McMINNVILLE, FRIDAY, JAN. 7, 1887.

SOUTH CAROLINA AND THE COLORED KNIGHTS.

The state of South Carolina has enacted a law forbidding colored men to become Knights of Labor, and has appropriated $100,000 to increase the armament of the state militia.

The rapid progress of the order of Knights of Labor among the colored workmen to whose labor is due nearly all the wealth of the south, has been viewed with great alarm.

South Carolina undertakes to stay the rising tide by measure as tyrannical and wicked in principle as slavery ever was.

If the order of Knights of Labor has a mission anywhere, it is in the south. It can help the working people of that section to gain at once their industrial and their political freedom.

There are grave fears entertained in England that the queen may not live the new year out. The World's London special says: The queen is breaking very rapidly, and is conscious her life cannot be spared many years longer.

The Hub city is determined to keep ahead of the world. The following paper has been circulated and signed by the ladies: "In view of the fact that the stage is partially, and oftentimes almost totally, concealed by the bonnets and hats of the present mode, we, the undersigned, at the request of the directors of the National Opera company, have consented to wear at the evening performances of the opera company in this city neither bonnets nor hats."

Waterson of the Louisville Courier Journal would have the democratic party of this great country blazon upon all its campaign banners, "Give us free trade, or give us death!"

A story is going the rounds to the effects that the promoters of an American charity wrote to Mr. Gladstone asking him to subscribe something. The grand old man wrote a courteous declination to come down.

The latest excuse for shooting a man is that of Gardner a San Francisco murderer. It is claimed Gardner had the toothache when he fired the fatal shot and was out of his head.

A young woman called at a shooting gallery in Chicago the other day, and after firing fifteen shots at a target it was found that she had shot her initials on the target.

There was a formal opening of the Albany bridge by the Oregon Pacific railroad yesterday afternoon at 12:30. This makes the second bridge completed across the Willamette within the space of thirty days.

NOTES AND NEWS.

Wm. M. Stewart has been elected U. S. senator from Nevada.

The decrease in the public debt for December was $9,400,000.

Secretary Lamar was married to Mrs. Holt, of Macon, Ga., last Wednesday.

Dr. Horatio Potter, Episcopal bishop of New York, died last Wednesday at the age of 84. He had been suffering three years from pneumonia.

Lieutenant Frederick Schwatka, of Arctic fame, will lead a snowshoe expedition, organized by the New York World, for the midwinter exploration of the Yellowstone National Park.

The United Labor members of the Illinois legislature, in common with other legislators now preparing to leave for Springfield, were most of them in receipt of free passes from railroad companies to and from Chicago and the state capital.

The British steamer Cranbrook, which left Newport, England November 30th, for New York, is believed by her agent in New York to have been lost with all on board during the great December gales.

The Salem Statesman denies that the bridge there is too low to allow steamers to pass under it. The bridge is nearly seventy-six feet above low water and there is not a boat on the upper Willamette whose highest fixed pieces are over thirty-eight feet above the water.

THE "KEADY LAW."

It seems that the "Keady liquor law" is to be a source of never ending litigation.

The bill for the law was first introduced in the house, it will be remembered when it read, section 1, "that no person shall be permitted to sell spirituous, malt, or vinous liquor in this state in quantities less than one gallon, without having first obtained a license from the county court of the proper county for that purpose."

It is further claimed, that the clerk of the senate then sent a message to the house, informing that body, that the bill had been amended so as to read "in quantities less than one gallon."

The law is now before the supreme court, in a case appealed from Astoria, and should the supreme court not concur in the decision of the lower court, then Oregon would be plainly without a law regulating the liquor trade.

The matter is worthy the consideration of your legislators, and they should fully understand the matter, and in case the above alleged facts are substantiated, they should make their first duty, the rectifying of this—another mistake."

The secretary of state has a dispatch from President Runt, United States Consul General at Berlin, setting forth annoyances to which United States citizens visiting Europe, especially Germany, subject themselves by neglecting to procure passports before leaving this country.

Ladies are not exempted. Immediately after the arrival of a stranger the police authorities demand the production of a passport, and if he is not provided with one he must either procure one at the nearest United States legation or submit to annoyance if not a peremptory order to leave.
