Mr. II. Adams found a curiosity the other day. He was eating a large , each the stone of which was burst open. On the inside of it he found a full grown bloom, as natural as it it had come out at the end of a sprig. We believe this is a little out of the ordinary—it is with us, at least.

Death of a Pioneer.

Rev. Edward R. Geary died at his home in Eugene City, September 1st. We find this biographical sketch of this old pieneer, which will prove interesting especially to old timers:

Dr. Geary, who was one of the early Oregon pioneers and is well known throughout this state, was born in Boonsboro, Maryland, April 30, 1811, and graduated from Jefferson college, Pennsylvania, in 1834. He studied theology, and about 1840 entered the minisated for eleven years. In 1851 he settled in Yamhill county, Oregon, and was appointed clerk of the United States ciroroninently.

For a square meal go to the St. Charles county 25 cents.

Remember the grand Harvest Ball at affairs. In 1857 he succeeded Ji W. affairs. In 1857 he succeeded Ji W. Nesmith as superintendent of India alfairs for Oregon. He resided in Linn county for a time, but moved to Eugene City in 1876, and became pastor of the Presbyterian church. He has taken thirty-tow degrees in Masonry, and for several years has been a regent of the state university. He has been married twice, first to Miss Harriet Reed, and after her decease to Miss N. M. Woodbridge. He has seven children in different parts of the state, two of whom are physicians and were present during his last sickness.

Sheridan.

This little town still looks up. Its improvements are quite numerous and of a Competent judges put Yamhill's very substantial character. On the wheat crop for this season at 1,000,000 south side of the river several new residences have recently been built that any town throughout the country might justby feel proud of. On the north side of the river the improvement is gradual.

THE FAIR.

It Gives Promise of Being a Success.

The fair opened out yesterday mornng with rather gloomy appearances; a heavy fog hung over and it was cold and night last was a grand success. disagreeable; but by 10 o'clock the sun came out; the wind sprung up from the north and by noon it was warm and pleasant; people began to come in and it began to look as if we were going to have a fair. A TELEPHONE reporter visited the grounds after dinner and found Fred Multner dropped in and paid his father a short visit the latter part of the week. He is holding a position as teleside the grounds after dinner and found everything in apple-pie order. Just inside the gate he found the W. C. T. U. dinner hall, which is large and commodious, and everything about it looks neat and tidy. A little further on is a huckster stand or two and we come to the pavilion, which was being handsomely decorated, with Mesdames Apperson and Fellows at the head of the arrangers .-Some beautiful specimens of work, flowers, etc. were on hand, and these were being placed in order as fast as possible. The following entries had been made at the pavilion up to 2 o'clock, which, of course are but a small part of what will be entered by noon to-day:
