

WEST SIDE TELEPHONE.

McMINNVILLE, TUESDAY APRIL 19, 1887.

Alex Goldenson, who so brutally murdered little Mamie Kelly, in San Francisco, last fall, has been refused a new trial, and sentenced to be hung on June 10. If the judgment of the court is faithfully carried out, and Goldenson hangs higher than Haman, it will be a great step toward the redemption of California justice.

The last trial trip of the cruiser Atlanta seems to have proved a complete success, at least so far as the speed attained is concerned. A telegram received at the naval department states that the average speed of fifteen and one-half knots an hour was maintained for six consecutive hours, while at times the vessel's speed exceeded sixteen knots per hour.

The detective who has been looking up the author of the attempted murder of Bailey, the united labor member of the legislature from East St. Louis, has unexpectedly discovered a secret oath-bound society, which aims to avenge the death of the condemned anarchists, if the latter should be hanged. The whole case is not yet known, but indications point to a membership of fifty-four or six groups of nine each.

No journal has the right to invade the sanctity of the home of any man, be he private citizen or public officer. No journalist has a right to use the columns of a newspaper to attack the honor of a family or heap disgrace upon the head of any man, who, however mean he may have been, is endeavoring to do good. It is without the pale of decency, beyond the toleration of conservatism. He who thus prostitutes the columns he controls, who thus abuses the vaunted and necessary 'liberty of the press' should be held personally accountable therefor.

We understand a petition is being circulated praying Governor Penoyer to commute the sentence of Marple, the condemned murderer, to imprisonment for life. If the petition is successful, we suppose the next move will be to petition to the governor to pardon him. Marple was given a fair, impartial trial, before twelve of Yamhill's best citizens, and found guilty of a murder, the heinousness of which has scarcely ever been equalled in the annals of crime. Should we send such a man to the penitentiary only to be pardoned out in a few years to repeat his awful deed. We say no. Let the law take its course, and the murderer of harmless old man Corker, suffer the penalty he so richly deserves.

Governor Penoyer has pardoned E. W. James, who was convicted of involuntary manslaughter for accidentally killing Mrs. Julia A. Newton while carelessly handling a shotgun. A large amount of friendly pressure was brought to bear upon the governor to pardon James. A petition signed by the jury that tried James, and many others, was presented to his excellency asking that James be pardoned. The Judge thought that convicting James would have a salutary effect on those who are inclined to carelessly handle firearms, and therefore found him guilty, with the intention of seeing to it that he was pardoned. James, though convicted and sentenced to one year's imprisonment, was not sent to the penitentiary, but has been confined in the county jail of Multnomah county.

A blow to American labor will be struck at New York to-day, when the biggest auction of foreign hosiery and gloves that has ever taken place in this country comes off. The offering consisting of 100,000 dozen of the former and 50,000 dozen of the latter, principally the product of German, English and French factories. Senator Sherman, in his letter to the Young Men's Republican club of Philadelphia the other day, suggested it would be a good policy to manufacture in our own country everything we need, where such a thing could be done. If that policy was adhered to, this avalanche of foreign fabrics which is to be sold for whatever it will bring would not be thus coming in competition with the American workmen at the knit goods and hosiery factories at Cohoes and Amsterdam, New York, where there has lately been such serious labor troubles.

With regard to the European situation is learned the opinion of General Brialmont, aide-de-camp to the king of the Belgians and inspector-general of engineers and fortifications in Belgium, and the greatest living tactician and authority on the science of war, who is now confidently awaiting the decision of the Belgian parliament upon his project put forward by the government for constructing fortifications of great strength along the Meuse, around Lieg. In reply to the question, "What's your opinion of the threatened conflict?" he said: "War certainly is inevitable, but from what I can learn from all sources, it will not break out so long as the aged emperor of Germany is alive. In point of fact, he is strongly imbued with a religious and human sentiment, which causes him to shrink from shedding blood. There is no effort he will not make, compatible with the dignity of his empire, to avoid an outbreak of hostilities." Brialmont further added: "A Franco-German war certainly means the invasion of Belgium, and invasion certainly means annexation."

GOOD TIMES COMING.

It is announced that staging between the gap of the C. & O. and O & C railroads will soon be reduced to four hours. The horror of a long stage ride will then be avoided, and no doubt many tourists will come and go by way of this route during the coming summer. They will avoid a rough sea voyage, and will have a chance to see some of the grandest scenery and best country out of doors. when this gap is finally entirely closed up, as it no doubt will be next year, then the great immigration that is pouring into the golden state will stop over into Oregon at a wonderful rate. The people of California who have made their money easily, will come up and help build up their sister state. The completion of this road will prove to be of incalculable benefit to the western portion of Oregon. Not only will it add population and wealth and enterprise directly to this section, but it will go a great way towards providing a brisk market for everything the soil of Oregon can produce. Land will double in value and the producing classes will be stimulated by the added demand for their wares, and gradually our land will be taxed to its full capacity, and all utilized, when this country will be prosperous to a degree that was dreamed of by the early pioneers who had a section of land for the taking.—Statesman.

NOTES AND NEWS.

The president has appointed Joseph B. Lane of Oregon, agent of the Stiletz Indian agency.

Salem has a fine bridge. Now if she would only build some roads leading to it, it would be a great blessing.

As one of the stockholders of the American opera company, Chas. Crocker, the California railroad magnate, is being sued for salary by the chorus girls.

The revenue cutter Bear will leave San Francisco in May for Alaska with instructions for the treasury agents there in regard to the seal fisheries and encroachment upon them by foreigners.

During March forty-three cargoes of lumber, measuring 27,000,000 feet, were shipped from Puget Sound ports. The lumber trade is very active, and the prospects bright.

Michael Kefe, the wife murderer, who was to have been hanged Friday, at Suisun, Cal., cut his throat with a pocket knife, Thursday, and died, having resisted all efforts to dress his wounds.

The Columbia river paper company are clearing away the debris of their burned mill at LaCamas preparatory to re-building. They advertised in another column for sealed proposals for all the wrought and cast iron scraps and melted brass found in the ruins of the burned mill. As there was a great deal of machinery in the mill the refuse metal will amount to something. It will be a glad day for LaCamas, as well as for the stockholders of the mill, when the first beam of the new structure is laid, and every person in the northwest will be pleased to learn of its being completed and running once more.—Oregonian.

G. Frank Moffet, nineteen years old, met with a terrible accident while bottling Cascade mineral water at No. 86 Yamhill street, Portland, Friday afternoon. This work is usually performed behind a wire work screen, Moffet became careless and operated without the usual protection. A bottle exploded with a loud report, the force scattering the atoms in all directions. A fragment struck Moffet's left eye, coursed downward, dividing the eye-ball, and on reaching the lower lid, sheered to the left, making a deep cut. Moffet's eye is totally destroyed and will have to be removed.

What we Guarantee for the Dress Goods of our Manufacture:

To be made from the very best material, by skillful workmen, with the latest and most approved machinery, and to be the cheapest goods in the market when service is considered.

Are so thoroughly finished that they can be worn in damp weather or a shower, without fear of being ruined by curling or shrinking.

The manufacturing, dyeing and finishing is done in such a manner, that the goods can be washed if desired, without the least injury to the fabric.

Our goods are wool dyed, and the colors are as fast as the purest dyes and greatest care and skill can make them.

Goods show just what they are and will be until worn out, as there is no weighting, stiffening, or artificial lustre used to increase the weight or finish; as is the case with a large class of goods in the market, which disappears after a few days' service.

As manufacturers we have taken great pains to supply an article in every way reliable, and unsurpassed by similar goods, either foreign or domestic, and would respectfully ask an examination of the various styles and shades to be found on sale by merchants who are agents for the goods.

All goods of our manufacture should bear the name and trade mark of
