'FUN ON THE BRISTOL.'—Next Thursday evening at Garrison's opera house will appear the celebrated musical play 'Fun on the Bristol.' This play is probably one of the most laugh provoking pieces that has ever been placed on the stage. The two popular comedians Jas. T. Kelly and Harry Brown are with the company. Mr. Brown is recognized everywhere, as one of the best comedians of the American stage, while Jas. T. Kelly, is the original 'Widow O'Brien.' The play was written especially for Mr. Kelly, and his personation of 'Widow O'Brien' was the first and best that has ever appeared. The company has been performing at the Casino, in Portland, and has met with unprecedented success in that city. The trip through the valley is made more as an experiment than as a money-making scheme. It is the intention of the manager of the Casino to make trips once each month through the valley towns, if this, the first attempt, proves successful. The same company has been engaged permanently at the Casino, and will appear through the valley in different pieces. The price of admission has been placed at 75 and 50 cents; seats on sale at Rogers & Todd's city drug store. Let us give them a good house, and we shall not want for amusements throughout the coming summer. Those who have witnessed the performance of this play will not miss a chance to see it again, and those who have never had an opportunity, and who enjoy a good laugh should be present at the opera house next Thursday night.

EVIDENCES OF SPRING.—The beautiful weather yesterday tempted many forth for a stroll or drive. Those who ramble out on the hills found a few blossoms of the 'wake robin,' the earliest wild flower to bloom in this section. Snow still lingers low down along the distant cascades, and gives the air a chilly feeling, notwithstanding that the vernal equinox is here and the sun beginning to assert his power. The gardens around town show bits of color here and there. Crocus, daffodils, daisies, hyacinths, wall flowers and primroses, are about the only flowers in blossom as yet. But vegetation is pushing forward rapidly. Lilacs, honeysuckles and other shrubs are putting forth leaves. An almond tree on Hall street is covered with snow blossoms; the peach and cherry trees are beginning to unfold their blossoms, and fruit trees generally are beginning to bear. We may expect soon to hear the annual howl about fruit prospects brightened by some untimely frost which nipped the too early buds, but as usual there will be plenty to throw at the birds and plenty to go to waste in the orchards. The little 'cherry nippers,' which bite off the blossoms by the thousands just out of pure cussedness, will also get their usual share of abuse, but no one will go short on cherries, all the same.—Oregonian.

IMMIGRATION MATTERS.—At a meeting of the board of trade committee on immigration, held by appointment at the office of Hon. J. E. Magers last Saturday evening, says the Reporter, it was decided to print a few thousand leaflets descriptive of Yamhill county, for use on trains and where they would do the most good, written up in a truthful style, as a means of making known the varied resources of this section of Oregon, and as an aid to immigration. It is very certain that the only proper course to pursue will be that mapped out by this committee. For two years Oregon has been liberally and judiciously advertised abroad, and that the $10,000 of public money thus expended has been wisely distributed we have not a doubt, as it is asserted beyond the peradventure of successful contradiction that not less than 50,000 people will come to Oregon this year with sufficient means to locate. It is for the purpose of securing to Yamhill county a per cent of this immigration that the committee ask the co-operation of the citizens of Yamhill county; not from any particular location but from all portions of the county.

RUNAWAY.—Dr. E. E. Goucher and father met with quite a serious runaway accident last Sunday out near Dave Stout's place about two miles from this city. They were returning from a professional visit, when their team became frightened at some calves which were yoked together in the road, and became unmanageable. The team went tearing down the road, upsetting the buggy, and pitching the doctors out. Fortunately neither of the gentlemen were seriously hurt. The buggy was utterly demolished. The elder Dr. Goucher says the last time he went out with his son they were smashed up in a runaway and it was only at his son's earnest solicitations that he was induced to go this time. Now he thinks it will be a long time before he rides behind the same team with him again.

GOOD FOR A YAMHILL BOY.—The supreme court recently decided the case of Baldock vs. Johnson, in favor of the plaintiff. This was a test case, and involved about $20,000 worth of property, and was brought up in Union county. The court below gave a decree for defendant, but it was appealed to the supreme court with the result above stated. Glenn O. Holman, son of D. S. Holman for the plaintiff and carried the case through so successfully. He was assisted in the supreme court by Messrs. Ramsey & Binham. We understand Glenn had a contingent fee of one half. We are glad to hear of 'our' boys abroad succeeding so well, and hope they will receive the rewards they justly deserve.

HERE'S A CHANCE.—We have for sale a small place adjoining town containing a little more than an acre of ground; a good two-story house and barn; well set with small fruit trees; good well, etc. We will sell this place at a bargain.

OUR ASSISTANTS. Webfoot. March 19, 1887. Prof. Frank's singing school closed last Tuesday evening. M. R. Whitlow is stopping with friends here at present. Mrs. B. F. Clabine, formerly of this county, but now of W. T. is visiting friends here.

Indications are that a great deal of building will be done in this vicinity the coming summer. Much road work is being done in this district at present, and indeed it was sadly needed in many places. Mr. J. A. Carey had his foot badly crushed under a dirt car wheel a few days ago but is getting around all right again.

The Sunday school here is preparing for an Easter concert. A full Easter service will be rendered and every effort is being made to make it interesting and successful. We cannot obtain any of the particulars of the accident which befell young Me. Scott. That he was badly crushed under a falling tree and that two physicians were summoned from McMinnville is the most that can be understood. It is no doubt a sad calamity and he with his aged parents have the sympathy of the community.

There has been quite an exciting war of words going on in our neighborhood ever since a school meeting, all on the question of dividing the school district. Ideas (?) were exchanged and arguments brought forth without labor, and maps were laid and a petition circulated and a remonstrance followed and little speeches were made and little promises given; and it all ended in a disappointed return to divide a partitioned, where it all parties settled back without a murmur, yet everything going on in the old way as though there never had been a disturbing ripple.

GAME LAW UNCHANGED.—There seems to be an impression abroad that the last legislature amended or repealed the game law. Such, however, is not the case. A bill to repeal the act protecting the Mongolian pheasants passed the senate and another bill allowing deer to be hunted with hounds and otherwise amending the game law passed the house, but neither of them passed both houses, and neither became a law. It is said the great anxiety evinced in some quarters to destroy the pheasants arose from an idea that their skins would sell well to milliners for ornamenting ladies' hats. A full grown pheasant would make a fine large ornament, and it pertained to the crown of one of the tall hats now fashionable would give the wearer a decided pre-eminence over less fortunate people who could only afford a duck or a bobtailed rooster.—Statesman.

From Tennessee. JOHNSON CITY, March 7, 1887. Week after week since I left McMinnville, the TELEPHONE has been a welcome visitor, coming with newsy breezes from my dear home; and every week I have thought I would write a letter to the TELEPHONE, telling of my long trip from Oregon to Tennessee, but have found my time taken up and just not written.

Well, we left McMinnville on the 2nd of November, and reached Portland at 9 o'clock a. m., left Portland at 3 p. m. over the O. R. & N. and N. P. R. R. (for which road, my father is southern traveling agent) for St. Paul, from St. Paul over the Chicago Rock Island to Chicago, which place we reached at 2 p. m. on Sunday, where we met Judge Boise and wife, en route for Philadelphia, spent Monday in Chicago, which was a remarkable day in that city's calendar, owing to the fact that on that day there were 20,000 men on a strike in the stock yards. We left Chicago on Monday night over the Ill. Cen. & Kankakee line for Cincinnati where we arrived at 6 a. m. and left at 3:30 over the Louisville and Nashville road to Louisville, Ky., and then, over the Knoxville and Ohio road for Knoxville, Tennessee, where we arrived at 8 a. m., November 10. Then took the 3:30 train for Johnson city, our destination, over the E. T. Va. & Ga. R. R. arrived at Johnson city at 7:30 p. m., where I found a warm and tender welcome awaiting me, in the family of my uncle, R. S. Patty, whose name is well and favorably known, a prominent K. K. man.

For five weeks after I came to East Tennessee I remained at my uncle's and enjoyed the hospitable kindness of those who are not only endeared to me by kindred ties, but doubly dear because of their loving kindness to one young in years and the world's experience, who being a "stranger in a strange land" would naturally feel a little homesick; after all, has it not been truly said, "There is no place like home." Had I the power to portray vividly to you, the scenery which lay about a portion of our route, you would feel, I think, as if nature had done her holiday attire and spread out her choicest gems to win the love and admiration of every passing stranger, and to gladden the heart of every way-worn traveler. But as my descriptive powers will fall far short of my imagination, I will not attempt to describe what you would have to see to appreciate, but I must tell you of a little snow storm we had here on the 3rd of December. Imagine snow 40 inches deep, and it really was, by actual measurement 40 inches on a level. I think I saw enough of the "beautiful snow" for once. The oldest inhabitants here had never seen as deep snow.

Well, after five weeks of pleasant companionship with my relatives and new friends, I went to Midway, Tennessee, visited my mother's former home, on Nola-clucky river; spent a few days very pleasantly, then to Parrottsville, for a few days, still among relatives; then to Asheville, North Carolina to visit my uncle and aunt's family, Capt. J. M. Gunder, and wife; spent new year in the lively little city of Asheville, where I found the atmosphere quite cool, which would have been very cool but for the actual living presence of the genial Bill Nye in the city, which of course somewhat counteracts the effect of the 10 degrees below zero indicated by the thermometer. But as the famous Bill Nye was a guest at Battery Park hotel, I suppose he kept the house in a pleasant state of warmth. Col. Jesse Grant, (son of the late president, U. S. Grant) and wife were also guests at Battery Park.

Asheville is a charming town, high up among the mountains, yet is quite a resort for northerners in winters, and southerners in summer, celebrated for the kindness and hospitality of its people and for its salubrious climate, and grandly beautiful scenery, surrounding the city. Left Asheville January 5, for Parrottsville, Tennessee, where I spent several weeks, before returning to Johnson City, I also visited Greenville, Tennessee, the home of my great-grandmother, as also the former home of the illustrious Andrew Johnson, whose name, life, and death, is known to the American people in general, and whose monument points out his last resting place, to all who may visit the town. I returned to Johnson City, February 12, left on the 14, for a visit of a few days, to a friend at Piney Flats, a station nine miles above Johnson City. Am now at Johnson City again, at my uncle's, my Tennessee home, but will leave for Knoxville soon for a visit of a week or two, then to Asheville, after which I will return to Johnson City for a short time, before bidding farewell to Tennessee. I am 3,500 miles from my home, and feel as if I have seen many new and strange things, since I left Oregon; have seen many different phases of human nature; and felt sometimes as if I had really reached Africa, when I would see a number of the dusky tribe. There are quite a large number of negroes all over the southern states, through which we passed, and as I had never seen but one negro before I left Oregon, of course I felt like I had reached Africa, or some other such place. Although my home in Oregon, will ever be to me, the dearest spot on earth, yet memory will often dwell with fondness on the happy days I have spent among my loved relatives and friends, east of the Rockies. And should you ever visit Tennessee and North Carolina I bespeak for you a welcome from my kindred and friends. I fear I have long since overstepped the limits of your time and patience, by this long letter, but hope you will pardon me this time, and if I should ever attempt a second letter to an editor I will try and make it pleasantly brief. With best wishes for the success and prosperity of the TELEPHONE, I am, Respectfully, LAURA A. PATTY.
