top aluminum, installing air-cushioned seats, the bus has gradually changed from its former drabness to a bright spectacle of aluminum and scarlet. This week's addition was the painting of "Bonneville Bus" on each side in black on the aluminum stripe.

GAS STATION GETS SIGN

A new neon sign announcing its gasoline products gleams from a steel tower on top of Jim Rich's and Paul Flegel's Richfield service station at Bonneville. The sign was erected Wednesday, turned on Thursday night. Nine feet long, it is the latest addition to the galaxy of Bonneville's white way.

CALL FOR 10 WORKERS

BRINGS ONLY ONE MAN

The unemployment situation can't be so bad in Cascade Locks, R. E. "Bob" Andrews is saying.

Last week the CCC camp at Moro, east of The Dalles, sent Andrews word that they needed 10 carpenters to finish the job. With Joe Burt, Commercial club employment committee chairman, Bob went over the town looking for unemployed carpenters. One R. L. Campbell, was all that could be found. He went to work immediately. The Hood River employment office as given the job of finding the other nine.

PENN'S GIVES NEW SERVICE

Penn's tavern, east of Cascade Locks, will remain open evening until October 1 to serve late dinner parties. W. G. Penn, announced yesterday. While reservations are not required, they may be made by telephoning the tavern through Geer station. Many demands by patrons have caused the institution of this special service, according to Penn.
