Bonneville defeated Hood River, 5 to 4 in an extra inning Thursday on its home field to take the first half championship in the Mid-Columbia softball league. The defeat was the second of the season for Hood River.

Hersh Meyers pitched five-hit ball for the apple-city team, but weak fielding kept him in trouble. Hood River jumped the gun when Ingalls drove in two runs with a triple in the first, but Bonneville tied it with a pair in the second. Hood River again took the lead in the fourth when Dunn blasted a home-run and Meyers held the dam-dwellers in check until the seventh, when three errors combined to let in the tying run. In the eighth inning the dam-dwellers pushed across another run to take the game and the championship.

Meyers' five-hit performance was duplicated by Heimer and Miller who split the hurling duties for Bonneville, each pitching four innings. Reimer fanned eight Hood River boys, and Miller struck out three in his four innings. Meyers fanned six in his eight inning performance.

BRIDGE DEDICATED

Dedication services commemorating the completion of the new north approach of the Hood River-White Salmon bridge were held last Thursday. Directors and officials of the bridge company were in attendance and a symbolic golden spike was driven by Leslie Butler, who performed a similar ceremony 14 years ago when the bridge was first built.

E. M. Chandler, of Olympia, president of the Oregon-Washington Bridge Company, addressed the gathering, as did E. C. Smith of Hood River and Harry Dick, president of the Gilpin Construction Company, which firm holds the contract for raising the span to permit the passage of large ships up the river.

EAGLE CREEK WATER O. K.

Drinking water at the Eagle Creek Camp Grounds last week again scored "A", which means it is safe for drinking purposes. Twice each year samples are taken from the various public drinking fountains on the camp grounds and sent to the Oregon State Board of Health who, in cooperation with the U. S. Public Health Service, makes a prompt bacteriological analysis of it.
