

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

As a special inducement to new subscribers, we make the following offer: Every person sending us $2 cash will be given the WEST SIDE TELEPHONE for the balance of the present year free.

The Salem bridge is done. The people of that thriving city can now turn their attention to paying the $50,000 which it cost.

Fish Commissioner Wallace Ballwin says it will cost in the neighborhood of $2,500 to put the fish ladder at Oregon City in shape.

The Salvation Army has not been very successful in reforming Portland. In fact, it would seem that the rank and file of that regiment were only additions to the already overcrowded ranks of deadbeats and toughs.

The suit between the stockholders of the Oswego Iron Works has been decided in favor of the right of the old board of directors to manage the affairs of the company.

The excitement in Great Britain over the Irish Home Rule question has recently grown more intense than for some months past.

President Cleveland has announced his intention of taking hold of the tariff question and telling his party that it must take some advanced positions on the subject.

The Portland Evening Telegram says of the case W. W. Saunders, under sentence of death for the murder of Chas. Campbell which will come before the supreme court on the 9th of December: "The man, through a multitude of lawyers, is making a desperate fight for his life, and the public is looking on curious if not anxious, to know the opinion of the highest tribunal of the state as to whether the deed of Saunders does or not constitute the crime of murder."

The Salem Statesman devotes nearly a column of its editorial space to some sensible remarks upon the value of advertising, and concludes by saying: "Not the business community alone, but the general public as well, forms its opinion of the standing and prospects of a firm, by its methods of advertising. Nothing is more natural than for a stranger, coming for the first time into the city, to look over the advertising columns of the leading newspaper. If he sees an attractive and well arranged advertisement occupying a good space, he concludes that the firm to which it belongs is one of the leading ones of the city and that it is a safe one with which to have dealings. Such first impressions are usually lasting, and they are seldom wrong."

It is clear that there will be a contention in the Democratic ranks in the House at once on the tariff. The Administration will recommend the Hewitt bill, both in the President's message and in Secretary Manning's report. To this bill Morrison is undoubtedly opposed, unless he can add to it his neutralizing amendment. He has already, since the election, announced his opposition to the Hewitt bill. Morrison charges that the bill will increase the tariff on some articles. The attempt on the part of the Government to pass this bill without the Morrison attachment will precipitate the first Democratic fight of the session. It will be interesting to spectators, for the reason that it will be the last appearance of Colonel Morrison and Mr. Hewitt in the political arena for at least two years. Both are heavily coated with war paint. Morrison declares Hewitt was largely instrumental in defeating him. Hewitt avers that Morrison's bull-headed obstinacy on the tariff may defeat the Democratic party in 1888. In this fight the administration will support Hewitt for two reasons. First, the treasury department would be blind, indeed, if it had not discovered Morrison's incapacity to deal with the tariff long ago. Secondly, the so called Hewitt administrative bill was almost wholly prepared by the treasury department experts, and it is, in fact, the department bill. Hewitt's refusal to resign until January is the result of his determination to try and pass the bill. Unless all signs are misleading, Morrison will oppose Mr. Hewitt, and this will also put him in the attitude of opposing the Administration.

NOTES AND NEWS.

The Golden chariot French doctors bilked Portland to the tune of $28,000.

A judgment has been given the Soldiers' National home against Old Spoon Butler for $16,537.

The Western Union Telegraph company is engaged in stretching another wire from Seattle to Portland. The business is so large that it cannot be handled by two wires.

Four prisoners in the Multnomah county jail attempted to escape Friday. They had nearly succeeded in cutting their way out, when they were detected and locked up in an iron cage for safe keeping.

Portland News: The rainfall here during November was less than ever before known in the history of Portland. The precipitation was only one inch. Previous to last month, the lowest fall was in November, 1871, amounting to 2.47 inches. The highest was in November, 1875, 15.77 inches.

The Portland News promises that in about thirty days it will furnish the most complete telegraphic report ever published on Pacific Northwest, and says: "The days of associated press and the western union telegraph monopoly are speedily drawing to a close in this country, thanks to John Mackay and the postal telegraph. The new year will be a good time to celebrate the event."

The search for and seizure of contraband opium has become an object of considerable activity on this coast. Recently in San Francisco a steamer was fitted up and sent out to meet an incoming steamer and search it for this contraband article that has been so successfully eluding revenue duties.

TELEGRAPHIC.

NOGALES, Dec. 5.—Six Mexican editors have been arrested and imprisoned by the Governor of Sonora, for publishing articles hostile to this government.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 5.—The secretary of state finished the count of the official vote last night except Sacramento county. The returns including the vote as counted by supervisors, gives Bartlett 85,004, Swift 84,439. Bartlett's plurality 565.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—The American ship R. D. Rice left port this morning in tow of tugs for the Delaware breakwater, bound for Hiogo, Japan. She had on board 800,000 gallons of refined petroleum in 80,000 cases. She has a draught of twenty-seven feet, and is one of the most deeply laden vessels that ever left this port. It is expected that it will take three days to get her to sea, a number of anchorages being necessary in order to get over shoals at exactly high water.

RICHMOND, VA., Dec. 5.—Richmond is building a city hall of granite, which will cost probably $1,000,000. Skilled mechanics of the colored race have so far been unable to get work on the building and on a formal application for it before the building committee of the city council the committee decided adversely to colored mechanics, thus drawing the color line, which at election times the bourgeois so deeply deplore. The colored here represent two-fifths of the population, and many of them are skilled at various trades, and save for the colored vote the present council would have failed of election.

LINCOLN, ILL., Dec. 5.—A Deputy United States Marshal was here to-day subpoenaing witnesses to appear at Springfield against V. N. Hinkle, Postmaster at Burtonview, this (Logan) county, who is charged with violating the postal laws in regard to the sale of stamps. Hinkle, who is also telephone agent in this town, in settling with the agent here sent a part of his remittance in stamps, and the agent tried to sell them to the postoffice here. When the Lincoln postmaster learned where they came from he at once reported Hinkle. The case will prove of great interest to all country postmasters who are in the habit of paying small bills with stamps, thus increasing the revenue of their office.

OREGON'S EXACT BOUNDARIES.

Perhaps but very few people know the exact boundaries of Oregon. They are annexed as found in the state constitution. Beginning one marine league at sea, due west from the point where the forty-second parallel of north latitude intersects the same; thence northerly at the same distance form the line of the coast lying west and opposite the state, including all islands within the jurisdiction of the United States, to a point due west and opposite the middle of the north ship channel of the Columbia river; thence easterly, to and up the middle channel said river, and when it is divided by islands, up the middle of the widest channel thereof, to a point near Fort Walla Walla where the forty-sixth parallel of north latitude crosses said river; thence east on said parallel to the middle of the main channel of the Shoshone or Snake river; thence up the middle of the main channel of said river to the mouth of the Owyhee river; thence due south to the parallel of latitude forty-two degrees north; thence west along said parallel to the place of beginning.
