ROOSEVELT THEATRE
CORRECTS SHOW DATE

"Mutiny on the Bounty," starring Charles Laughton and Clark Gable, will be seen at the Roosevelt theatre on the dam reservation March 1 to 3, instead of February 1 to 3 as stated in last week's Chronicle.

Other changes in the program published in the January 2 issue of The Chronicle are correct. They are "Grand Exit," February 7-8; "Three Musketeers," February 16-18; "I Live My Life," February 23-25; "Rendezvous," February 26-27.

At the Theatre

Following tonight's George Raft-Joan Bennett comedy, "She Couldn't Take It," the Roosevelt theatre will present a week of hardboiled comedy and drama.

Something is bound to happen on a college campus when communism clashes with football, we find out from "Fighting Youth," showing Friday and Saturday. Charles Farrell, all-America star of the state college squad, makes two costly fumbles in the game several days after he has attended a radical meeting. Word spreads that he has deliberately thrown the game, for he had previously not dropped a ball in three years. Subsequent events make this picture an illuminating commentary of present-day conditions. June Martel and Andy Devine are in the cast, as well as noted football stars, including Paul Schwegler, Jim Thorpe and Nick Lukats.

As Irish as a shalalah is the Irish in "Us", comedy drama, coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to the Roosevelt screen.

James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Frank McHugh and Oliva de Haviland, a sure-fire combination, head the cast. The title is based on the traditional characteristics of the Irish—to alternate between laughter and tears, to fight those whom they love best. Mary Gordon plays the mother of three sons, O'Brien, the cop, McHugh, the fireman, and Cagney, who refuses to take a steady job so he can manage brokendown fighters. The sorrows and joys, anxieties and triumphs of this little family of New York Irish makes for one of the most laughable at times, touching, dramas of the year.

Between dangerous thrills and dangerous romance, there is something doing every minute in "China Seas," all-star drama which shows Wednesday and Thursday at the Roosevelt.

A great triumph with Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Wallace Beery as its stars.

"China Seas" deals with the off love story of a hard-bitten young skipper of an oriental coastwise ship, and "China Doll", beautiful wanderer in Asiatic ports. Involved is the mysterious trader, Wallace Beery. Between Hongkong and Singapore, things happen aboard the wheezy old tub, Kin Lung. A typhoon, a pirate attack, a big steam tractor breaks loose from its lashings to leave a trail of dead and dying all over the deck—that's just part of the setting for the current of fierce loves and bitter hates, included in the excellent casts are such celebrities as Lewis Stone, Robert Benchley, C. Aubrey Smith, Rosalind Russell and others to make it a picture of topnotch entertainment.
