One of the most energetic and successful vatchmen of the day is General C. J. Paine owner of the new yacht Volunteer. The Volumeer is almost invin cible and should she keep up her record, will be the much talked of Tuistle's contestant for the America's cup which the English have sought to win for a number of years back, and still wish and hope to win with Mr. Beil's Thistle. Gen. Paine has been the owner of many fast sea-going yachts, the Mayflower, beat the Galatea over the New York Yacht club course in 1836 being, with the exception of his present wonder, the most noteworthy. Each succeeding vessel which is built under Gen. Paine's supervision and order seems to be particularly constructed to beat the preceeding one, and with such results there is no wonder that the America's cup can be retained here with apparent ease, As the Mayflower was superior to the Puritan so is the Volunteer to the Mayflower. She was a Boston lady and met Vandener, then a widower, while visiting her brother, Prof. Rhoads, then in Boston university. That was ten years ago.
