Injured Dog Goes

All Alone to Doctor

South Portland, Maine.—Two hours after he had been returned to his master, cured of his illness by Dr. J. F. Boswell, a veterinary. Spot, a shepherd dog, was run over by an automobile, and an artery in his leg severed. Instead of going home, Spot dragged himself on three legs more than a mile to the home of Doctor Boswell and scratched on the back door. A tourniquet and bandage were applied in the nick of time to save the dog's life.

MAN SHOTS SELF AND LIES ALONE IN TORTURE FIVE DAYS

Rescued by Two Fishermen,
He Tells of Horror of
"Living Death."

Springfield, Mo.—Despondent over his failure to obtain work, William Slack, twenty-nine, a transient painter of Fort Erie, Ont., shot himself beside a creek near Galloway, Mo., then lay paralyzed for five days and nights without food until discovered by two fishermen.

He had two bullet wounds in his neck and he was in an emaciated condition. His throat and legs were paralyzed. His chest and sides were sunburned. He could not talk above a whisper. At a hospital here he told his story.

"It was h—l," he said. "The first bullet didn't seem to effect me, so I re-loaded and shot again. This time the bullet seemed to paralyze me. I fell down and rolled to the foot of the hill, which was near the bank of the creek.

Undescribable Agony.

"For a while I seemed dazed; then I must have lost consciousness. I guess it was hours later that I awakened, because it was dark. That was where h—l started in. I went through agony that cannot be described.

"I was thirsty but couldn't crawl to the stream. I was hungry, but there was no hope of getting food. At times, I could hear voices of people passing and autos. But I couldn't call for help. My voice had faded to a whisper.

"Sometimes I would go into crazy sleep and dream that I was being given a drink. Then I'd wake up, my mouth dry as a desert, and see the stream, but couldn't get to it.

Crawls to Stream.

"I wouldn't be here today if a little strength hadn't come to me the morning before the fishermen found me. That morning I found I could use my arms a little. Slowly and painfully I raised in a sitting position, then crept along, snake fashion, to the stream. I was expecting to drink the creek dry, but two little sips were all I could take—I couldn't swallow. The only other water I tasted was rain that fell into my mouth on two nights.

"I had given up all hope of being rescued and was wanting to die when I saw the fishermen. I hadn't been able to make a vocal sound, but I knew that was my only chance, slim as it was. The men were not walking in my direction.

CASCADE LOCKS

There will be meeting of the Cascade Locks Volunteer fire department at the Odd Fellows hall Friday night, November 1. Several Portland firemen will be out to speak on what Cascade Locks needs in the way of fire equipment.

This past week brought forth several improvements that have materially improved the appearance of the main street in Cascade Locks. Ben Scott has completed the painting of his station which adds considerably in making the main street look more and more like a metropolitan center. Frank Moran filled in and landscaped the area in front of his home and along side of his lodge. Lew Morgan enlarged the apron of his service station.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bell have moved from Bonny Villa into one of the apartments of the Oregon-Washington Fox farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Hollohan, of Portland, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lewallen.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Andregg of Portland spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Andrews.

Mrs. R. E. Andrews gave a party last Tuesday in honor of Mrs. Ruel O'Neil. Those attending were Mrs. Arthur Warren, Mrs. J. C. Wuner, Mrs. Foulkes, Mrs. Lester Sprague, Mrs. Jerry Woodward, Mrs. Jack Elmer, Mrs. Sue Woodward and Mrs. Marvin Piper.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Finley moved into one of W. C. Anderson's cabins Thursday.

Miss Caroline Trimble spent the week end with Miss Macy Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williams spent the past week end with Mrs. Williams' sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. Brock, in Clatskanie. Mr. and Mrs. Anton Lindstrom are the proud parents of a baby boy. The baby was born Saturday night.

W. Franzenbach has moved from the ranch-house back of the fox farm into Portland.

The West Coast Power company this week ran a power line into the Frank Clarke addition.

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rosenback is nearing completion. The Rosenbacks do not know exactly when they will move in.

W. C. Anderson and family spent Sunday and Monday in Lebanon. It was a business trip but "Tuck" found time to go hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hepner, of Warrenton, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Hepner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hagblom. They were returning from a three weeks' motor trip to New York.

Mrs. Karl Rosenback returned recently from a week's visit with Mrs. Anna Morgan in Portland.

Seventeen women enjoyed a pleasant afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joe Miller last Wednesday. The occasion was the regular meeting of the past noble grands of the Cascadia Rebekah lodge. Cards and refreshments were enjoyed during the afternoon. The next meeting will be next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Isabelle Osborn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hall, of Bridal Veil, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown are the proud parents of an 8-pound boy born on the morning of October 21.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Vanstrom of Portland spent Sunday with Mrs. Manda Collins.

Mrs. Jack Stark, who has been ill with influenza since her baby was born three weeks ago, was taken to a Hood River hospital Tuesday.
