McMINNVILLE, FRIDAY, OCT. 1, 1886.

PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY.

The people of every community are dependent one upon another for mutual benefit and sustenance. If a few dollars comes into a place it goes into circulation and its presence is felt by all. It goes into the hands of the banker; from there to the employer; thence into the hands of the laboring man, who pays his bills here, and everywhere throughout the business portion of the town, and in this way all are benefitted. This is the case we should guard with a jealous eye HOME ENTERPRISE of every description.

If you want ready made clothing you can find it right at your own door; if you wish to have clothing manufactured, just as good tailors as you will find anywhere are your neighbors; you will find no more experienced boot and shoe makers nor better stocks of boots and shoes than are kept right here; in furniture you will find whatever you want of the best quality; our mechanics in iron and wood are as good as you will find at any point; printers' material in cities is no better than that in your home town and the workmen are no better; city merchants may carry more extensive stocks but their goods are no better than those of the home merchants; in hardware you will find superior stocks; in millinery, photography—in fact everything you can do better than to make your purchases at home institutions. Some will argue that you can get things cheaper in Portland. This may be the case in some instances; but where you buy one article at low rates you will pay exorbitant prices for others; and by the time you pay freight, fare, etc., you are out and injured. Besides these things suppose our tailors should go to Portland for their boots and shoes, the boot and shoe men for their clothing, our merchants and others for carpenters to build their houses, and so on ad infinitum, what a good chance we would have for a livelihood. Of course, every business man is here for the purpose of making what little he can out of his business; but all are needed to make up a good substantial town; and for this reason we urge the necessity of standing by one another through thick and thin; patronize home industry, energy and enterprise, keep the money that is brought here floating right around among us and we will all be happy. Do otherwise and we will some day see our mistake.

Acting Secretary Muldrow has rendered a very important decision involving the constitutional provision that "full faith and credit shall be given by each state to the acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state," carrying out the doctrine that where the courts of one state having jurisdiction render a judgment, that judgment is conclusive of all matters determined therein, and is binding on the courts in every other state." Muldrow extends the exposition of the doctrine to the executive departments. The decision is said to be an able one, and is understood to be a reversal of one rendered by Carl Schurz.

The convicted Chicago anarchists are "moving heaven and earth" in their efforts for a new trial. Their claim is that the "verdict was not supported by the evidence." In cases of this kind, where foreigners have overstepped the bounds of the law and created wholesale slaughter by their devilish work, not one iota of charity should be shown—be it in Chicago, McMinnville or any other town. They were given a fair trial, a conscientious verdict was rendered and that should settle the matter. Let technicality be pushed to one side, and let the law be carried out to the letter.

Wiggins' prediction has failed. September 28th has passed and terra firma remains right side up. It would be a god-send to this country if Wiggins could be induced to run the rapids of Niagara in a barrel and the hung hole of the barrel could be opened when he was about the center of the pool. It might be the means of saving the life of many a nervous individual.

The Burlington Insurance company offers a reward of $200 for the person who will send them the best description for making an underground house. His Satanic majesty, Arthur, sitting just at our elbow, suggests that we might "fire" them some of our Oregon post holes or artesian wells; they wouldn't need any description.

Ben Holladay and Joe, his brother, have about come to an understanding. Ben must pay Joe $346,686.46 and Joe will turn over to Ben all his former property which includes the St. Joe farm and three blocks at McMinnville. He may have owned three blocks in this city; but if so we don't know where.

Let some one start a subscription paper for the Charleston sufferers. We know not how soon misfortune may overtakes us and compel us to ask assistance from the outside world.

Claus Sprakles, the sugar king, has at last concluded that he had rather employ white men than Chinese on his vessels. It has taken him a good while to make up his mind.

Senator Sherman opened the campaign in Ohio at Portsmouth on the 28th of September.

The Albany Herald of September 28, says: "D. G. Clark, of this city, is sending daily to his daughter-in-law, who resides at Eugene and is ill, ripe strawberries picked each day from the vines in his garden." It must be the same as the Comstock. The owners are six miners, who are comparatively poor men.

On Saturday, Sept. 18, L. D. C. Latourette, of Oregon City, was driving, when the team ran away, throwing him out and fracturing his ankle. The wound was, at that time, considered a serious although not a necessarily dangerous one. The leg finally had to be amputated, however. The shock proved so great, that death ensued on Friday last. Mr. Latourette was aged 63 years, and was one of Clackamas county's best respected citizens.

The democrats are boasting of a majority of 36,385 in Arkansas, but the fact is that this is only Hughes' plurality over Gregg, the republican nominee.—Hughes' official vote was 90,649, Gregg's 54,064, and Cunningham, labor candidate, received 19,169, leaving a democratic majority of only 17,466. This is the smallest majority ever given a democratic governor since the Brooks-Baxter campaign, and is some 5,000 less than Hughes received two years ago.

Governor Rusk of Wisconsin has issued a proclamation forbidding the importation of cattle from Illinois, except when accompanied by a certificate of health from the state veterinary surgeon of that state, or the inspector of United States bureau of Animal Industry. The reason for this is that a disease that is proving fatal to cattle has made its appearance in the stock yards of Chicago and other portions of Illinois.
