

Cascade Locks

Frank Walker, of the Locks Clean-up and well known in the district for his orchestra, left Sunday for Redding, California, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Jackson of Stevenson, Washington. Walker is looking over the situation down there and will return Friday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Cameron of Malalla passed through the Locks Sunday, visiting their many friends in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buze and son, Tom, were visitors in the Locks last week. Mr. Buze is a division head on the United Airline for this district, and has his headquarters at Mosier. Miss Garman Daniels of Portland visited her mother, Mrs. Jack Barry here this week-end.

Montie Gay is feeling blue this week. His head hangs low and his spirit is not kindled with its usual glow. His old pal and buddy, Bob Sherman, got married on him, after all these years. News arrived of the wedding from Fall River, California, where the erring buddy has gone to live with his bride. Gay and Sherman have been life-long friends, enjoying the unique distinction of having their birthdays on the same day. Cheer up, Montie, all is not lost.

Henry Rosenback and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Long spent Sunday in Portland. High light of the trip was a look at the whale exhibit on the railroad siding at Tenth street ramp. The whale has been absent from the living for over six years, they were informed. Science is a wonderful thing.

Mrs. Stella Thomas visited her daughter, Mrs. Julius, in the Locks this week.

A report by Major LaLands indicates that some unfortunate farmer up the river from Cascade Locks is sharing with workers at Bonneville Dam the loss caused by high waters in the Columbia. The major was standing on the Bridge of the Gods Sunday when he saw seven head of cattle swept beneath him in the midst of the muddy flood waters. Evidently the animals had been grazing contentedly in some river-side pasture when the swirling waters broke away the ground beneath them, sending them to their death in the torrent.

W. H. Tharp suffered a broken rib Saturday morning when he slipped and fell while doing some work about his home. The injury was not painful enough to keep him from his duties as tender on the Bridge of the Gods.

Mrs. C. A. Broliar, president of the Ladies' Aid, reports that the lot for improvement work done on the parsonage which the Aid took the responsibility of paying off has been completely cleared up. A bathroom was added to the house and general repair work done. The Rev. H. H. Weaver donated all labor on the job so the only cost was actual materials used.

A beautiful quilt made by Mrs. Russell Miller and Mrs. C. A. Broliar with the help of other members of the Ladies' Aid was sold recently bringing eleven dollars into the society's treasury. The ladies plan to use this as a starter for the fund created to finance turning about and renovation of the church.

Mrs. A. J. Gietner and her daughter, Miss Jane Gietner, made a shopping trip to Portland Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gilman spent the week end with friends at Colton.

Beautiful weather greeted Mrs. Ross Snyder when she made a trip to Seaside last week to visit her mother.

Mrs. Edith Hill and son, Charles, were Hood River visitors last week.

Mrs. Frank E. Glazier and her brother, J. W. Roth, visited with their grandmother in Grants Pass last week-end.

Portland visitors last week included Mrs. William Sundsten and J. W. Carlson of Cascade Locks.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Broliar arrived in Cascade Locks Friday morning after an enjoyable auto trip from their home in Fresno, California, that included a short stop-over in Portland where Mrs. Broliar has a sister. Accompanying the Broliars were their nephew, Everill, who had journeyed south a week before to visit a short while before returning with the couple, and Mrs. Roy Few. The Broliars expect to spend two weeks visiting Mr. Broliar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Broliar, and friends. Mrs. Few is visiting her uncle, Frank Hall.

A party of ten Cascade Locks citizens conducted by Stella Woodard, noble grand of the local Rebekahs, journeyed to Hood River Thursday evening to attend an open meeting of the Hood River Odd Fellows lodge. Entertainment included a drill put on by the girls' drill team of Hood River. The evening was rounded out with the serving of refreshments to those attending. Also present at the meeting were representatives from White Salmon and other nearby towns.

The Rev. L. H. Weaver and Mrs. Weaver drove to Hood River Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Ora Hathaway to visit with friends.

Mrs. W. O. McKinnon was a Hood River visitor Thursday.

Doctor Fulsom and Joe Miller are putting the finishing touches on a motor boat they plan to launch next Thursday. They have remodeled and repainted the craft and are going to power it with a Star engine.

Dodson

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Karg hitched old Dobbin to the shay and drove to Arlington Sunday.

Miss Flora Barkhardt of Portland visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Myers over Saturday and Sunday.

R. T. Jacobs, owner of the tract at Dodson, began improvement operation around the camp last Friday with the placing of top-soil around the fronts of several houses. The plan at present is to landscape the entire district and make a model residential layout. Shrubs are to be furnished to occupants to plant about the houses and a general campaign of clean up and paint up will be carried out.

Mr. and Mrs. "Mac" McCready of the Bonny Park garage spent Sunday afternoon in Portland, taking in dinner and a show.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Strom were Portland visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sharp of North Bonneville and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Stanton and son, Billy, of North Bonneville, were guests at the home of

Warrendale

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Butterfield returned last week from an extended tour of California, during which time the couple visited in Stockton, Sacramento and several other cities along the highway, returning via the coast highway. Mr. Butterfield reports the road around Yreka as being in bad shape due to heavy rains. Whole sections were washed out and loose ballast has been placed to build up to the previous level. Mr. Butterfield has been absent from California for nearly 15 years and expressed considerable surprise at the changes that have taken place. He returns to work on the dam this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson have moved from the Mays house in the Lively addition to the home rented to them by Miss Stephens.

The hustle and bustle of activity livens the grounds surrounding the old cannery at Warrendale this week as nimrods prepare to make the season's catch. William Trubach, able angler, is going over his gear this week in preparation to an extended campaign against the royal chinook.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Dow and son, Jimmy, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Erickson drove to Yakima and Wapato, Washington, over the week-end, visiting friends and taking in the sights of the Yakima valley.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hill are taking a trip around Washington this week with stop-overs planned for Aberdeen, Wenatchee and the Grand Coulee dam.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Terwilliger spent the week-end at Bar View. A pleasant trip is reported with glowing accounts of the heavy surf to be seen this time of the year along the jetty.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Smith, still blushing from a recent visit to the altar, started housekeeping this week at Warrendale. May we extend our congratulations and hope for your continued happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Duffield, recently of North Bonneville, have moved in to the Warrendale community this week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Jefferies left the district this week for Huber, Oregon, where they will remain for awhile before leaving for their home in North Carolina.

J. R. Bault left for La Grande this week for a look at the big job up there.

Mrs. Norman Kline now knows the life of a traveling athlete. She left for Portland Monday with the women's volleyball team for a return play with the Portland triple-threaters.

MRS. LEWALLEN TO SPEAK AT PORTLAND

Upon invitation of the Oregon Democratic League of Women Voters, Mrs. Juanita Lewallen of Cascade Locks will speak Wednesday on the subject of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Because of her thorough understanding of the subject, Mrs. Lewallen has been selected to deliver the key address of the meeting being held in Portland.

She will attempt to point out the fact that of all things instigated by the administration, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is above reproach.

Mrs. Lewallen has been active in democratic organizations for some time and will be remembered as carrying an active part of the load in the local organization since its formation in July of last year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lash, Sunday.

Mrs. Ralph Lockard is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Johnson. From there she will go to visit her mother whose home is in Stevenson, Washington.

Mrs. Lila Mathews and daughter, Jean Mathews, are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Ted Johnson.
