

WEST SIDE TELEPHONE.

McMINNVILLE, TUESDAY, JAN. 4, 1887.

It is certainly a most unfortunate condition of affairs when the right of statehood is to be made to depend upon the political complexion of the voters. It was certainly something never intended by the founders of the American government. The idea of excluding people from all the privileges of American citizenship, on account of the political views is an anomaly, but it seems almost idle to protest against it. Even a thoroughly respectable journal like the New Orleans Times-Democrat, which reflects the best sentiments of its party, accedes to partisan pressure on the subject, and can see no other way than to admit territories by pairs. It says: "As for these four territories mentioned, they will by 1888 be all fully entitled to statehood. At the present rate of progress and increase of population Dakota will have 500,000 people; Washington, 250,000; New Mexico, 160,000, and Montana 120,000, all more than the state of Nevada, and all but one ahead of Delaware. As two of these territories are democratic and two republican, it will make no difference in the standing of the two parties in the senate, and the bill will not, therefore, arouse much political feeling."

The Vienna correspondent of the New York Telegraph says: The prospect for the next twelve months is lively enough. The year just beginning may well see the collapse of one, at least, of the great powers, and of one or two minor states. The elements of disintegration are not confined to Turkey, and it is a mistake to suppose that in case of war Bulgaria is the only small country whose existence would be imperiled. In Vienna there is considerable anxiety for the immediate future. Everybody says the new year opens under unpleasant auspices. A somewhat reassuring item of intelligence comes, however, from Cracow. Dzienik Polski hears from St. Petersburg that during a recent ministerial council the czar declared he would have no war, and actually shook his fist at one of the ministers who had manifested bellicose views. I am inclined to believe there is some foundation for this story. The czar has lately told different members of his entourage he wished to avoid war. The aspect of affairs on the Austro-Russia frontier is threatening enough, but it is a good deal worse on the borders of France and Germany.

The papers in the east are now discussing industrial education in the public schools in a way which shows that they have a conscientious interest in what they advocate. It has taken the country a long time to realize the necessity of public industrial training, but we think the necessity of this kind of education is now well and universally understood. Careful elementary training in mechanical and manual occupations has been neglected to the detriment of the average character of the work now done in carpentry and like employments. Book education by itself is not sufficient to insure the average graduate of our public schools a living. Practice and theory must walk hand in hand to obtain the best results, and the adoption of industrial courses in the public schools will bring this about.

A Washington correspondent says that there was a hitch in the proposed marriage between Miss Mitchell, the daughter of the Oregon senator, and the Duke of Rochefoucauld, who met her in Paris and was deeply smitten by her charms. It seems that the duke demanded a larger settlement upon the bride than the senator could afford to give, and therefore the engagement was broken. Rochefoucauld is French for Reacherif-hecould.

Saturday over 15,000 people viewed Senator Logan's remains in the rotunda of the capitol up to midnight. The crowd passed slowly and respectfully, and much sorrow was manifested. The crowd was conspicuous for the old soldiers it contained. Hundreds made no effort at concealing their grief, and many passed their old commander with tears streaming down their cheeks.

We are in receipt of the New Year's number of the Salem Statesman. It is a 14-page edition, accompanied by a beautiful lithograph of the new free bridge across the Willamette at Salem. It is indeed a commendable stroke of enterprise on the part of its managers, who are energetic newspaper men and deserving of the liberal patronage they are enjoying.

No steps have yet been taken towards selecting a final resting place for the remains of Senator Logan. On New Year's day some of Mrs. Logan's friends from Chicago called upon her, and it was decided to let the matter rest for the present. It is not probable the body will be removed from the present resting place before spring.

Calling attention to the fact that twelve eighty ton guns were on the way from England to Victoria, B. C., the New York Herald says that if all the large guns possessed by this government were mounted in San Francisco they would not protect that city against even one of the twelve eighty ton guns.

NOTES AND NEWS.

Col. T. S. Lang, who has been editor of the Wasco Sun for several years, has retired from that journal. The Colonel is one of the ablest journalists in the northwest.

Addison E. Gibbs, second governor of Oregon, died in London, Thursday, December 30, 1886. Ex-Governor Gibbs has been in London about two years. His family reside in Portland. Nothing beyond the mere announcement of his death has been received.

During December 2,650 passengers have arrived in this city, via the Northern Pacific and Oregon Short Line railroads, and by steamer from San Francisco, as compared with 2,705 for November, 3,244 for October, 3,087 for September, 4,512 for August, 3,100 for July, 3,383 for June, 4,709 for May, 4,743 for April, 4,839 for March, 1,873 for February, and 1,797 for January; a total of 40,692 for the year.—News.

A representative of the United Press interviewed Secretary Lamar the other day as to his coming marriage. Lamar said: "You are at liberty to announce that there exists an engagement between Mrs. Holt and myself, but I cannot say when the marriage will take place; it may be in the spring or during the winter." No definite date having been named for Lamar's return to Washington lends point to the supposition that the marriage will take place within a few days.

TELEGRAPHIC.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—The machinists assemblies of this city to-night voted to surrender their Knights of Labor charters and leave the order, owing to the refusal of the Executive board, Knights of Labor, to grant them a national trades charter.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The usual annual count of $40,000,000 worth of internal revenue stamps was commenced at the treasury department to-day. About fifty employees are at work on the job, and if they are diligent will finish their task in a week or two.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—A secret circular has been issued by the two assemblies of the Knights of Labor of this city boycotting the meats of Armour & Co. The circular was made public to-day. It charges Armour with all the trouble at the stock yard, and urges the workmen to boycott his goods.

SAN JOSE, Jan. 1.—Mrs. E. Saffers threw her 6-month-old baby from a window of the Russ house yesterday. It struck an awning and then fell eighteen feet to the sidewalk, receiving fatal injuries. She has not been regarded as sane for some time past, and will be placed in a private asylum.

GRASS VALLEY, CAL., Jan. 1.—On Tuesday afternoon Thos. Ingram fell down a shaft in the Empire mine, while repairing the bell ropes on the 600-foot level. He fell twenty feet, but had presence of mind enough to catch the ladder and thus saved himself from a horrible death. He escaped with a few severe bruises.

SANDWICH, MASS., Jan. 2.—During the absence of the manager of the Sandwich glass works yesterday, the members of the glass worker's union employed there struck because James Black, a workman, was docked one hour's pay. The cutters also struck. The men left the pots full of glass. The works are almost the sole employment of the town, and the weekly pay roll is $2,500.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—Frank Hayman, a house mover, was brought to the receiving hospital at 1 o'clock this morning. He had been struck in the right temple by a sharp instrument and an artery was severed. He stated he was walking along Mission street, near Tenth when he was attacked by two unknown men. It is supposed he was attacked by garroters for the purpose of robbery.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 1.—The report of the grand jury to-day censures the city administration of justice, and condemns the condition of the streets and sewers and school houses. An increase is recommended in the police department, which is efficient, but not large enough for the needs of the city. The management of the departments of public instructions, except the industrial school is commended.

CHICAGO, Jan. 1.—Colonel W. H. Bolton, ex-superintendent of the second class mail matter in the Chicago post-office, recently indicted for embezzlement, yesterday pleaded guilty of withholding $12,000 from the government. Counsel cited Colonel Bolton's honorable war record and the fact that he had turned over all his property to the government, which was equal to about the amount of the embezzlement. The court said it would defer sentence.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—A very bold robbery was perpetrated at the residence of Don Domingo Gand, the Chilean minister, last night. The burglar was F. B. Silva, a Brazilian, who had formerly been employed in the household. About a month ago Silva was discharged, on suspicion of his dishonesty. He went to New York, but returned last night, and entered the home of his former employer, and stole a large sum of money, $7,000 worth of jewelry and other valuables. The thief was arrested this morning while boarding a train for New York. The valuables were recovered.

On Saturday the two hundred foot span of the Oregon Pacific drawbridge at Albany was successfully swung into position and was found to work admirably. Two men were able to turn the draw in six minutes.

Thos. Sullivan, who celebrated Christmas at Rainier by killing Merrill Blanchard, has been examined before a justice of the peace at St. Helens and bound over to wait the grand jury without bonds. As there is no jail in Columbia county, Sullivan will be confined in the jail of Multnomah county, until the next term of court. The prisoner refuses to make any explanation in regard to the killing.

A special from Washington says: There is talk of malpractice in Gen. Logan's case, and the dead senator's friends say that he was killed by overdoses of acetone. It is known that he protested warmly against the use of narcotics in his treatment, and it is equally well known, on the other hand, that his physicians declared he could not be cured without them. Now that the matter has been made public it is likely to lead to a awful row among physicians, quite a number of whom share the opinion of Gen. Logan's friends upon the subject.
