

Personal and Pertinent.

Can it be that Four-aker, of Ohio, means to develop into a four-terminer?
Gov. Foraker is a graduate of Cornell, of the Class of '69. He has also graduated in Ohio politics.

President and Mrs. Harrison will be the guests of Secretary and Mrs. Blaine at Bar Harbor during the last week of July.

Col. Thomas P. Ochiltree, of Texas, is in Boston. Can it be that he has been called upon by Gen. Butler to assist in compiling the latter's notes on Admiral Porter?

It is probable that the President will take his vacation in small doses so as to keep an eye on "that man Tanner," who seems inclined to absorb the whole United States.

It is charged by a Paris feuilletonist that the Prince of Wales smokes in his sleep. Perhaps it is a new remedy for snoring that the head son of Albion is experimenting with.

The farmers are patiently waiting for Uncle Jerry Rusk's report on electric-light plants. It is believed that he can show that they do better in the American climate than sunflowers.

A Paris journal nominates Henry George for "next president of the United States." The wild waves of the Atlantic will be likely to swallow this exotic boom before it gets out of sight of land.

Prince Bismark's salary as Chancellor of the German Empire is only about $15,000 a year. He is also entitled to occupy an official residence free of charge, though, and a great many brewers send him free beer.

It is reported that Senator Everts recently remarked that he would rather be fat than be president. The senator should keep up his spirits. He is still youthful in mind and manners and may take a slant towards adiposity yet.

English curates have been the successful lovers in romantic tales since the institution of the church. But since three out of four of Archdeacon Farrar's daughters have married curates the character passes from the realm of fancy into that of fact.

During his recent visit to Paris the Prince of Wales was frequently seen at the race tracks. The Jockey Club fitted up a box for him in elegant style, but it remained untenanted, the prince preferring to mingle with the crowds and bet on the horses like common mortals.

The heathen Chinese have not been slow in contributing towards the relief of the sufferers at Johnstown. In Pittsburgh they raised $120, with which they bought supplies and sent them on to the stricken city. Over $300 was raised by the pagan Chinamen of New York.

Vice-President Morton's brother-in-law, Mr. Wm. F. Grinnell, has been transferred as United States Consul from Bradford to Manchester, England. So it seems that Mr. Morton in purchasing the Vice-Presidency secured a snug family berth by way of log-cabin, and he had influence enough, too, to keep his brother-in-law in office under Mr. Cleveland.

The Pittsburgh American Manufacturer states that on June 1st there were 292 furnaces in blast, with an aggregate weekly capacity of 129,682 tons, or ten fewer furnaces in blast than on May 1st, and a reduced weekly capacity of $566 tons. The decline is chiefly in coke furnaces. One year ago, or June 1st, 1888, there were 298 furnaces in blast, 6 more than in 1889, with a weekly capacity of 123,015 tons, or 6,667 fewer tons than on June 1st, 1889.

A Kansas editor in drawing a pen-sketch of Senator Ingalls writes: "Mr. Ingalls is not very pretty, his hair is very gray and he is exceedingly thin and would make a good clothes-prop or living illustration of the Dr. Tanner theory. His legs resemble breech-loading single-barrel guns thrust into gun bags. It is a mystery to us how he manages to carry such a big head full of eighteen carat brains around on such an emaciated set of underpinnings."

Col. F. D. Hitt, of Ottawa, Ill., possesses some rare relics of the early French explorers of the Mississippi valley. Among them are the camp-kettle of La Salle and the Jesuit cross of Father Marquette. The cross is of lead and copper and in form is double, having a figure of Christ crucified on the obverse and of the Virgin and child on the reverse. At the end of each beam is a heart. The relics are undoubtedly authentic.

A trust for the manufacture and sale of paper has been formed in England, its purpose being to control the market. This it may do to a limited extent, but the English consumers of paper are not particularly alarmed at the situation. They point to the fact that there is not in Great Britain, as there is in the United States, a tariff on paper to strengthen the trust. There is a beautiful moral here for people in this country who have to buy goods at trust prices sustained by a high protective duty.

An interesting figure on the streets of Quincy, Ill., is the aged but still erect form of Gen. James W. Singleton, one of the old war-horses of the Illinois Democracy. Gen. Singleton lives on a beautiful country place known as Rosobell, just out of Quincy, and every fair day he drives into town. He has retired wholly from politics and is spending the decline of life quietly among his books. He is one of the few surviving ante-bellum statesmen of Illinois, and is filled with entertaining reminiscences of Douglas, Browning, William A. Richardson and other companions of his earlier political life.

It is another instance of Civil-Service Reform under Harrison that Joe Manley as Mr. Blaine's next friend, has been made room for by the removal of Postmaster Fowler, of Augusta, Me. There appear to be no charges against Mr. Fowler, and Mr. Harrison undeniably did say that "fitness and not party service should be the essential and discriminating test, and fidelity and efficiency the only sure tenure of office"—but then how can Mr. Blaine provide for his "horn-blower" (to borrow Auditor Conlter's beautiful phrase) if such campaign pleasantries are regarded as principles? Perish the thought!

Davis Sewing Machine.
We have a machine quite unlike anything else. New Principles, New Ideas. It is the New High Arm "DAVIS." It is new pattern; A New Model. Did you ever see a sewing machine with Only Six Working Parts? If not you never saw this new machine. The old method of feeding from below is entirely done away, and all the complicated machinery connected therewith taken out and dispensed with. No Machinery Underneath to clean or oil. This New Feed method does not Stop at seams, but Steps evenly over them. There is Only One Tension to regulate. No holes to thread through. It is a Mechanical Wonder, yet no more interesting for what it is, than what it will do. It is the only machine having Steel Roll Bearings for its needle bar. The only machine having a Support for the Needle after it leaves the needle bar. This "New Davis" is as far ahead of the old machines as the Telephone is ahead of the speaking tube. Come and See for Yourself. It will pay you From Curiosity. We are so much interested in this ourselves that we are anxious you should see, know, tell and help us get these facts before the people. Ladies, come; Tailors, come; Mechanics, come; Experts, come; Everybody Come and See this new model machine and learn what it will do.
