cating trip to the Little Nestucca yesterday morning.

Postmaster Johnson and wife were called to East Portland Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Johnson's aunt,

Mrs. J. W. Baker.

Judge Hurley and family folded their tents and stole away to the seaside on Big Nestucca this week. They will be gone two or three weeks.

The Register acknowledges a pleasant call from Frank Linville, of Grays Harbor. Mr. Linville has purchased a farm near North Yamhill, where he will make his home this fall.

Hon. Jas. McCain and family left for the cool and refreshing haunts of Tillamook Wednesday morning. On account of the rain week before last Mr. McCain's family did not go as announced.

YAMHILL LUMBER TO LOS ANGELES.—

As an example of what changes and benefits are brought about by railroads it may be stated that the people of New-berg, Yamhill county, a thriving settlement of prosperous, energetic Quakers, have entered into a contract with Mr.

Wm. Reid, vice-president of the Portland

& Willamette Valley Railway, to carry

250,000 feet of oak and fir lumber from that place to the depot at the foot of Jefferson street every month for two years.

The lumber has been contracted for by another thriving colony of Quakers at Encinitas, Los Angeles county, California, and will be loaded on a schooner at the public levee here for shipment to that place. This means the transferring of the forests around Newberg into many thousands of dollars for the pockets of the enterprising Newbergers and also profits for the P. & W. V.—Oregonian.

THE ECLIPSE.—Last Sunday evening was the time fixed for a total eclipse of the moon. The night was all that could have been desired; not a cloud defaced the sky. The phenomenon was watched with interest by citizens in every part of town. Even the Chinamen were enjoying the scene with evident satisfaction, when one of their number was heard to remark that in China they play the band to scare the eclipse away and save the moon. The eclipse was visible here about four hours, and passed off about 12 o'clock.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—There is a little inoffensive chap with a bootblack stand in front of the Altona restaurant, who is picking up a few honest cents blacking boots. A big two-fisted husky has been imposing on the little fellow, making him black his boots for nothing, and finally began banging him around. The poor little bleeding piece of humanity had the brute brought before Judge Jewett last Monday, who, upon hearing the evidence, very properly fined him $50, for his inhumanity.—Astorian.

NEW DEPOT.—On Tuesday the Portland

& Willamette Valley railroad commenced running to Jefferson street, Portland.

Heretofore the improvised terminal facilities have been used at the foot of Lincoln street, but the right of way having been secured through Gov. Penneyer's sawmill property, the road was hurried to completion. The new depot at Jefferson street is said to be the best and handiest in the state for freight and passenger traffic.

FINALLY GOT THERE.—A gentleman who took the 6:30 a. m. narrow gauge train for Portland one day this week, reports that it was 2 p. m. when they arrived at their destination. The distance is thirty-four and a half miles, or a trifle over four miles an hour. The train is not always so slow, but it is slow enough to tax the patience of a Job.

NOTICE TO DEBTORS.—The copartnership heretofore existing between Dr. G.

W. Goucher and Dr. G. H. Smith, at Amity, has been dissolved by mutual consent. The accounts of the late firm have been placed in the hands of B. H.

Springer, of Amity, for collection. Parties knowing themselves indebted to the firm will please take notice.

Adjourned till Saturday, 28th day of July, 1888.

MISS OR MRS.—Ladies who conduct business correspondence on their own account should never neglect to prefix their signatures, when addressing strangers, with the title Miss or Mrs., as the case may be, in order that the reply will more surely be received.

In writing to persons with whom they may be acquainted this prefix will not be necessary. For some unaccountable reason there is objection in the minds of many to using these titles; but when the importance of the same is fully understood all objections should at once be set aside. Prompt and certain delivery of mail addressed to a woman is much facilitated by a knowledge whether the same is intended for a Miss or a Mrs.—Portland Business Educator.

CHINESE PHEASANTS.—The Mongolian pheasant has still three years from November 21st to defy the Oregon pot-hunter and professional sport. These birds are increasing with great rapidity in some localities, and are accounted pests of the grain field by many farmers. They are most plentiful in Linn county, where they were originally liberated after importation.—Albany Herald.

PROSPECTIVE MARRIAGE.—Yesterday County Clerk Babcock granted a license to marry to W. J. Garrison, of McMinnville, and Emma Penton, of Marion county. The prospective bridegroom is the owner of a large amount of property in Yamhill county, and is a well-known citizen there. The bride-to-be is well-known in Salem.—Statesman.

NO NEWS.—Owing to other business Judge Boise could not hear the argument in the injunction suit yesterday at 9 o'clock. Up to the hour of going to press no other news had been received.

BORN.—At Newberg, July 23, 1888, to the wife of Peter Christenson, the lively map, a son.

Rev. J. T. Wolfe, well known in this county and state, died in Corvallis, July 24, 1888, aged 54 years.

J. S. Ogilvie, of New York and Chicago, has in press and will soon publish, in his twenty-five cent paper covered Fireside Series, a book by Anna Randall Diehl, entitled "Two Thousand Words and their Definitions," which are not found in Webster's Dictionary. It is a book which every teacher and student, who wishes to keep up with these progressive times, should have.

Warehousemen along the narrow gauge railroad are in a quandary. They do not know whether to open their houses for the reception of grain or not. Suiter & Daniel, of this place, have an advantage inasmuch as they have a good warehouse on the river. It is supposed, however, that the managers of the road will make an effort to move all grain stored on their line.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with abscess of lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of lung troubles. Was given up by my doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at J. M. Kelly's drug store.

CARLTON.

July 23, 1888.

Did you see the eclipse?

Give me back my two bits of mission-ary money.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins think of spending the winter at Prineville.

Reapers are running day and night out our way to save a fine crop.

Our business men are selling an immense amount of binding twine.

Mrs. D. O. Stevenson is visiting her sister at Smock's mill, on the narrow gauge railroad.

Our warehousemen are getting ready to receive one of the largest crops ever raised in Oregon.

Asa Kelsey and W. E. Bodle are going to Tillamook to work on the new court house; no injunction there.

Harry and Ellison have started a jockey club; they have two horses that can trot a mile in spite of the eclipse or any other man.

W. L. Skeels, soul sleeper, will preach in the schoolhouse next Saturday evening and Sunday and Sunday evening.

All are invited to come.

A little boy of L. C. Thompson fell out of the barn the other day and struck on his head, knocking out one tooth and rendering him unconscious for two hours.

Dr. Calbreath was called and rendered medical aid, and at last report the little fellow was resting easy. Hawk-Eye.

TO DESTROY FERNS.

M. Mounier suggests the following plan for the eradication of ferns, which has succeeded in his case. Lucerne has a voracious appetite for potash, and so has the fern. He sowed lucerne on the infested soil, and found it so disputed the potash with the fern, that the latter dwindled and died out. New Zealand could well try the experiment.—Ex.

And we add, why not Oregon? It is only too well known by farmers throughout the state that there are large tracts of otherwise fertile land that do not yield one-half of what they might, if rid of the fern pest. And when we consider the fact that lucerne is also a valuable forage-plant and an excellent subsoiler, its deep running roots bringing to the surface large quantities of fertilizing material, not otherwise obtainable; it would seem to admirably supply a long-felt want. It is extensively and profitably cultivated in Europe and parts of our own country, and farmers of Lane county and other parts of the state would evidently forward their own interests by bringing it into more general use here.—Eugene Guard.

REAL ESTATE.

The following deeds were recorded during the week ending July 21, 1888:
