YAMHILL STARTS. The finest collection of Productions in the State on the Way East. Monday, on the 3:45 train, Chas. Fleming started for the east with the finest collection of productions ever collected in the state. They were all grown in Yamhill county and include all the grain and grasses with over 50 different specimens of fruit. Each article has a tag upon it giving its name, by who grown, and the section of Yamhill county in which it was raised. Mr. Fleming was put to considerable expense to procure, arrange, and ship this beautiful collection, and something should have done in the way of descriptive matter for the benefit of the distribution in the east. But we should not cry over spilled milk. The Yamhill productions will be exhibited all over the state of Michigan. The first exhibition will be made at the Lansing fair, which opens October 24.

Always patronize a stranger in preference to home talent. He is likely to leave his money with you and can do better for you than the man who resides with you. A picture card on a wall is preferable to a local or display ad. in a town paper. One is always in demand to hide the wall while the other struggles for an existence in telling all the news of the day. It is a safer and cheaper plan to pay in advance for a snap ad. on sight, as he is desirous of moving on, than to let the local publisher edit thirty to ninety days for his pay. The latter invites to buy shoe leather. The best plan is to patronize the itinerant fakir, who is here to-day and off the next, for cold coin and then drops around to the newspaper for a free local. The fakir can give the best, has the largest circulation and his unlimited facilities argue everything in his favor. The local man can wait as he has plenty of spare time and it will be no trouble to call again. A meritorious advertisement is double discounted by a fake. One can take a back seat for the other—the fakir. Free trade in advertising is the popular idea irrespective of party. Always deal with the stranger who knows when the next train leaves. Never under any circumstances question the veracity of a party who has just dropped in from the east or elsewhere. His word is as good as his bond. By no means think seriously of it, as an ad. in a bill or poster knocks the spots off a newspaper sought for.

A Letter. MORA, Wasco Co., Or., Sept. 9, '88. I think a few lines from this section of the country will be acceptable to some of the readers of THE TELEPHONE. The harvest is almost over and the teams have started on their long journey to haul the grain to market a distance of 20 miles. The yield of grain is better than ever known before in some places than in all others. Mr. H. Hennagen's crop, sixty acres, averaged 36 bushels and 22 pounds to the acre. This wheat was all spring sown grain, and was sown on land that the people of Yamhill would declare very good. Mrs. V. M. H.

IS "HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF?"

The Causes That Led to the War of 1812 and the Chances For Another Skirmish. To those familiar with American history during the early part of the present century up to the war of 1812, coming events "casting their shadows before" in respect to the fishery question seems to be following in the wake of "Free trade and sailors' rights," which was the Yankee "shibboleth" from the embargo of 1804 up to the declaration of war eight years thereafter on the 18th of June, 1812. Among other burning questions was the disregard of naturalization of British born subjects, who were impressed from on board the American ships, and it was even complained that they even impressed American natives-born, among others, two alleged nephews of George Washington. While these irregularities were enacted against American rights, there were two antagonistic paper blockades in full force between the British government and the Emperor Napoleon—the British "orders in council" subjecting to capture and confiscating all cargoes that were discovered trying to enter any port in France and Germany or Italy, that was then occupied by French troops. To retaliate, Napoleon, by his "Berlin and Milan decrees," played off the same, but of proclamation blockade against the whole British coast, with neither the British nor Napoleon having a gun afloat to enforce the decrees. This was "nuts" for the Yankees, who ran both blockades and took the chances of capture, which occasioned the impressment of British-born American sailors. These outrages on American bottoms and citizenship would not have been what is called casus belli, if Napoleon had not literally forced President Madison into declaring war against England under threat of repudiating the Louisiana purchase made by Mr. Jefferson from him, and assuming French jurisdiction of that territory which had been a part of the original American states. The Republican party of that period—afterward christened Democrats in 1833—did not desire war for outrages upon "sailors' rights"—nor neither did the Yankee sailors, for between the two paper blockades they had a "soft thing" all around. It is to be remembered just here, that in Napoleon's session of the Louisiana purchase by Mr. Jefferson, there is said to have been a secret clause in the bargain that the United States should declare war against Great Britain within five years; but Mr. Jefferson's second term expired in 1808, when the limit of the purchase clause was up. There was plenty of American grievances upon which to have declared war at any time without regard to "free trade and sailors' rights," as the British paid no regard at first to the Northern American boundary line claim, but took possession of what is now the state of Michigan, which really fired the American heart to fever heat.

The Madison administration did not take very readily to that cause of war and as war had to be thus declared, or lose the Louisiana purchase, or fight France to hold the purchase. Madison's administration accepted the least of the three evils, and founded a declaration of war upon "free trade and sailors' rights" which broke up the Yankee bonanza of blockade running on both sides, to their huge disgust, which culminated into the noted Hartford convention that nearly ruined the cause of the Yankee states that had been foisted in their blockade business. The same effect is now ripening into a red cess pool. Mr. Cleveland's retaliatory message because of discourtesy to American fishermen, backed by the same party that declared war in 1812 for Yankee grievances, is "sailors' rights" of 1812 over again; and Gen. Butler's late proposition in a speech at Boston, to stretch out the arm of the Yankee fishermen until repatriation to the Yankee fishermen would certainly lead to British declaration of war, unless the fear of Russia taking a hand with us and advance again upon Turkey, as also stretch out the arm of the Yankee fishermen to acquiesce for the time, the same as the Yankees did in 1812 when he used to rifle Yankee ships and impress the crews to man his navy. The only difference is that in 1812 there was money in the pockets of the Yankee states, while in the present instance would be cold lead for England and perhaps lose her "slice of Turkey" and perhaps some of India also.—Welcome.

THE CONSPIRACY CASE. John D. Wilcox and C. H. McLeasac indicted. On Friday of last week the grand jury found indictments, against John D. Wilcox and C. H. McLeasac. The indictments accuse them of variously threatening to accuse Mrs. Blumauer of the murder of the murder of Mary Sculler, with the view of extorting money from her. Miss Sculler is the young woman from Yamhill county who died some time ago in Mrs. Murry's office from the effects of abortion, the details of which was published some time ago in THE TELEPHONE. Mrs. Murry has married the second time and her name is now Blumauer. Monday the indictments were made public and Mr. Wilcox voluntarily appeared before Judge Stearns, accompanied by his attorneys, Hon. Richard Williams and Judge R. M. Dement. Mr. Wilcox was duly arraigned, and Mr. Williams asked for one day to plead and was granted until Wednesday. C. H. McLeasac did not appear, which fact created a great deal of unfavorable comment toward the prosecution.

HORSE STOLEN. A Farm Hand Borrows a Horse Intending to Return it Next Year. Albert Williams is the name of a young fellow about 19 years of age who has been working all summer for Jack Butler near Bellevue. Saturday night the young man quit the employ of Mr. Butler and Sunday morning one of his horses was missing. He immediately began a search which resulted in tracing the stolen horse to Portland. Mr. Butler reported the loss at police headquarters before he had every reason to believe that the horse was in the city then, Monday. About an hour after a policeman saw a horse tied to a post in front of a barber shop that answered the description given. In the barber shop he found Williams in the chair being shaved. He arrested the young man and returned him to this county for horse stealing. The young thief informed the officers that he only borrowed the horse, intending to return it next year. The man has heretofore been well thought of.

EN ROUTE FOR YAQUINA.

McMinnville Surprised by a Detachment of U. S. Regulars. Tuesday morning the people of McMinnville were surprised to find marching into the town two companies of infantry and a battery of light artillery. Upon inquiry by a TELEPHONE reporter it was learned that Co's E and H of the 14th infantry and battery E of the 1st artillery from the Vancouver barracks had been ordered on a march to Yaquina under the command of Col. S. McConehe. They had marched from Carlton and arrived here at 8:30. At this place they went into camp on the fair grounds. The detachment expected to make Sheridan before going into camp but the wagons needing repairs the commanding officer concluded to camp. The fair grounds were extended to them which was accepted. The commissioned officers below the rank of Col. are Lieut. P. Hasson, Lieut. C. H. Martin, Lieut. F. Eastman, Lieut. C. L. Best, Lieut. A. J. McCoy, and Assistant Surgeon H. S. Kilbourne. During the afternoon of Tuesday a number of people visited the camp. The battery consisted of two Hotchkiss guns and five pieces of artillery. After a look through the camp we concluded we would rather run a Democratic county newspaper in a big republic than a Democratic county in the regular army.

NEETSUCCA. We are having beautiful weather now. Have had no rain for more than a month, but the weather has not been warm. We do not have much warm weather on the coast. There has been many pleasure seekers here during the last few weeks. They seem to appreciate the pleasant summer resort, where they can be fanned by a pure fresh breeze from the sea during the warm part of the day for seven days in the week. Quite a large number have camped at Cape Kiwanda this summer, remained several weeks, gone away well pleased and benefited. It is a pleasant place for camping and they need not wait for anything for man or beast. Shell fish and sea fish are in abundance, and grass upon a thousand hills. Salmon fishing is in full blast now, though the run of salmon has not been very prolific so far. The strike some two weeks ago resulted favorably to the fishermen. They are getting good prices for their salmon now. Mr. Frank Wallace succeeded in capturing forty of the largest ones for yesterday's run, though that is above the average for a single boat. SELDON.

The reason why Acker's Blood Elixir is warranted, is because it is the best Blood Preparation known. It will positively cure all Blood Diseases, purify the whole system, and thoroughly build up the constitution. Beware, we guarantee it. Geo. W. Burt, Druggist.
