

WEST SIDE TELEPHONE.

McMINNVILLE, FRIDAY, JAN. 21, 1887.

There is some suggestion of buying Gov. Moody's handsome residence as a gubernatorial mansion. It is a shame that impecunious Oregon governors have to sleep on a French bedstead behind a curtain in the executive office. Secure the mansion by all means.

Watts introduced in the senate a license law Tuesday to supplant the defunct Keady law. It places the license at first $500 and requires the applicants to file an affidavit not to violate any of the provisions of the law, violation and conviction of which will incur the penalty of perjury. There is little doubt of its passage. The license fee may be cut down though.

Senator Wagner, of Umatilla county, has introduced a bill in the senate to regulate freight charges. The bill especially applies to eastern Oregon. It provides a maximum rate per mile and will make a reduction of about one-third. It has particular application to the O. R. & N. Co. This bill should become a law by all means. Eastern Oregon people have been burdened by heavy freight long enough.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature to chop off three miles from Columbia county and tack it on to Clatsop, thus taking in the fine farming land along the Nehalem valley. Columbia county very justly objects, because of the road and school improvements made by that county and pronounces it a land grab of the greatest magnitude. Ranchers are just getting patents, enabling them to pay taxes, when Clatsop reaches for the prize.

The greatest fool of the age is a girl in Chicago, who wants to marry Spies, the condemned Chicago anarchist. But Sheriff Matson declares he will not permit the marriage to occur, so long as Spies remains in jail, under his charge. The sheriff expresses surprise that the parents of the girl should allow her to visit a condemned criminal. When Miss Van Zandt appeared at the jail, the other morning, she was refused admittance by the guards, as orders had been issued to allow no one to see the anarchists.

It seems that the democratic administration will have democratic postmasters or no postoffices. At Burton View, in Logan county, Illinois, Mr. V. N. Hinkle has been postmaster for some time, and a short time ago was arrested and taken to Springfield on a trumped-up charge, and was promptly discharged. A democrat was hunted up to take the office, and the only person of that persuasion was a woman, who, on being appointed, declined, and now the office is to be abolished, and the people of that vicinity will have to go seven miles to Lincoln to get their mail.

Some of the evils resulting from strikes are being exemplified in New York, as will be seen elsewhere among the dispatches. It is not the strikers alone who are thrown out of employment by their froward actions. If this was the case there would be far fewer strikes. In this instance hundreds of men, in no way connected with the strikers, but whose employment depends upon a supply of coal to run the machinery of the various establishments where they are employed, and which supply is not to be had on account of the strike among the coal handlers, are thrown out of work, while their children cry for bread. Truly, evil begets evil.

Freeman's (Roman Catholic) Journal, of New York, in reference to Henry George and his newspaper broadside against Catholic churches, says: "With one stroke of the pen George dissolved his hosts, and has given the working-men of New York their choice between God and church, and him and his theories. His attacks on the church and the Archbishop are the ravings of a narrow-minded, dissipated man. George's zeal for the people turns out to be an immoderate zeal for George. But the method in his madness is unfortunate for him, for as a political leader he is now dead, and as a political economist he is dying. His strength in the latter position lies in the fact that it takes a long time to find out what he means."

Gray, of Clatsop county, is bound to take the legislature on a picnic excursion. Wednesday, his Astoria excursion resolution passed the senate but the house thought the weather was not congenial, and returned it to the senate with its disapproval. Gray had it referred to the senate commerce committee, and when it comes up again he proposes to have The Dalles included in the excursion. He will make another desperate effort to convince the house and senate that a committee of thirteen is necessary to investigate the fishing industry and the pilot schooner, Gov. Moody. This is such delightful weather for picnic excursions, we should think the house would fall right into the scheme. The whole legislature ought to adjourn for three or four days and go. Come around by McMinnville when you return, and see the natural advantages we have over any other town in the county for the county seat, and then give us a vote on it next June.

NOTES AND NEWS.

George Hurst has been elected U. S. senator from California.

Savoy, Texas, is all agog over the discovery of an underground lake that may be reached twelve or fifteen feet from the surface of the ground. The water is pure and good, and affords the most valuable basis for factory purposes.

Maxwell, the murderer of Preller, still lingers unhung, though the public has almost forgotten his atrocious crime. If he does not die of old age in the meantime the sentence pronounced against him will probably be executed sometime during the present century.

Great activity is still manifested in the war department at London. A feeling prevails in all departments that an European war is inevitable and the crash will come when least expected. Military circles in France, Italy, Austria, Germany and Russia, still continue active.

The San Francisco chamber of commerce has passed a resolution recommending the legislature to promptly pass an amendment to the penal code to make it a death penalty for every attempt to destroy life by dynamite and other explosives, whether successful or not.

Mrs. Henry Winn, of Oak Grove, Ill., died Wednesday night after fasting for forty-seven days. She was afflicted with a bowel complaint, and has taken neither food nor drink in the above time. When the fast began she weighed 300 pounds, and at her death she was reduced to a mere skeleton.

Four prisoners escaped from the county jail in Portland last Tuesday. They made their escape by digging through the rotten mortar and bricks that composed the outside wall of the jail. The escaped prisoners must be a pretty tough set if one can judge from the crimes for which they were waiting trial.

An attempt was made Monday night to wreck the east bound train on the Atlantic & Pacific railway by putting spikes on the rails near San Jose, a small station ninety miles from Albuquerque, N. M. The express was three hours late and a freight train ran ahead and struck the rail. The engine was turned completely over, but the fireman and engineer escaped.

About 10 o'clock Wednesday morning J. N. Berry, a saloon-keeper at Flagstaff, Arizona, was shot and killed by Hames. The Hames brothers were quarreling with a man in the saloon, and Berry interfered. Half an hour after the murder the citizens took the two brothers and shot them to death. Berry was a quiet peaceable man. The Hames brothers were known to be desperate characters, and have been involved in many robberies and shooting scrapes.

The New York Star's London special of January 14 says: Inquiries at Downing street to-night elicited the information that the government has no confirmation of the reported Russian seizure of Afghanistan territory. The reports are utterly discredited. At the same time it was admitted that extended defensive preparations were going on in India. Military operations in the northwest is only a question of a few months, more or less.

Congressman Hermann has introduced an amendment to the constitution of the United States, requiring that the senate shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the people thereof. In the meantime the Oregon legislature is considering the question of requesting our representatives at Washington to use all honorable means towards an amendment to the constitution of the United States that will authorize the election of United States senators by the direct vote of the people.

Captain Hubbard, of the steamer Planter, plying between Charleston and Georgetown, S. C., states that the beach for thirty miles between Polly's Island and Little River, in South Carolina, is covered to a depth of over a foot with dead fish, mostly menhaden or porgies. The phenomenon was first discovered last week. The fish could hardly have been killed by the cold, as the cold wave did not reach that state until Tuesday of this week. It is thought that they have been killed by some volcanic disturbance at sea. The inhabitants for miles in the interior are hiring and building boats and vehicles, and are hauling the dead fish to their farms to be used for fertilizing purposes.

On Friday evening, a man named Peter Grunderson was shot and instantly killed by a 15-year old girl, Emma Freshkorn, at Manhattan, Clatsop county. Grunderson had been boarding with the Freshkorn family, and was a suitor for the hand of Minnie Freshkorn. The girl rejected him and the next day he drove the parents of the girls from the house, while the latter were away at a dance. The parents went and got the girls, and returned to the house, where Grunderson was in company with one Julius Oodley, who was a suitor for the hand of the younger girl. When the Freshkorns entered the house, Grunderson and Oodley started toward them, the former with a knife and the latter with a pistol. The younger girl had a shotgun, and she and Oodley fired at each other at the same time. Both missed, and the girl fired again at Grunderson, striking him in the head and killing him instantly. Oodley was arrested and will probably be indicted. So far the girl has not been troubled by officers.

TELEGRAPHIC.

OAKDALE, Cal., Jan. 18.—A fire broke out at 12 o'clock last night on the east side of the railroad opposite the depot, destroying Parson's restaurant, Rutherford & Adie's saloon, Reeder's restaurant, Momoe's saloon, and Kernmayer's hotel; loss, $20,000; half insured. The cause of the fire is unknown.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 18.—The six rounds contest between Cardiff and Sullivan to-night resulted in a draw. It is claimed that Sullivan broke his wrist in the first round, and during the five other rounds but little sparring and shuffling was done by either of them. The crowd of 7,000 spectators were disgusted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The bills granting pensions to Mrs. Logan and Mrs. Blair were defeated this morning in the house by the committee on invalid pensions. When the committee met the members were arrayed in party lines, seven democrats voting against, and five republicans in favor of the bills.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 18.—This afternoon William Elle, a cabinet maker, entered the kitchen where his wife was engaged in preparing dinner, and seizing a butcher knife stabbed her several times in the breast. Elle then attempted to cut his own throat, but did not inflict a fatal wound. He was removed to the hospital. It is thought he is insane.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The trial of ex-Alderman John O'Neil, the next "boodler" on the list of the district attorney, will probably create more of a sensation than its predecessors. He is going to set up the defense that he never was an alderman of the city. His counsel will demur to the indictment, basing their argument on the assumption that the entire board of which the members held office was in direct violation of the provisions of the constitution.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The scarcity of coal, on account of the strike of the coal handlers, causes increased interruption to business and hardship to the poor. Havenmeyer & Elders large sugar refinery has shut down, being unable to get coal to carry on the business. Eight hundred men are thrown out. The Palmer cooperage was also compelled to close, throwing out 600 men. A large number of other establishments will succumb unless the blockade is speedily raised. Coal at retail sells from $7 to $9 per ton in the city coal yards, and the supply is rapidly diminishing. The situation of the strike does not seem to have materially changed.
