

Detective Follows His Man

Through Life to the Grave

For 16 years detective, now sergeant, Charles Hemendinger of Brooklyn, N. Y., followed the trail of Elton C. Wing, who was wanted for murder in a bank robbery. He caught him in 1932, helped convict him and got Wing a job after he was paroled in 1934. Recently Hemendinger followed Wing's bier to the grave after taking up a collection to prevent his burial in potter's field. Wing died of pneumonia.

Rid Yourself of Kidney Poisons

DO you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination; backache, headache, dizziness, loss of energy, leg pains, swellings and puffiness under the eyes? Are you tired, nervous—feel all unstrung and don't know what is wrong?

Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly for functional kidney disorder permits excess waste to stay in the blood, and to poison and upset the whole system.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They are recommended the world over. You can get the genuine, time-tested Doan's at any drug store.

DOAN'S PILLS

No Need to Suffer "Morning Sickness"

"Morning sickness"—is caused by an acid condition. To avoid it, acid must be offset by alkalis—such as magnesia.

Why Physicians Recommend Milnesia Wafers

These mint-flavored, candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—the most pleasant way to take it. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly, then swallowed, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system and insure quick, complete elimination of the waste matters that cause gas, headaches, bloated feelings and a dozen other discomforts.

Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48, at 35c and 60c respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

POULTRY FACTS

SELECT, HANDLE EGGS CAREFULLY

Hatchability Is Important to All Poultrymen.

By Dr. W. C. Thompson, Professor of Poultry Husbandry, New Jersey College of Agriculture, WNU Service.

Much of the profit making possibilities of next season's pullet flocks will be determined by the type and character of hatching eggs used in incubators. Good chicks and good pullets will come only from good eggs. The ideal weight of hatching eggs is from 26 to 28 ounces to the dozen and not less than 24 ounces to the dozen. Although the matter of weight in egg selection should not be carried to the extreme, next year's pullets will tend to produce eggs of the same type as those from which they were hatched.

Hatching eggs from poultry breeding flocks should be gathered two or three times daily during cold weather because chilling, to say nothing of freezing, ruins chances of a good hatch. Store the eggs in a cool place, preferably at 60 degrees Fahrenheit and in as even a temperature as possible. The air in the storage room should not be too dry, or moisture in the eggs will be evaporated. Placed in clean trays or cartons, the eggs should be turned two or three times daily.

Do not wash hatching eggs, but remove any dirt with a fine sandpaper or emery cloth. It is far better, however, to have produced hatching eggs perfectly clean than to have to clean them after they are gathered. Discard the abnormally colored and oddly shaped eggs and set the selected eggs in the incubator within two weeks, and preferably within 10 days of the time they are laid.

Why the Early-Hatched Chicks Are Preferred

There are at least five reasons why one is apt to be more successful when early hatched chicks are raised, according to H. L. Kempster, of the Missouri College of Agriculture.

The pullets will have time to mature and start laying in late summer or early fall, when egg prices are higher; the cockerels, when sold as broilers, usually return more money; early hatched chicks are not so likely to become infected with coccidiosis and infested with worms; early hatched pullets develop into heavier birds, which lay larger eggs, and cooler weather is conducive to more rapid growth and proper development.

In the selection of chicks, buy those that are free from disease and of vigorous stock, which has been tested for pullorum disease. Try to get chicks from heavy laying hens or from early hatched, well matured pullets. It is desirable that they come from females which lay large eggs and have been mated to male birds that come from high producing hens that lay large eggs (two ounces each or more).

Poultry Notes

Markets seem to prefer infertile eggs.

Enlarged livers occur in a number of poultry diseases.

Moderation is a pretty good policy in all things, including chicken raising.

Laying hens will produce more eggs during the winter if they get warm water to drink.

Most markets demand a light colored skin; consequently, those feeds that tend to produce this should be favored.

STAR DUST MOVIE AND RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE

BRET HARTE'S famous story, "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," has been a favorite bit of reading matter with the multitudes for years and years; it is one of those tales that grow no less popular with the passing of the years. Now it's to be turned into a picture with Norman Foster playing the lead.

Incidentally, they're pushing Foster right along at RKO, and first thing he knows he's likely to be a very popular leading man.

Incidentally, they've recently finished a picture at RKO studio that has everyone who has seen it raving about it. It is "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford," with William Powell, and Jean Arthur, one of our most talented blondes. It's said to be as good as "The Thin Man," which is tops in the way of praise. Powell is a consistent performer, year in and year out. He has won new laurels for his portrayal of Flo Ziegfeld in "The Great Ziegfeld."

"Show Boat" is finished at last, with Helen Morgan and Paul Robeson doing some marvelous singing in it; in fact, you ought to see the picture if only to hear him sing "Old Man River." It will probably be one of the year's best pictures, certainly the best of the musicals; even if you saw the silent version made years ago, and the play as well, you must see this one.

Louise Fazenda is loud in her praise of the scenario writers who worked on Kay Francis' newest picture, "The White Angel," which is based on the life of Florence Nightingale, famous nurse of the Crimean war. Says she couldn't see, at first, how they could possibly get a picture out of it. They did; they got a good one, too. But it does seem an awful waste to put Kay, one of our best dressed women, into a nurse's uniform! But here's betting she looks just as lovely in a uniform as she does in one of the latest Paris ensembles.

Carl Laemmle startled everybody at that final dinner given for him before his retirement, when he announced that, a few years ago, he needed money badly and didn't know where to turn. His company, Universal, could have been sold for something like $80,000,000 a few years before that, but he didn't want to give up picture making.

He borrowed the money from Irving Thalberg, who was his secretary before he became the boy wonder of the movie world and moved to Metro. And new "Uncle Carl" has sold Universal, for less money than he once refused for it, and Junior Laemmle may work for Thalberg.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Fred Stone has never made a picture for the company that had him under contract; he startled a lot of motion picture men by saying so the other day . . . As soon as one company engaged him, he'd be borrowed by another one . . . Rochelle Hudson was so pleased with one of the period costumes that she wears in W. C. Fields' picture, "Poppy," that she bought it and is wearing it around town . . . Ann Harding's going to England to make pictures and may not return to Hollywood.

WHO ARE YOU?

The Romance of Your Name

By RUBY HASKINS ELLIS

A Murray?

THIS name first originated with a family from Germany who called themselves Moravu. Settling in Scotland, they affixed their own nomenclature to the district which is now the shire of Moray. The root of the word in both Moravian and Gaelic signifies "great water."

The Clan Murray is a family of the first rank in Scotland. They have figured in Scottish history since the Twelfth century. The title of the head of the clan is the

Murray

Duke of Athol, whose name has occurred time and again in the national affairs of Scotland. The family numbers among its descendants many peers and baronets, including the earl of Dunmore, an important supporter of the Stuart cause in the 1688 revolution, and of the earl of Mansfield, a great statesman, buried in Westminster Abbey, 1793.

At one time this distinguished family had the sovereignty of the Isle of Man, which was afterward sold to the government.

There were Murrys who were prominent in both the Virginia and New England colonies in America. John Murray, "Lord Dunmore," held the governorship of Virginia from 1771 to 1775. He was the eldest son of William Murray, third earl, and Catherine Nairn, and was born at Taymouth, Perthshire, in 1732. He returned to England, where he died at Ramsgate in 1809.

James Murray settled in Dover, N. H., 1658. Jonathan Murray came to Connecticut in 1680.

Working Unlawful

A siesta at mid-day in Greece from twelve till four is necessary on account of the sunshine, and in some cities it is even unlawful to do any work during this period of repose.

Now What Excuse Does Prof Suppose Senior Will Use?

The reason he didn't have his theme, explained Fred Lemmer, University of Minnesota senior, was because his typewriter broke down. There had been other alibis, recalled Prof. Edward Weaver. "The next time," he supposed, "I suppose you'll tell me your house burned down." Without his theme the next time, Lemmer said: "Sorry, professor. My house burned down." It did, too, firemen affirmed.
