Friday and Saturday

"Her Husband Lies," a story of a gambler who stakes his wife's love, his honor and his brother's happiness on a lie he is forced to tell plays at the Roosevelt theater Friday and Saturday with Gail Patrick and Ricardo Cortez in the leading roles. An appreciative audience welcomed it heartily.

Cortez, the gambler, is in love with his wife, Miss Patrick, and promises to give up gambling. His younger brother, played by Tom Brown, comes to town determined to beat the big-time gamblers at their own game. In order to dramatize the lesson, he believes will cure the youngster, Cortez conspires with his erstwhile companions to "trim" the boy.

Unfortunately, the trick does not work, and Brown wins. The gamblers, furious, believe Cortez has tricked them. In order to square himself and to save his brother, Cortez arranges another game with them. When Miss Patrick hears about this she leaves him, not knowing what is really happening.

With life itself at stake, Cortez is forced to lay the things he holds dearest on the table in a thrilling climax.

Miss Patrick is more beautiful than ever in "Her Husband Lies." Not only does she prove that she knows how to wear clothes, but she also proves that she is an actress of real ability. She makes the most of a stirring role.

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday

"God's Country and the Woman," Warner Bros.' brilliant picturization of the James Oliver Curwood novel of the same name—dealing with a feud between lumber companies in the deep forests of the great northwest — shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Roosevelt theater, with George Brent and Beverly Roberts in the leading roles.

The thrillingly dramatic romance of the story is heightened by the fact that the scenes—almost all of which are in the open—were photographed wholly in natural colors.

Brent and Miss Roberts have an excellent supporting cast including such outstanding favorites as Barton MacLane, Robert Barrat, Allen Hale, El Brendel, Billy Bevan and Joseph King. Hundred of real lumberjacks appear in the exciting scenes.

Brent is first seen as a rich idler, who makes a casual visit to the woods where his brother owns a vast tract of timber—and is attempting by crooked methods to injure the business of a rival lumber company managed by a girl, Miss Roberts.

Discovering the trickery of his brother, Brent denounces him and is about to go back to the city when his brother has him shanghaied and returned to the deep woods where the lusty melodrama of love and hate runs its furious course.

There are fights galore between the steel-muscled lumbermen of the two camps. There are thrilling scenes of a runaway log-train and the blasting of a log jam — there are glamorous love scenes—stirring action.

Wednesday and Thursday

"Green Light," that stirring story of heroism, sacrifice and love, which had many hundreds of thousands of readers in its book form a couple of years ago, comes as a photoplay to the Roosevelt theater Wednesday and Thursday—a faithfully made, splendidly-cast Cosmopolitan production, released by First National.

Errol Flynn, the young Irishman, who made sensational hits in "Captain Blood," and "Charge of the Light Brigade" is the masculine star of Lloyd C. Douglas' gripping tale. He plays Dr. Paige, the scientist who almost gives his life in researches destined to alleviate human suffering.

The girl he wins, after much misunderstanding and unhappiness, is the lovely little blonde, Anita Louise, who had a recent triumph of her own as the mother of "Anthony

ARTHRITIS

"I suffered 6 years from arthritis and dizzy spells. I believe that my recovery was due to one thing only, and that was Casey's Compound. I cannot recommend it too highly."

Adverse," in the film version of that book, and shares stellar honors with Flynn.

The saintly philosopher, Dean Harcourt, friend and advisor of all the characters in the story, is played by the distinguished British character star, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, who was brought 6000 miles from the London stage to the Hollywood cameras for just this one job.

Margaret Lindsay portrays a devoted hospital nurse who loves Flynn, but has to surrender him. Henry O'Neill as a surgeon who unwittingly forces Flynn into a long martyrdom.

Walter Abel, whose most recent success was as the district attorney in "Fury," was especially engaged to enact the role of Flynn's friends and fellow scientist.

Enthusiastic reports about "Green Light" have come from preview audiences. It was directed by Frank Borzage.
