THEFT FOILED BY GAS MAN

Martin Smith, said by police to have escaped from the Yamhill county jail, carried on some of his antics in this region Saturday, only to find himself outwitted by police and residents of the Mid-Columbia.

It seems Smith, 19 years old, had escaped at night recently from the Yamhill bastille, and was making his way east by the stolen car route. He abandoned one car two miles west of Hood River, came into town on foot, where he is reported to have taken possession of a car owned by Carl Engle, of Hood River. Proceeding east, he stopped for gasoline at the Lew Riggs service station at Rowena. Riggs, suspecting all was not well, disconnected a wire from a spark plug when he was checking the oil, thus slowing the possible speed of the car, then followed the stolen machine into The Dalles, where he notified authorities. Engle's car was abandoned in The Dalles, but Smith was found at the eastern end of town trying to continue further by the thumb route. He confessed the thefts, it is said, and was returned to Yamhill County.

Local Stars Featured in Stage Show

Lights! Camera! Action! And the cameras will click catching the stars as they arrive to take part in Hood River's first Hollywood Premiere and Follies at the Rialto Theatre on Friday evening. Amid all the fuss and fanfare, the thrills and the brilliance for which the cinema capitol is famous, the stars will alight from their shiny new cars at the theatre entrance, where under batteries of flood and studio lights, lighting up both the front of the theatre and the sky, each star will be greeted by the master of ceremonies and introduced over the "mike" to the throngs of loyal movie fans waiting to catch a glimpse of their favorite stage, screen or radio stars.

After their introductions out front, the stars will be escorted to seats reserved for them in the theatre until they are called to the stage to participate in the Hood River Follies. The Follies will consist of choruses of the city's most beautiful girls doing new and professional song and dance routines, solo singers and dancers, riotous comedians with sparkling dialogue and glamorous girls wearing the latest style creations all together in a melange of color and music that will long be remembered as the high point in local theatricals. The feature will start at 7 p. m., the stars arriving at 8:45. The stage show beginning at 9 p. m. and the feature again at 9:45. All the stars of the Premiere will be members of the local younger set who have been selected by the director and have been trained for the last ten days in their parts.

"Street talk" reports in Hood River early this week to the effect that the Montgomery Ward firm would establish an order-receiving office in town were denied late yesterday afternoon by officials of the firm in Portland, who stated: "We are not seriously considering the locating of a branch store in Hood River at the present. If we do locate one there, it will be a small store."

Unemployment Compensation Total $30,517

Salem, Ore., May 9—Four months administration of the unemployment compensation law distributed two and one-half million dollars to eligible jobless workers in Oregon, and claims handled by the Hood River office brought $30,517 to this section. This was 1.2 per cent of the total. Portland maintained its position at the top of the list with 46 per cent of the total benefits paid and Ontario replaced The Dalles at the foot of the distribution ladder with .8 per cent.

Processing of claims and benefit payments are reaching current status rapidly. Checks are now going out at the rate of 20,000 per week and 73 per cent of the more than 65,000 claims filed have passed for payment. Many unemployed workers are receiving their 15th checks this week. Average per check is $11.82.

Less than 7 per cent of the total claims received are either incomplete or in the computing process. The other 20 per cent have been denied due to labor disputes, seasonability, insufficient earnings in base year or because earnings in the base year were in occupations not covered by law.

FIVE YEARS LATER

He was old enough to know better. Here's the story: He bought a piece of real estate and accepted an abstract of title which was not made by an abstract company maintaining a complete set of abstract books.

Five years later, after building a very fine home on the premises, he attempted to sell his property. The prospective purchaser would not accept for his attorney's examination an abstract made by a company which did not possess a complete set of abstract books. A new abstract was ordered and the true and complete record of the chain of title, proved to be unmerchantable. In order to give a good title, the owner was forced to bring a suit to quiet title, and when he paid the bill he remembered the old adage about experience being an expensive teacher.

Safeguard your investments in real estate. Insist that the abstract of title upon which you and your attorney depends, for information concerning the chain of title, is made by a company with a complete set of tract indexes.
