

HARRISON DIES FROM 50-FOOT FALL OFF DAM

Andrew J. Harrison, 55, died in St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, at 3:55 a.m. Sunday from injuries received the day before when he fell 50 feet while at work on the main spillway dam.

The below-freezing temperature was believed by fellow workmen to have numbed his muscles and made him unable to recover his balance. Employed by Concrete Engineering company, he was placing reinforcing steel on top of pier 17 training wall on the downstream side of the spillway. The rope belt which should have prevented the accident was found on top of the wall with the knot having apparently having come untied.

Harrison fell backwards off the training wall to some scaffolding six feet below and plunged 40 feet further to the concrete mass of the dam. His skull was fractured and his left hip and leg broken. He died without regaining consciousness.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at St. Ignatius church in Portland. He lived at 4067 Southeast Long street, Portland.

MAYNARD KIRBY'S CAR PLUNGES IN FISHWAYS

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Kirby are the first persons to have the doubtful honor of taking a swim in the dam reservation fishways.

Steering gear of Kirby's sedan went out of commission as the car was rounding the sharp curve near the postoffice. Out of control and before Kirby could stop it, it plunged into the icy waters of the fish canal, which luckily was only a few feet deep. Onlookers pulled the Kirbys to dry land uninjured.

REQUESTS ORDINANCES

A request for all copies of ordinances passed by Cascade Locks and other Oregon cities during 1936 has been made by the University of Oregon bureau of research and the League of Oregon Cities. Together with more than 500 copies of ordinances already on hand, the new legislation will be used as the basis of an information service that is hoped will prove of great value to municipal officers and others.

J. E. Fuson of North Bonneville, Wash., suffered lacerations last week when his truck's brakes failed and the vehicle went out of control. He was treated by National Hospital association at Bonneville.

SCOUTS OF DAM AREA CELEBRATE 26TH YEAR

Boy scouts of the dam area are wearing their uniforms all this week in honor of the 26th anniversary of the founding of scouting in this country.

Scouts listened Saturday evening to the address of President Roosevelt over a nation-wide hookup. Sunday, they attended church en masse in uniform. Scout week extends from February 7 to February 14 each year.

LOCKS EAGLES AERIE SPONSORS BOY SCOUTS

Cascade Locks aerie of Eagles Thursday night took over sponsorship of scout troop 390, formerly sponsored by the Cascade Locks community church.

Scoutmaster M. L. Morgan presented the troop, 16 boys in full uniform, to his brother Eagles, and put it through marching drills and formations. Under Worthy President Moe, the Eagles took over the sponsorship when the church felt it could not afford the expense involved. Meetings will continue to be held in the high school gymnasium Thursday evenings.

DAM BASKETEERS WIN FROM RELIABLE SHOE

Bonneville dam's basketball team piled up its tenth win out of 11 games this season when it triumphed over the powerful Reliable Shoe team of Portland, 32-50, Thursday in the Bonneville school gymnasium.

A fast and exciting game, Bonneville led by one point, 17-16, at the half. Reliable Shoe is the first half winner in Portland's strongest basketball aggregation, the American League.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mann moved back into their Portland home Thursday. Mr. Mann plans to commute from Portland each day to his work at the dam.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Johnson from Bonneville moved into the home vacated by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mann. Mr. Johnson is warehouseman for Columbia Construction company.

Inclement weather has caused a postponement of the Bonnie Park Women's Wednesday Sewing club's mixed party scheduled for last night. Illness has laid a number of members low and the cold decided the rest to have the party at a later date, to be announced.

Mrs. Joe Bucher will be hostess to the Sewing club at her home next Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Myers spent Saturday in Monday in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Johnson took their daughter, Della Jean, to Portland Thursday afternoon to have her cold treated.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lloyd of Portland visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McShatko, Sunday afternoon.

M. M. McCrady spent Tuesday in Portland on business.

Mrs. J. B. Lash has been confined to her bed since the end of last week with a serious cold verging on pneumonia.

Miss Virginia Conley of Hood River visited her mother, Mrs. Harry Matthewson, Sunday.

Mrs. C. A. Robertson is spending several weeks with her mother in Brownsville, Ore., following the death a week ago of her aunt in Eugene. Mr. Robertson accompanied his wife to the funeral and then returned to his duties as principal of the Bonneville grade school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Karg were hosts for an impromptu dinner party Friday evening at their home when an automobile belonging to a friend froze up and was brought into the garage for repairs. Guests were Messrs. Ferguson, Fortner, Dameron, Whaitte, Bracey. The party was almost broken up when Mr. Karg tuned in Daventry, England on his short-wave radio, only to find the orchestra playing "The Music Goes Round and Round."

Mrs. Ted Johnson and children are all suffering from bad colds this week.

Mrs. McGowan was ill the first of the week from a cold.

Forest Service

Cold weather coupled with snow and sleet storms has left the forest service work in the district at a standstill. Excavation for the new warehouse at Columbia Gorge district ranger station is well under way, but is stopped this week.

District Ranger Roy L. Weeman and Mrs. Weeman left last Saturday for a week's trip to visit their old ranger station at Stehekin at the upper end of Lake Chelan, Wash. They expect to return Saturday.

First tower for the Eagle creek suspension footbridge has been completed. The tower, on the south bank, is 30 feet high. It is now being braced.

Wyeth News

L. G. Todd and brother-in-law, James Flury visited Portland Sunday on business.

Miss Norma Jenkins is the guest of Miss Elsie Harris until her mother returns from her visit to Redmond, Ore.

M. L. Morgan of Cascade Locks is furnishing Wyeth children with transportation to school at the Locks this week. Radiator and engine of the school bus froze the end of last week, putting it out of commission until repairs can be completed.

Mrs. Lloyd Bety is spending a few days in Portland this week visiting her parents.

Wyeth CCC camp's basketball team defeated the forest service team from Columbia gorge district ranger station Monday evening.

VFW SLATES FEB. 21 FOR LATOURELL DANCE

Ted Johnson and his crew of workers are making arrangements for what promises to be one of the best of the dances sponsored by Bonneville Damsite post 3051, Veterans of Foreign Wars, next Friday, February 21, at Latourell falls tavern.

Meeker's Five Aces of Portland has again been chosen to play. Special entertainment and decorations are being planned. The committee expects a large crowd from the entire dam area.
