LOCAL AND GENERAL.

These are frosty mornings.

Dr. Davis, resident dentist.

"The beautiful"—Oh hush!

The trees are almost leafless.

Turkeys went down yesterday.

A. B. Westerfield went to Portland on business this week.

Peter Bryan has been appointed postmaster at Garibaldi, Oregon.

Judge H. Hurley started for Pendleton on business on Tuesday's train.

F. W. Fenton and family visited the metropolis last Friday and Saturday.

John Driedwell and wife visited their brother George here, during the week.

It is expected that the state tax will be over five mills? How is that for high?

Dr. Reese and R. L. Churchman of Willamina, were in town on Wednesday.

Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Talmage, of McMinnville, were in Lafayette Wednesday.

Highest price paid for all kinds of wrought and cast iron. Apply to Carl Young.

Geo. G. Bingham, city attorney of Salem, and wife, visited friends and relatives here this week.

In passing through town yesterday Rev. O. B. Whitmore, of Astoria, stopped long enough to shake hands.

Last Friday Byron Milloy fell from a hack, and the wheel struck his leg inflicting a severe wound.

F. Eastabrook, of Portland, made a trip to this place Monday, on a short visit to relatives and friends.

W. A. Gardiner, the popular station agent of the narrow gauge, has moved into the house vacated by Mr. Milloy.

The annual election for officers of the incorporated town of Lafayette will take place on Monday, December 5, 1887.

Barnum's winter quarter's were burnt last Sunday night. Loss, $200,000 gain, (free advertising) estimated, $50,000.

John Milloy and family removed to Portland on Monday, where we understand Mr. M. has a position in a store.

Money to loan on improved farming lands, from one to five years time in sums to suit. FENTON & FENTON, Lafayette, Or.

Astoria is to have a street railway. The railroad subtly so long talked of is gradually growing, and it will get there by-and-by.

For cash in hand I will make ten per cent. discount from Sept. 20th, 1887 to January 1st, 1888 on all dental work. Respectfully, Dr. E. Davis, Lafayette, Or.

The advertisement of Rogers & Todd, druggists, McMinnville, may be seen in another column. Their ad. appeared last week, but in our hurry we omitted to mention it.

The many friends of Miss Olive L. Townsend in this vicinity will be pleased to know of her marriage. The happy event occurred at Lakeview recently, and Mr. W. N. Sutton is the lucky groom.

Only five of the pioneers of 1842 are living now. They are F. X. Mathieu of Butteville; M. Crawford, of Yamhill; S. Moss, of Oregon City; T. J. Shadden, of McMinnville; and H. W. Robb, of East Portland.

Mr. S. A. Clarke and family will move to Portland soon. Mr. C. Clarke will take charge of the agricultural department of the Oregonian. That he will make a prominent feature of his department, does without saying.

J. P. Johnson, of North Yamhill precinct, made the Register office a pleasant call last Saturday, and left an order for that excellent paper the New York World. Remember the clubbing arrangement ends on the 1st of January, 1888.

W. I. Westerfield, the furniture man, has purchased the stock of undertaking goods of the estate of D. I. Corker, deceased. He will sort up and make the stock more complete. Any one desiring anything in this line should give Willie a call.

REDINGTON'S LIBERALTY.

J. Watermelon Redington, the Heppner Gazette man again bobs up serenely. He sends to the Statesman a check for $24,000 upon the First National (sand) bank of Wallula, with branches at Faro, Alaska, Umatilla, Oregon, for distribution of "several cords of the Statesman amongst the poor of Umatilla." It is enclosed in a letter on which the following head lines are conspicuous: "Woodshed of The Only Heppner Gazette, engineered by J. W. Redington. An eastern Oregon paper that never cans dogs, rarely drains the cup that cheers and also inebriates, and uses but very little profane language, $2.50 a year,—in advance when it can be got. Notary and fire insurance shop. Only religiously inclined paper in the colony. Extra editions in volapuk. Land, business done in all kinds of weather. A standard authority on irrigating oyster orchards, clam trees, etc. Five years old and not a bald hair in its head. It is the housewife's favorite for dish-clothes or bustles."—Salem Statesman.

We know Red, to be as liberal as the above indicates. We remember the fall of '78 when he returned to Salem from his scouting trip among the Bannocks. He brought with him a black cayuse as his only souvenir, and he graciously allowed the writer the use of said cayuse each alternate Sunday providing we would furnish the feed and stable for the animal, and have everything in good trim on the Sunday when Redington wanted to go to see his girl.

THE BAND.—At the meeting of the Lafayette corner band which was held on the evening of the 21st, the following business was transacted: Distribution of instruments, H. C. Hastings, T. H. Bryan, Eb cornets; G. Bird, F. Bryan, W. Cary, Bb cornets; T. J. Harris, P. Olds, J. P. Johnson, Eb bass; C. E. Nelson, E. Davis, tenors; W. I. Westerfield, baritone; S. A. D. Nelson, Bb-bass; F. Giltner, Eb tuba; N. Unger, drum and cymbals; A. B. Westerfield, tenor drum. Following are the officers elected: T. J. Harris, president; J. P. Johnson, secretary; C. E. Nelson, treasurer; T. H. Bryan, leader; H. C. Hastings, technical director.

MUST WAIT.—The assessor of Yamhill county has not yet finished his labors of taking the assessment. In consequence of this tardiness the state cannot fix its levy, neither can any county in the state make a levy. The assessment roll in each county must reach the secretary of state before the total amount of taxable property can be ascertained, from which the state levy is made. And the counties must wait until the state levy is made before they can make their levies. We are informed that it will be a week or ten days before the assessment roll will be completed.

NEED SPANKING.—An immigrant got off at a southern Oregon city the other day at 10 o'clock a. m. Instead of hanging himself up to a lamp post he rustled around got a cheap job of anything he could find to do, and at 2 o'clock was at work, and has been doing something continually since. The young man deserving success will do anything rather than remain idle. Saving wood is as honorable as clerking in a store. He who waits for something to turn up, ought to be turned up himself, spanked and attached to an electric battery.—Ex.

WANTS TO BUY.—John Penninger, arrived here from Nebraska, recently. Mr. Penninger wants to buy a farm; he doesn't want a large farm, but will pay $4,000 or $5,000 cash down for the place that suits him. Parties having land to sell would do well to look after this opportunity. We are told that people are coming to this state in large numbers in the next two years. These people will want to buy homes. Don't ask two prices for your land, and then grumble because the newcomers won't buy.

FOR WASHINGTON.—Hon. Binger Hermann, M. C., accompanied by his family, left Roseburg on Thursday night's train for Washington, where he goes to represent this state in the halls of congress. Mr. and Mrs. Hermann were tendered a farewell banquet by the Eastern Star chapter of the Masonic lodge, which was a most pleasant token of respect and esteem. Mr. Hermann and family intend to make the national capital their home for two years, and the best wishes of all go with them.

NEW EMPLOYEES.—Rev. Geo. H. Gerrore, Ph. D., of New York, has arrived at the Indian Training school at Chemawa, and assumed a position as teacher. H. Brisco, of Indiana, has been appointed bookkeeper vice H. H. Booth, resigned; and is now at his post. A new physician to take the place of Dr. Hutchinson, who resigned last spring, is expected shortly. Dr. Byrd, of Salem, has been the pro tem. physician.—Statesman.

LOST.—Saturday November 5th, on the road leading from Newberg to West Chehalis, $35 to $40 in coin. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving the same with the loser, Hans Christenson, West Chehalis, or C. H. Christenson, Lafayette.

WHO SAYS YES?—What say you about a Christmas tree? It has been suggested that we mention the matter, you know, and as such a project takes considerable talk, if you want anything of the kind you'd better commence in time.

STEAMER BURNED.

On Sunday evening as the fleet river steamer Telephone was nearing Upper Astoria she was discovered to be on fire. The fire originated in the oil room and as soon as discovered Capt. Scott was informed of the fact through the speaking tube. He was equal to the occasion and knew what to do and did it. The boat was beached immediately and all the people on board were saved, though one man, said to be drunk, was burned badly and soon died. All freight and baggage was a total loss. It was extremely fortunate that the steamer was not in mid-river, as in that case a great loss of life would undoubtedly have occurred. The Telephone was the pride of the Columbia, and especially did the people of Astoria delight to honor her. She was not so stylishly finished as some others, but had good accommodations for passengers. Capt. Scott built the Telephone for speed, and it is said that she was the fastest stern wheeler in the world. This steamer was built in Portland in the winter of '84-'85, and made her first trip to Astoria March 1, 1885, in five hours and thirty-one minutes, with 27 passengers aboard. The Telephone's fastest time was made on Saturday, July 2, 1887, when she made the run from Portland to Astoria in four hours, thirty-four and three-fourth minutes. This is known to be the fastest time ever made on this coast, and the only question about its being the fastest time in the world is that the exact distance between the above cities is not known, but is about 100 miles. The boat is said to have cost $45,000, and was insured for $30,000.

A UNIVERSAL FAVORITE.

The most popular, most enjoyable and cheapest publication on the Pacific coast is The West Shore magazine, and it should be in every house, counting room and library. The farmers, especially, will find it a clean, wholesome, entertaining family visitor. It is the cheapest illustrated magazine in the world, and has no superior in artistic merit. The West Shore for 1888 will be greatly enlarged in size, and improved in contents, both literary and artistic. A magnificent, large oblong of the "Entrance to the Columbia River" is now being prepared, and is superior in every respect to the handsome colored engraving of Mt. Hood issued last year. This beautiful marine picture and the November and December numbers of 1887, will be sent free to all who subscribe now for 1888. A most liberal clubbing list with leading publications is now made and will be sent to any one who desires to take The West Shore in connection with other publications. The subscription price is only $2.50. Address L. Samuel, publisher of The West Shore, Portland, Oregon.

CLUBBING RATES.

We have made arrangements with the New York World publishers, whereby we can furnish the REGISTER, the Weekly World and any one of three valuable books for $2.50. The books are the "History of the United States," "History of England," and "Everybody's Guide." Price of each book alone is $2.00. The REGISTER will keep abreast of the times the coming year. It is our intention to enlarge and otherwise improve our already popular paper on or before January 1, 1888. Our subscription list is increasing constantly, and the future for the REGISTER is bright. Present subscribers can take advantage of the above very liberal offer by paying all arrears and $2.50 for the REGISTER, World and choice of books for the year to come. You can get a sample copy of the World by sending your address to the publishers, and you can see the books by calling at this office. These rates apply only to cash mail subscribers, to those who pay a full year in advance, and will close promptly on January 1, 1888.

WIVES' MOTHERS' DAUGHTERS!

Be your own physician! A lady who for years suffered from distressing female complaints, weakness, etc., so common to her sex, and had despaired of a cure, finally found remedies which completely cured her. Any sufferer can use them and thus cure herself, without the aid of a physician. From feelings of gratitude she will send two prescriptions which cured her—and an illustrated pamphlet entitled "The Stepping Stone to Health," and full instructions, sealed. Address with 2-cent stamp, Mrs. W. C. HOLMES, 658 Broadway, N. Y. (Name this paper.) 13 ly

Yesterday was Thanksgiving day. We are very thankful for the manifold bounties and the prosperity that has been bestowed upon us the year past. All our needs have been supplied, and again we are thankful.

CARLTON.

Nov. 20, 1887.

Better dig your potatoes and pick your apples.

Chief Biley, of the Wool? Heads of the East Side reservation, has preferred charges against Chief Nehemia of the West Side pug nose reservation, for conduct unbecoming a chief, inasmuch as he has positive evidence that he attended the dance at McMinnville a few nights after the election and was selected as prompter, and when he should say "Ladies to the right," he would say "McMinnville is alright and Lafayette is left." Chief Biley thinks he should leave politics out of the dance, he says he is able to prove his charges by Jim, the fiddler.

Wonder where our shoemaker is? Come boy, stick out your shingle.

W. E. Bode is at home for a few days from his work on the narrow gauge railroad.

Our butcher shop has got the snows.

Mr. J. E. Swanson has a sure remedy to destroy chicken lice. Here it is—first build your hen house against your barn, then when the lice get bad put some dry straw in the house, then touch a match to the straw and close the door; then the lice will burn up, so will the hen house. This remedy never fails.

Our advice to Bro. Bannister is, if he wants to make a success of his paper to get N. G. Rufus, of Amity, to come to Dayton and loaf in his spare moments to edit the Herald; he could run the windmill by gas. See?

Dr. Smith, of Ahily, called on us a few days ago while here on a professional visit. Come again.

Carlton is the happy possessor of a talking machine.

Charlie looks very happy these days. Tally two for Charlie.

Lots of hogs and turkeys shipped from OREGON; also lots of wool.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

"FOR GOD AND HOME AND NATIVE LAND."

Mrs. F. A. MORRIS, Press Superintendent

Newberg, Oregon.

Nov. 21, 1887.

We are having fine clear weather now, with heavy frosts at night.

We had the pleasure of witnessing the closing exercises of the public school on Friday last week. The children—all the girls, in a charming and dignified manner and acquitted themselves well. The friends and patrons of this school have a most excellent tutor in the person of Mrs. Evaegina Martin, and judging from the list of declaimers and readers, we believe they appreciate her.

The closing literary exercises of the P. P. A. Thru Thursday evening, were well attended and quite interesting.

The Sabbath school Sunday was comparatively small in numbers owing to the fact that so many of the students had gone home for vacation.

The residence of Mr. Albert Hoskins caught fire Thursday from some clothing that was suspended over the kitchen stove to dry; the string having broken, allowing the clothing to fall upon the stove and take fire. The daughter, Miss Minnie, went into the house in a few minutes and had presence of mind sufficient to extinguish the flames just in time to prevent the house from being consumed by the fire. There were several pieces of clothing burned, beside a large hole in the floor.

We were privileged to attend the U. B. conference at Pleasant Hill last Saturday and Sunday, and heard the Rev. Mr. Pulling preach.

The Chautauquans meet this Friday evening at the residence of Mr. Geo. Mitchell.

In one of the oldest wine-growing districts of California there is a little town of Lytle located west with a suggestive history. This town had formerly excellent schools, both public and private; a well-sustained seminary for young ladies, belonging to a leading religious denomination, was one of the ornaments of the place. Two Protestant churches supported comfortably resident pastors, and filled their churches on Sundays. As the culture of the wine grape came into prominence, the religious and educational institutions declined and languished. By the time two wineries were competing for the business of the valley, the town had become unable to support its churches, its private schools were closed, and its public schools far below the efficiency which our California school system demands. Now the wine business flourishes, no Christian minister resides in the place; an itinerant preacher reads occasional services in a church, where the sacrifice of praise and prayer used to be offered regularly every Sabbath. And the building of the once flourishing denomination school, from whose walls have graduated bright and beautiful girls, whose children are now ready to fill such institutions, is now used as a store house for a wine company. The population of the place has not changed materially, so under our school system they are bound to have public schools. Their teachers are liberally paid from the public funds, but it is said that teachers do not desire to teach a second year there. The contrast between the old order of things and the present, can be seen best on Sunday, when the streets are full of idle, dissolute young men, with no respect for the Sabbath or anything else that is holy. The point of this story is this—this story has been told on several occasions in conversation with different parties without giving the name of the town, and invariably some one says: "I know that place," and gives the name of some other town where the same conditions exist. The frequency of these parallels brings out the fearful question, "What is the relation of wine-growing to morals and education?"

The drink bill of the nation is over $600,000,000 a year, and the tobacco bill, $600,000,000.

Johann Most is being tried in New York for using bad (anarchistic) language. Most time these anarchists were put to work.

NEWBERG.

Nov. 22, 1887.

A great many complaining of bad colds.

Mary Edwards held divine services at Middleton last Sabbath.

Misses Abbie and Rosa Gard have gone to California on a visit.

David Everest is making some new improvements in the way of fencing.

Quite a number about here are putting out a lot of young fruit trees.

Mrs. G. P. Moore's mother, of Silverton, is down on a visit.

Thaddeus Townsend, of Portland, was up on business one day last week.

Mit Hanson has started a butcher shop; so we need not go hungry for meat.

Chehalis Mt. school district has purchased a new Webster Unabridged Dictionary, 1886 edition. Tally one for them; they seem to be getting a little ahead of times.

A good time to butcher now. Spare ribs are plentiful.

Geo. Myers has a water-wheel, up at his carp pond, attached to a grind stone; pretty good place to go and grind an axo.

The Good Templars will give a dime sociable at their hall on the evening of Dec. 3d, and it will cost you the small sum of ten cents to get your supper and take in the literary productions.

J. D. Tarrant & Co. have put up some new sheds at their grist mill, for farmers to hitch their teams under while their grist is being ground, which is fine for the horses on a rainy day.

D. J. Wood and family expect to move to California about the 6th of December.

Oh, where is our turkey? PROHIBITIONIST.
