

HOOD RIVER

A gay week gone—and another just as gay in view. Intertwined with the holly of Christmas feasting is the mistletoe of romance.

Two weddings of considerable interest, a betrothal announcement, the arrival of two young brides into our midst, gay watch night dinners and dances, entertaining by the younger set, vacationing collegians among us, the hospitalities of open house—all these tell a story of mirth and good cheer.

We're welcoming holidays guests and new neighbors—we're wistfully waving good-bye to friends on their way southward.

Lots of news in the making!

Surprise Party Given by Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Teunis Wyers, whose wedding in Salem occurred early in the holiday season, arrived in Hood River in time for Christmas after a honeymoon trip along the north beaches.

On Thursday evening a merry group of about 30 friends descended upon the newly-weds in a surprise visit to their home on the Columbia River.

Announce Engagement

At a festive Christmas eve dinner party in the home of her mother, Mrs. Beryl Webster Miss Evelyn Early announced her engagement to Harold Keir, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Kier. The wedding is set for early summer, following the close of Mr. Kier's first year's work at the Northwest College of Optometry in Portland.

New Year's Eve Dance

The dancing set is looking forward to the annual New Year's Eve Charity Ball, given by the Elk's Lodge in the K. of P. Hall. It will be a gala affair with horns, whistles and serpentine galore. The ceiling will be hidden by a barrage of silver rain. Purple and white balloons will be clustered around the lights. A great Elks' head with illuminated antlers conspicuously placed, will symbolize the host organization of the evening's diversion.

The committee in charge consists of John Mohr, chairman, Dale Scobee, Addison McCoy, Joseph Young, Stilman Chambers, Arnold Wheeler, and Herman Hendershott.

The Paul Huelat orchestra will furnish the music.
