Mrs. Burt Nelson was honored last Thursday at the home of Mrs. R. J. Wuner with a table piled with gifts, presided over by a bird balanced precariously on one slender leg. The afternoon was spent informally. Mrs. Scott arranged a sock filled with nursery articles which everyone had a chance to feel and guess what they were. High scorers were Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Miestrell. Those enjoying the afternoon were Mesdames Ernie Manchester, Wilbert Harrison, Roland Miller, Winfred Cronk, John W. Woodward, Chris Broliar, Wilburn Smeltzer, Charles Bennett, Addison and Carlyle Harrison, Ben Scott, R. J. Wuner, and Newton Clark. Several sending gifts were unable to attend.

Mrs. Hulda Olin was honor guest last week when a group of friends dropped in on her birthday to spend the afternoon. Cards were the diversion of the afternoon. Guests included Mesdames Franz and Carl Reuterskiold, Ivan Embree, Charles Nelson, William Sundsten, Henry Rosenback, George Miller, Charles Hagglom, John W. Woodward, George Hagglom, Lester Sprague and Mrs. Wentz.

Members of Cascadia Rebekah lodge challenged the Odd Fellows at cards last Friday at the pot-luck supper which they held at the hall. The women's score was highest which I believe makes the men host at the next party. The quilt was presented and the lucky winner was Mrs. Charles Hagglom and Mrs. Weeman took home the box of capdy.
