

CASCADE LOCKS NEWS

Lois Merrill left for Portland last week to attend business college for the rest of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Helmar Sundsten are expected to return next week from Portland, where Mr. Sundsten underwent an operation. His condition is reported to be good.

Mrs. Babe Eddy is back at her work in Dew Drop inn after an operation in Stevenson hospital for an abscessed ear. She could hear only with one ear all week as a result.

Mrs. Fred Anderson is still navigating on crutches as the aftermath of her serious automobile accident several months ago. Her broken legs are knitted but not quite strong enough to walk on unaided as yet.

R. L. Campbell went to work helping build the new CCC camp at Moro, in Sherman county.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Hoff attended camp meeting in Portland Sunday.

Mrs. W. H. Harrison and son, Tommy, of Newberg, visited Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Harrison Sunday. Mrs. Harrison and Tommy were on their way to join her husband on top of Larch mountain, where he is the forestry service lookout.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Epping spent the weekend at Taft and Netarts on the ocean beach.

Bill Romans of Portland, former Locks resident, attended the Eagles' meeting Thursday night. One of the original organizers of the local aerie, Romans plans to attend each meeting from now on.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson were visited Friday to Monday by Mrs. Ruby Pederson of Seattle, Emery Barager and Bob Barager of Telkwa, B. C., on their way to Eugene. Bob Barager is Mrs. Anderson's father.

Mrs. C. C. Chapman spent the weekend in Fossil visiting Mrs. Burt Hoover, her niece, who dropped in last week on her way to Fossil from a visit in Portland.

Silver Perras' meat market during the weekend's hot weather was decorated by several unusual visitors—Mrs. Perras' three canaries, who found their place in the Perras home too warm. Two of the birds are of the conventional yellow, one is a rare snow-white warbler.

Ralph Nelson's Lakeside meat market has installed a new drip pan under the colls in the display case.

Addison and Gibson Harrison, Ed Glazier and Gilbert Banks returned Friday from Gresham after a two-week stretch of picking raspberries. They report that hot weather has burned most of the remaining berries.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wiley and daughter, Jean, visited Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Harrison last week.

Charley Hewitt, carpenter foreman for General-Shea the past year, left Monday for Portland, to become superintendent for Malarkey & Kallander, general construction contractors. Mrs. Hewitt will join him in Portland just as soon as they lease their home in Cascade Locks.

Colin Merrill has returned from Moro, in Sherman county, where he spent a week doing carpenter work on the new CCC camp. The water, he reports, was so alkaline it made him ill.

Mrs. Jessie Mohr was visited Monday by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Mohr, of The Dalles, who dropped in on their way to Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wuner solved the hot weather problem Sunday when they, with Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scott, ate lunch next to the freezing machinery at the Dalles Freight line's refrigerating plant. Probably the only reason that kept them out of the refrigerating compartments themselves was the fact that the ice business was so pushing that the boxes were busy freezing water.

Lon Harper of Walla Walla, Wash., brother-in-law of R. J. "Pop" Wuner visited the Wuner home several days last week on his way to Portland. He is expected to stop in sometime this week on his way home.

Attorney G. A. Cobb laid foundations on the west side of his office a month or so ago for a new building. Monday he began work anew, laying a floor. Just what the structure will turn out to be, he doesn't know, says it depends on what the tenant-to-be wants.

Mrs. and Mrs. Marion Lester of The Dalles visited Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scott Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Andrews and family were visitors to Portland Monday.
