

WEST SIDE TELEPHONE.

McMINNVILLE, FRIDAY, AUGUST 27, 1886.

LOGAN AND PARTY.

Portland must have had a regular, genuine jollification Monday evening, when Gen. John A. Logan and party were with them.

MR. BURDETT'S SPEECH.

Past Commander-in-Chief Samuel S. Burdett spoke for the Grand Army of the Republic and made an elegant address full of vigor, logic and patriotism.

Mr. Burdett then spoke of the G. A. R., and said when Abraham Lincoln called for soldiers, an army, not of hirelings, but of gentlemen, stepped to the front, made up of the choicest sons of families.

GENERAL LOGAN'S ADDRESS.

F. H. Lamb then said he had one of the most pleasing duties of his life to perform, and that was to introduce General John A. Logan to the audience, which duty he performed in the most graceful manner possible.

As General Logan arose and advanced to address the assemblage, he was greeted with a perfect avalanche of applause and cheers.

General Logan, in substance, said: He appeared before them with a certain amount of embarrassment over the many flattering things which had been said of him by those outside who had preceded him, but he would say this much, that he had never performed a single act in his life that was not his plain duty as an American citizen.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The chief of the bureau of statistics has sent to the acting secretary of the treasury a statement of the values of imports and exports of the United States for the month of July, 1886, and for the seven and twelve months ended July 31, 1886.

I came to California to meet the members of my society and to arrange matters for another year. We old soldiers are always glad to meet one another.—People wonder at this, but it is something you cannot understand and I cannot explain.

General Logan said he never met more generous, hospitable treatment than that extended to him and comrades in California and Nevada. On their way to Portland, in southern Oregon and along the line of the Oregon & California railroad, the people met him and his party hospitably and were glad to see him and party, and the general and party were equally glad to see them. He said the people of Oregon were patriotic and energetic, and had a great state, but needed people and manufactures to develop its resources.

“What I have seen on this coast has been a lesson,” he said, “and as a representative of Illinois, while looking out for the wants of my constituents, I still believe it to be my duty to aid in securing legislation for the whole country, and I will aid your senators and representatives in all honorable ways to secure the legislation which I conceive to be most beneficial to you.

Governor Alger, of Michigan, was next introduced by Mr. Lamb. He said that while at San Francisco, before they started, General Logan told him that all the stage road was macadamized and sprinkled daily, but he found some of it that was not macadamized, and a little that was not sprinkled.

“At San Francisco a few of us,” said Gov. Alger, “took a policeman and visited a place they called Chinatown; of all the degraded places I was ever in that capped the climax. I will not tell you what we saw; but we saw enough to convince us that their presence is inimical to the welfare of our people.—is unmanly and unamerican to injure or maltreat those creatures, but if I could enact the law I would say to this Pagan nation, ‘keep those people at home, we want no more.’ I would say, ‘those unlearned Pagans degrade labor, they degrade the grandest desire of any man, the desire to get an honest living.

Hon. James G. Blaine opened the campaign in Maine, on August 24. His words on all subjects were full of wisdom, as heretofore. In referring to the prohibition question he said: Regarding prohibition, the republican party of Maine had been pledged to prohibition from the day of its organization, and had enacted all the laws regarding its enforcement.

Cutting, the much abused, has been turned loose, and we should judge from his language that he feels very much humiliated. He publishes an address to the people of the United States, in which he thanks the people of El Paso, the press of Texas and particularly Consul Brigham for the interest taken and assistance rendered him during his imprisonment.

A six-inch gun made at the Washington navy yards costs the government $2,000, an eight-inch gun less than $5,000, and a ten-inch gun less than $10,000.

The News quotes valley wheat at $1.17 @ 1.25 per cental. That's getting up about correct. The Oregonian simply says the market is inactive, but doesn't quote prices.

There are 39,600 Chinese in San Francisco.

The anarchists' trial cost Chicago $39,000.
