

DEPICTING PEOPLE AND EVENTS

School Children Examined in Mass Poisoning

A thorough examination is in order for these youthful victims of Staten island's recent mass food poisoning "epidemic," which struck 368 students in 41 public schools. New York school officials investigated the epidemic. Emergency hospital resources of island towns were strained to the utmost. Left: Abraham Churchrow, investigator for the federal bureau of food and drugs, carrying canisters of food to be analyzed.

Hoess Housing Plan May Be U. S. Model

The four Hoess brothers of Hammond, Ind., who devised a low cost homestead and housing plan to fit the average working man's small income, may have started a nationwide movement. Frank Hoess, (third left) oldest of the brothers, was subpoenaed to appear before Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney's so-called monopolies investigating committee. This committee is considering amendments to the 1937 housing act, and the Hoess plan has been suggested as the basis for a national program. Left to right, the brothers are William, John, Frank and Joseph.

Donkey Cart Returns to Tokyo Streets

Japan's war-time economy has resulted in the reappearance in Tokyo of the old-time donkey cart, used to transport merchandise and people as well on even the busiest of their streets. The cabby in this picture appears in occidental attire, even to the straw hat and sun glasses, as he "pushes on the reins" to speed up this comparatively slow method of travel. Gasoline, held an important position, is so valued that a drop of it is now compared to a drop of blood.

She Gives Sea Shells At Sun, Surf, Sand Fete

Winners of the recent seaside fete at Long Beach, Calif., were awarded with golden shell trophies by Miss Jane Walsh, who handed out the prizes given in connection with the city's annual surf, sun and sand celebration on the famed silver strand.

Paris, Fashion Center, Previews New Style Trend

Paris, long a world fashion center, now sets the style for a new kind of apparel. The new mode, protective clothing designed for air raid safety, is more practical than fashionable. The above costumes were displayed in a recent Paris exhibit of air raid precaution clothing. Left: What the safely dressed child between four and six years old will wear if the city is bombed. Center: A mask suit and protected bag for carrying provisions during a time of emergency.

Gov. Long Promises Louisiana Purge

Earl K. Long, recently inaugurated governor of Louisiana and brother of the late Huey ("Kingfish") Long, has promised the state a "ruthless purge from within." Long, former lieutenant-governor, replaced Gov. Richard W. Leche, who resigned because of illness, postponed his resignation when Dr. James Monroe Smith, president of the state university, disappeared, and then announced his final resignation. Smith, accused of embezzling $100,000, had previously quit his post. Long is pictured here with his wife, an ardent movie camera fan.
