THE MARKET REPORT.

This market report is corrected Thursday noon of each week by A. J. Apperson.

Table with market prices for various goods like Wheat, Oats, Barley, Potatoes, etc.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Another special invoice of dress goods at A. J. Apperson's.

Fishermen are buying up all the latest novelties in fishing tackle.

Chas. Fenton of Spokane Falls, arrived here on a visit Monday night.

Mrs. Brandt has purchased a half interest in the Delmonico restaurant.

Look at Rogers & Todd's fine stock of fishing tackle, all new, no old stock.

Sunday was a fine day and all the citizens in the town were out walking.

Go to G. S. Wright, dentist, Braly block, McMinnville, for first-class work.

Jones and Babcock of the Pauly Jail Co., were in the city during the latter part of last week.

Miss Ella L. Woods proposes to open a select school soon after the close of the public school.

Teeth extracted without pain by the application of local anesthetics. G. S. Wright, dentist.

The ordinance prohibiting boys under 15 years of age being on the streets after 9 o'clock has passed.

Henry Carlin arrived in this city Monday from Camp Polk. He came over the mountains on horseback.

Head quarters for fishing tackle at Rogers & Todd's. Full line of fly hooks, snags, hooks, leaders, lines, rods, etc.

Give Manning & Ungerman a trial when you want any thing in the way of stoves, hardware or agriculture implements.

Wright's Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla can be relied upon for all blood diseases, skin affections, etc.

Several fishermen started for the mountains Wednesday morning. We have not yet heard their stories and suppose they are saving them for a better time.

We call your attention to the advertisement of C. D. Johnson in this issue of the paper. He has a fine lot of carriage and you can no doubt be suited if you see him.

Eugene Harding, of Gaston, moved to this city Wednesday. He will live in the Handley house and will sell machinery for the Northwestern Manufacturing company.

Mr. H. Adams has moved his harness shop into the building formerly occupied by Geo. W. Durt. Mr. Adams will refit the old harness shop and move his billiard hall into it.

Stanley writes a long letter from the interior of Africa explaining at some length the country through which his expedition traveled. He is alive and well and has found Emin Pasha.

Reports from the John Day say that several hundred sheep have been poisoned there by cattle men. The cattle and horses must have eaten the no sheep shall summer on their ranges.

April fool's day brought to the front the usual number of April fools. The town was covered with bogus dollars nailed to the sidewalk. Dr. Wright did nothing but laugh all day long.

If your cough keeps you awake and restless by night, take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and obtain immediate relief. This remedy allays inflammation, heals the pulmonary organs, induces sleep, and restores health. The sooner you begin the better.

"When the spring-time comes," we usually find ourselves drowsy and exhausted, owing to the impure and sluggish state of the blood. To remedy this trouble, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the most powerful, yet safe and economical, blood-purifier in existence.

The other evening we were shown a beautiful cactus bloom which is more than eight inches in diameter, and of a deep red hue. Mrs. Judge Langhry is the possessor of this cactus, which at this time has no less than fifteen buds, and it will bloom the entire summer.

Friday last Mrs. E. F. Mathieu who has been teaching the primary department closed her duties with appropriate ceremonies. Mrs. Mathieu is a successful teacher and has left for Butteville where she will teach. Miss Ella Woods of this city will take charge of the primary department.

Monday morning the town cows were turned loose to graze in the streets. One of them, a festive dame, during the day attempted to get into E. W. Redmond's window where a fine piece of green Japanese silk was displayed. She undoubtedly thought it a cabbage or some other garden truck.

A fine display of furniture at W. H. Bingham's.

The Chinese in the city were flying kites Monday.

Dr. J. D. Fenton arrived in this city Tuesday night.

Wall paper of all kinds, large stock to select from, at Bingham's.

When you go fishing get one of those fine rods at Rogers & Todd's.

A fine large band of sheep passed through the city Monday morning.

Wayland Hunsaker, of Turner Station, was in the city Monday and Tuesday.

In a few days the finest assortment of goods ever set up in a hardware store can be seen at Manning & Ungerman's.

The Oregon Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will meet in McMinnville Thursday, April 11th, at 7:30 p. m.

The Transcript of Astoria is now owned by Snyder and Dunbar. A. V. R. Snyder having accepted a position on the Times-Mountain.

For Sale.—Partridge Cochran and Buff Cochran, pure stock for sale at Chas. Grissen's. Mrs. B. F. Saylor's, $3.00 per setting of 13 eggs.

Dr. E. E. Goucher, who has been confined to his house with a bronchial trouble, is better and able to attend to business once more.

Wright's Red Cross Cough Syrup cures coughs, colds, hoarseness, loss of voice, croup, all in a few minutes.

W. W. Baker editor of the Rural Spirit, of Portland shipped a fine mare to this city Monday. She is under the control of Chas. Woods, the horse trainer.

Cheapest tailoring establishment in the city is next to the post office, do not charge profit on the goods. Good work, and all imported goods at low prices.

Rev. F. Dillard Holman will preach in the Christian church at Sheridan Sunday morning and evening. A special meeting will be held the Saturday evening.

Wanted.—Two first-class sewing ladies in F. Zerkle's triling establishment, next to the post office, good pay and steady work. Ladies who have had experience desired.

The horsemen of this city are beginning to work their trotters on the track. What course is better situated for a stock county than Yamhill? None. This county will soon be producing trotters for export.

Secretary Wannamaker spends $5000 a week for advertisements and pays a man $12,000 a year to attend to his advertising. You can't keep such a man out of the cabinet. There's more truth than poetry in the moral to this story, namely: Stick close to advertising; never run to seed. You're all sure to prosper, you live by the creed.—E.

The spring meeting of the Presbytery of Oregon will be held at Lafayette, commencing on Tuesday evening, the 9th inst. All the sessions will be open to the public. The moderator of the last meeting, Rev. W. S. Forbes, of Albina, will preach on Tuesday evening. Rev. Dr. Landon of Portland, will deliver an address on Wednesday evening, on the "Reward of Christian giving," and at the conclusion, other members of the Presbytery will further discuss the subject. The meeting will probably close on Thursday.

Fine Photo Gallery. C. Fritz & Co., artistic photographers, have just over-hauled and repaired their gallery in the Adams block. It is now the finest photograph gallery on the west side. They have expended considerable time and money in this rearrangement, and now invite the people to call and inspect their work. They are the sole owners, in Yamhill county, of the right to use the photographic process, whereby a fuster and finish is imparted to the photograph not attainable in any other way. Photos finished by this process will never fade or lose their brilliancy, and so command a higher price than the ordinary, and an inspection of specimens can not fail to please the most fastidious. Gallery up stairs in Adams' block, Third street, McMinnville.

CARD OF THANKS. EDITOR OF TELEPHONE-REGISTER: Miss Mark and sisters wish, through the columns of your paper, to thank their friends for their assistance, kindness and sympathy, extended to them during their recent bereavement in the death of their father, Mr. Chas. N. Mark.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

E Street Difficulties to be Enquired into. Advice Ordered.

The regular monthly meeting of the common council of the city of McMinnville was held Tuesday evening, April 2nd. Present, Mayor Manning, Councilmen Barneoff, Burt, Grissen, Wright, Jones; Recorder Spencer.

Meetings of former regular meeting read and approved. Minutes of special meetings read and approved.

The judiciary reported and recommended an amendment to ordinance No. 60 prohibiting boys under 14 years of age being on the street after 9 o'clock. The amendment makes it 18 years of age. This committee also reported favorably on the gambling ordinance and recommended its adoption.

The recorder reported that the bill of the city against the Ennis estate had been presented.

Various communications read and placed on file.

The following bills were allowed: W F L Wright, $4.50; Chas Belate, 3.00; Geo W Kauffman, 43.60; J O Spence, 20.65.

Moved that the recorder be instructed to answer all communications in regard to waterworks.

Street commissioner's report read. The mayor appointed Barneoff chairman of the committee of streets and public property and appointed Jones to fill the vacancy in that committee made by the removal of Barneoff.

The matter of E street was placed in the hands of the committee of streets and public property with the power to employ competent attorneys.

Marshal's report read and on motion placed on file.

Recorder's report read and on motion placed on file.

Mayor declared that councilman Tucker had forfeited his right to a seat in the council and ordered the election of a councilman to fill his place.

On looking up the charter it was found that councilman Tucker was still a member and that he had not absented himself the required number of regular meetings.

Barneoff of way and means reported that two of the county jail cells could be purchased for $75. It was ordered that the committee be authorized for $75.

Moved that the committee be empowered with the marshal to build a city pound; carried.

Ordinance No. 74 an ordinance governing and regulating the assessment of road tax read moved that it be amended so to read, "that the poll tax may be paid in labor, at $1.50 per day;" carried.

Moved that ordinance No. 74 be read twice by title and placed on its final passage; carried. Reading read by Barneoff, Burt, Grissen, Jones, Wright.

Ordinance No. 75 amending ordinance No. 60 read twice by title and passed, the reading read by Barneoff, Burt, Jones, Grissen, Wright.

Moved and seconded that the council adjourn to Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock; carried.

Meeting called to order; present, Mar Manning, Councilmen Barneoff, Burt, Jones, Grissen, Wright, Recorder Spencer and Marshal Kaufman.

Ordinance No. 76 read and passed. Ordinance No. 77 read and passed. Ordinance No. 78 read and passed. Ordinance No. 79 read and passed. Ordinance No. 80 read and passed. On motion council adjourned.

NOTES. Ordinance No. 78 amends ordinance No. 63 and increases the liquor license from $300 per annum to $400.

Ordinance No. 79 is the gambling ordinance and the principle sections are published in another column.

Ordinance No. 80 is the cow ordinance and states up to the cows, thirty days after its passage. This ordinance has long been needed. Councilman Jones stated to the council that the cows were a nuisance and that at the present time there was an obstruction on one of the sidewalks near his house which had been built by a cow, said obstruction being nearly as large as the pyramid of Cheops.

By actual measurement it was 6 feet by 4 feet 6 inches up stairs in Adams' block. Third street, McMinnville.

STATE vs MCKUNE.

Judge Boise's Instructions to the Jury in the Above Case.

In the Circuit court of the State of Oregon, for Yamhill county, State of Oregon, Plaintiff, Willard McKune, Defendant.

INSTRUCTIONS BY THE COURT. GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY:—In this case the prisoner, Willard McKune, is charged in the indictment on which he is being tried with the crime of manslaughter, for killing one James F. Bewley in September.

Manslaughter is the unlawful killing of a human being without malice. The plea of not guilty puts in issue all the material obligations of the indictment against the defendant and the state to prove the killing and all other necessary allegations. In this case, however, on the trial the defendant has admitted that he killed the deceased, James F. Bewley, at the time and place charged in the indictment, but says that he killed the deceased in self defense, and is therefore justifiable or excusable.

And a large amount of testimony has been offered by the defendant and the state, tending to show that the killing was done by the prisoner to preserve his own life, or to save himself from a threatened attack on him by the deceased.

To justify you in finding the defendant guilty you must be satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant killed James F. Bewley when there was no danger of his being killed by Bewley, or of his receiving great bodily harm from him, and that at the time of the killing the defendant had no reasonable ground to fear great bodily harm to himself.

The defendant killed Bewley because he had reasonable ground to believe, and did believe, that his own life was in danger, or that he was in danger of receiving great bodily harm from the deceased, but he has a right to defend himself and, if necessary, to preserve himself take the life of Bewley.

There is evidence tending to show that at the time of the homicide Bewley was armed with a pistol and that he was attempting to draw it. If you should believe that such was the case, then McKune if he had reason to believe that Bewley was attempting to draw the pistol on him, he might shoot Bewley in self defense before Bewley had time to draw his pistol.

There is evidence tending to show that at the time of this homicide Bewley was unarmed, and that the killing took place, was quarantined against the coming into it of the citizens or residents of the city of McMinnville, in consequence of smallpox prevailing at the latter place, and that the defendant was then acting as a deputy marshal and health officer and specially charged with the duty of preventing persons from McMinnville entering or remaining in the town of Sheridan, in which town on the day of the homicide came to Sheridan from McMinnville, and that at the time of the homicide the defendant was notifying the deceased to leave Sheridan in obedience to an ordinance of the town.

If the defendant was acting as such officer at the time, he had a right to apprehend the deceased and notify him of the ordinance, and request him to depart from the town.

In this case the evidence tends to show that a large number of persons witnessed this homicide, and there is some conflict in the evidence of these persons as to what occurred. Now, in such cases, as men see and remember the same transactions somewhat differently, and it is the province of the jury to judge of the value of the evidence of such witnesses.

In order to justify you in finding the prisoner guilty you must be satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that he killed Bewley when he had no reasonable ground to believe that Bewley was about to kill him, or to receive great bodily harm. In this case if you believe from the evidence that at the time the defendant fired the fatal shot Bewley was in danger, or that he was in danger of great bodily harm from the deceased, and that the danger was imminent, and that he did so believe, and that he acted in self defense, he is excusable, and it was not necessary that he should wait until an assault was actually committed. For if one threatened with an assault with a pistol was compelled to wait until the assailant had presented his pistol, then his defense would be of no avail to repel the attack.

This case has excited much interest in this county, both from the circumstances that preceded and surrounded the commission of the homicide, arising from a then existing excitement caused by the prevalence of smallpox in some parts of the county and from the prominence of the case, and has long been a resident of the vicinity.

The case has been thoroughly and ably presented to you by the counsel, who have been zealous for the prosecution and in their own defense, and by their feelings. You, however, have been selected to try this case because you have no bias, and can impartially consider the evidence and make a true decision between the state and the prisoner, which is your duty.

It is your duty to find a verdict in this case and end this litigation. It is your duty to discuss this case after you retire with a view to the admission of justice that in your minds agrees for it to be. It is your duty to be the finding of the verdicts that this kind can be properly disposed of and justice administered. The failure of jurors to agree has a tendency to weaken the faith of the people in our law tribunals and destroy their respect for the laws.

A SMASH-UP. Two Democrats Nearly Killed by a Runaway.

Sunday, Graham Glass, editor of the Oregon Reporter, and Wm. Galloway, horse-trader, went for a drive. They borrowed Dr. Goucher's buggy, and brought it back in about the same condition as the senator from Yamhill, Dr. Watts, all broke up. Wm. Galloway, when in the neighborhood of Fryer's place, near Carlton, stopped and went "to see a man." Mr. Glass was left to manage the horses. He claims they got "so excited" that they "killed" the buggy and the horses went down the road until they fell pure exhaustion. The debris of the buggy is now to be seen in the field close to the place. It is said that the wreck was not brought into town until everyone was asleep Sunday night. They have lost their reputation as horse jockeys at any rate.

Progress. It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effect. Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

DEED.

MARK.—Died March 25th, 1889, at his residence in McMinnville, Oregon, of heart disease, Mr. Charles N. Mark, aged 74 years, 8 months and 6 days.

His death was very unexpected, as he was as well as usual, until Friday, the 22nd inst. when he complained of being slightly ill, but his illness was not, considered serious as he was not confined to his bed, nor even to the house. His death occurred between one and two o'clock p. m., on Monday, and the remains were conveyed to Portland on the Wednesday morning express. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Father Northman, at St. Mary's Cathedral, after which the remains were interred in Mt. Calvary Catholic cemetery.

Mr. Mark was born in France, July 19th, 1814, and at the age of 19 years, in 1833, he came with his parents to America. He resided in New York for a time, and afterwards removed to Illinois. A few years later he went to Missouri, where he was married June 6th, 1848, to Miss Catherine Minzer, a native of Germany. His wife died in St. Joseph, Missouri, July 22nd, 1865, and her remains were laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery of that city. The death of this faithful companion left to the father a care and a family of seven children, one son and six daughters, the youngest but one year old. To his credit, it can be said that he did what a father can seldom do, he kept his children together and was to them both father and mother, till they reached the age of maturity, and his youngest child was old enough to make arrangements to lay him to rest. In June, 1875, he removed with his children to Oregon, and resided near Newberg until 1880, when he came to McMinnville, where he made his home until the time of his death. He had children except his son and one daughter who reside near Pendleton, were at the funeral.

Mr. Mark was a man of sunny pleasant disposition, and always made numerous friends wherever he resided. Besides his children, who, in him feel the loss of both father and mother, he leaves two sons, to mourn his demise.

At his residence in Portland, Oregon, March 23rd, 1889, Catherine Grazing, wife of W. H. Anstin, of blood poisoning.

We Try to Get Even. McMinnville, March 20th, 1889.

Last summer there were several young ladies from this city picking hops at Butteville, and by invitation from the ladies six of our best young men left this place Sunday morning to visit with the young ladies during the day. Owing to the distance they had to drive, it required them to start quite early from McMinnville, so they drove to Newberg for breakfast. They went to the hotel and soon supplied the inner man. They settled their bill, got in the hack and went on their way rejoicing, arriving at Butteville about 9 a. m. The boys had a very pleasant time with their young friends. About 5 p. m. the boys started for home. A few days after a smart young man from Newberg went to the trouble to go to Butteville and report all over that city that the young men from McMinnville were so drunk when they stopped in Newberg for their breakfast that they could hardly get into the hack.

Now, six young men want to say this much to the smart young man from Newberg, that they can prove that they had not drunk a drop that day; and more than that, can prove by the best citizens of McMinnville, that not one of the young men was ever drunk in their lives. Now, we just wish to say to the smart fellow, that the boys have been watching all this time to play even with him. So Sunday last there was a hack load from Newberg arrive in our city, and from their actions we think we had got the upper hand, and will report if we ever hear anything more about the McMinnville boys being drunk.

The Six Boys. W. C. T. U. District Convention.

The annual convention of the third W. C. T. U. district was held at Corvallis last week. The first afternoon was spent in devotional exercises and the usual business routine. In the evening Prof. Rork, of Salem, delivered a temperance lecture in his sector in an entertaining manner. The second day was devoted to reports from superintendents of departments and discussions. At the evening meeting Rev. Spangler told hour prohibition does not exist in Iowa. Prof. Hull, of the Agricultural college, compared the slowness of moral suasion with prohibition, in some well chosen remarks; Rev. Atkins closed the meeting with an excellent sermon on the observance. The following officers were elected: Miss Maggie Butler, Monmouth, secretary; Mrs. Percival, Monmouth, superintendent; and Mrs. W. C. T. U. were also appointed for about twenty-one departments. A very pleasant time was enjoyed by all present.

President and Mrs. Harrison. The demand for the portraits of President and Mrs. Harrison is unprecedented. Two very fine etched portraits, on one plate, 10x22, of General and Mrs. Harrison, published at the home of the president by H. R. Hyman, publisher of the Indianapolis Herald, are meeting with especially large sales. Agents are wanted in every town in the Union. Send 25 cents for sample portraits and terms to agents, to M. R. Hyman, Indianapolis, Ind.

Regained His Sight. For the past several years J. E. Brooks of this city has had to wear glasses because of the dimness of his vision. Some time ago he began to find fault with his spectacles, they did not fit his eyes and about every two weeks had to purchase a new pair. Finally he concluded that his eyes were regaining sight, he discarded his spectacles and can now read fine print as good as he could twenty years ago.

Deafness Can't Be Cured by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out, and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. BEYOND THE CASCADES.

Very Poor Prospects for Stockmen in that Once Favored Climate.

Mr. Donald McLeon, who lives southeast of Salem, says the Statesman, has been traveling east of the mountains and wants to tell the world in general that there is no place as good as the Webfoot valley, by which he means the Willamette valley. He had quite a trip of it. From The Dalles he went on horseback to Prineville, seeing an immense stretch of country and visiting numerous bands of sheep. He purchased three thousand head of wethers, to be delivered to him in June after shearing. He says "mutton wethers, are scarce and high this year, being $2.25 and $2.50 each, but mutton ewes are plentiful, and many of the flockmasters left their ewes barren and want to go out of business or lessen their flocks, and in fact they must do either or emigrate with their flocks very soon. There is not a bit of grass to be seen in all Eastern Oregon where I traveled that would keep life in any animal. Stock of all kinds look poor this year and I was surprised how they live without water, as they had no rain or snow this winter, and creeks and wells dried up long ago. Sheep men are herding their flocks on desert lands and hauling water in barrels from the nearest river for the use of their herders. Many flocks are afflicted with scab on account of dryness of the season and being without water. Those who have sound sheep are jubilant, thinking they will get 25 cents a pound for their wool. Eastern buyers from Nebraska arrive and pay $2 for mutton ewes and many flocks will be driven East this season. Some sheep men assured me they will be down in the Willamette valley and buy farms. The majority of them want to sell their flocks. Stock raising extensively is played out in Eastern Oregon—the bunch grass is gone forever. I came home Saturday night by the Lebanon road over the Cascades and met with four feet of snow on the summit from the head of Cash creek to Big lake; two feet of snow on the Sand mountain; no snow at Fish lake, nor on the Seven-mile hill. Reed is twenty at Fish lake; they came up early from the desert and may be counted by the hundred."

To Washington and Oregon. "They are coming from the deserts of the dim and dusty east, where to raise a stunted turnip gives the prospect of a feast, where the farms are made of gravel and they plow with dynamite, where the festive chattel mortgage sings its dirge day and night; they are coming in their wagons, they are coming on the train, they are coming from the region where they struggled long in vain; they are coming from the cabin, they are coming from the hall, they are coming to Washington, where's plenty for them all. They are coming from the southland, they are coming from the north, from the valleys and the mountains, they are coming from the north, they are coming with their husbands, they are coming with their wives, they are coming with their hammers, with their needles and their knives; with their children, with their planters, and their pencils and their guns, they are coming with their fathers and their mothers and their sons. They are coming stout and slender, they are coming short and tall, they are coming to Washington, where's there plenty for them all. Where you needn't dig potatoes with a sabre or a dirk, where when rain is badly needed, then the rain gets in its work; where the moan and murmur on their journey to the sea, where the breeze tattles cornstalks big as fences on the sea; where the savage lately wandered in his search for human hair, while his hoarse and howling war wholed on the summer air; where a hundred braves would answer to the chieftain's battle call, they are coming to Washington, where there's plenty for them all. Where the savage used to wander yearning for a crop of hair, now the farmer takes his porkers to the nearest county fair; and the corn is daily growing where the greasy wigwam stood, where he burned the wailing captive now the poultry search for food; and the people who are coming to this pleasant-est of climates, show a happy knack of keeping with the times; they will find a country beaming from the spring time to the fall, when they get to Washington, where there's plenty for them all.—E. L. Lehigh, Capital.

The Fountain of Youth. AMITY, Or., March 18, 1889. EDITOR TELEPHONE-REGISTER:—

It is believed that where the great Atlantic ocean now is was once a continent and thickly populated, where people lived to be a great age, and the continent was called Atlantis, if so, then when it sank it slid westward so that the Garden of Eden is directly under this part of the world, and the water bubbling up from the tree of life, is the reason that people live so long here. We propose to continue the proof of our position, and have more old people than can be found in any country. Grandpa Toney is about 92, and we would advise him to move back on that belt of healthy land for fear he should die; Isaac Agnew, 87; Henry White, 78; and his wife, Charlotte, 75; Rev. A.
