Prince William stood nearest the emperor, half bending over his couch. He earnestly watched the face of the dying monarch until he expired.

An eye witness of the scenes at the death of the emperor states that during the last few hours of his life he suffered no pain.

The emperor died holding the em press' hand. He had been in a stupor since 3 o'clock. He was delerious for a brief period at 5 o'clock, during which he is reported to have exclaimed: "I am a man of peace; but if Russia forces me to war, I shall faithfully side with my ally, Austria."

BERLIN, March 11 .- All members of the ministry left by special train at 3:15 this afternoon to meet Emperor Frederick as he returns from San Remo. The special train conveying the royal party arrived at Munich this morning, and their majesties were tendered a sympathetic reception at the station.

REMAINS TAKEN TO THE CATHEDRAL. BERLIN, March 11 .- At 2 a. m. the remains of the emperor had been transferred to the cathedral. The coffin was carried on the shoulders of eightsen soldiers of the body guard through the vestibule of the palace, where it was handed to a number of non-commissioned officers. The streets were lined with double rows of soldiers every tenth man holding a torch. The funeral procession was headed by a squadron of cuirasseurs. These were followed by detachments of the foot guards and a numer- fore be it ous train of servants of the imperial household. Then came the coffin.
