College Notes.

Now, Mr. Editor, please don't make me say "ultimarian" again. Surely there is not such a word in the unbridged dictionary. It is no purpose of Jackson to introduce words in these columns that have no meaning. New words are hard to make, and more, the world is slow in adopting words without proper authority. Here let the sentence be repeated to which reference has been made. "Parents are to blame, in part, for this utilitarian view of life." That is to say, utility in a business sense is made the sole end in view in education. An education must of necessity be useful in many respects, and to limit the training of the mind to one class of subjects is simply to give it a wrong bias. A skillful nurseryman will not shear all the limbs off one side of a tree and leave the limbs on the other side; neither will a judicious parent cut short the avenues of learning in one direction, while in another direction full scope is given to the faculties of the mind. If man were a mental machine, and possessed no other powers of mind than those necessary to conduct business successfully, there might be some ground for limiting his education to a few fundamental principles. Such is not the case. Man is a two fold being. He is susceptible of a high degree of culture. It is the sturdy oak, with branches developed in every direction, that best can stand the furious blasts of the storm. Even so, the mind of broad culture can withstand the blast of adversity; and after the storm is passed, can right itself with dignity and self-possession.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Our young friend Johnnie Fletcher met with quite a serious accident Sunday last. While riding a vicious pony, the animal suddenly commenced bucking and threw Johnnie off. He struck the hard ground on the side of his head, sliding along some ten feet, bruising his face and head and rendering him unconscious. He was conveyed home by a young man who was with him, and Dr. Calbreath, sent for, who succeeded in restoring him to consciousness, dressed his wounds and left him getting along nicely.

CALLING MEETING.—At a called meeting of the engine and hose companies last night, the following officers were elected to fill vacancies caused by death, resignation, etc.: pres., W. V. Price; vice pres., T. H. Rogers; sec., G. E. Tucker; treas., C. W. Talmage. A warrant on the treasurer was also ordered drawn to help defray expenses attendant upon the sickness and death of B. E. Sanders, late president of Eclipse Engine company.

WILL BE REBUILT.—We are glad to be able to say, on the authority of Mr. Jno. J. Sax, that the Star mills are to be rebuilt at once. Work will begin as soon as the bids for the work are in and one accepted, which, he says, will be by the last of this week or the middle of next. And won't everybody be glad, though? The excellent flour furnished right at our doors by this mill has been sadly missed.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—Last evening the temperance people of the city met at Grange hall and re-organized the open temperance society. After some interesting speeches by prominent temperance workers, it was moved and carried that they hold a mass meeting on next Friday evening, October 29th, for the purpose of nominating a ticket to be placed in the field at the coming city election.

WANTED FOR MURDER.—Deputy United States Marshal Partridge, came up last Friday and proceeded to Grand Ronde in quest of an Indian named "Sagar Charlie," who is wanted before the U. S. grand jury, in Portland, on a charge of murder committed some years ago. He found his man and arrived here with him Saturday, taking the afternoon train for Portland.

HEARD FROM.—From the Bellevue, (Idaho) Herald, we clip the following regarding our old friend Abb Henderson: "A. M. (Abb) Henderson, an uncle to Charles and George Foster, arrived on yesterday's train from Modesto, California. Mr. Henderson is an old coaster, having crossed the plains to Oregon when a young man, in 1845. He will take up his residence here."

MISS SUSIE MILLAP is visiting her sister on the Willamina.

MISS GRACE WILLIAMS of Oregon City, was compelled to leave school on account of ill health.

Prof. E. E. Selph was on Colleside the other day. His school on the Willamina will continue four months longer.

Many are afflicted with colds on Colleside.

A BEAUTIFUL PICTURE.—The holiday number of the West Shore, in addition to containing numerous fine colored engravings, will be accompanied by a magnificent picture of Mt. Hood, printed in eight colors. It is something everyone who has passed the noble "Monarch of the Cascades" will desire to possess, and it can only be had by subscribing for the magazine, as the supplement will be sent to yearly subscribers only. The publisher announces that this picture and the October, November and December numbers of this year will be sent free to all who subscribe now for 1887. The West Shore is now in its thirteenth successful year of publication, ranks with the first-class magazines of the Union, and is the only one on the Pacific coast publishing original illustrations. The subscription price is $2.00 per year. L. Samuel, publisher, Portland, Oregon.

THE TAX LEVY.—The county clerks throughout the state are very slow in making their assessment returns to the secretary of state, says the Statesman, and Secretary Earhart, bent on getting through with the tax levy and sundry other things, has sent telegrams to all those clerks that have not yet made their returns, asking them to report the totals by wire. About half the counties only have reported, so far. The levy will probably be made this week some time, by the state board.

ED. TELEPHONE.—I am here. Had a good time coming over the mountains, considering all things. The roads were badly cut up by the travel. I found about four inches of snow on the summit of the mountains for four or five miles, and more snow coming down at a lively rate.

I broke a tire on the lava beds, wrapped the felloe and tire with a rope and came on as though nothing had happened. Soon after leaving the snow I found the roads quite dry and in some places even dusty.

Found the folks here enjoying the best of health and stock in fine condition. The mornings are quite frosty with considerable ice.

The R. E. company have been grading and hauling in iron to secure the right of way to the Minto pass. They have withdrawn their forces however, for fear of being caught by the winter snows where they could not get out.

More anon perhaps. G. C. R.
