FIRE IN FOLK COUNTY.

The fire that occurred over the West Side Friday evening says the Statesman, has turned out to be one of great destruction to a number of farmers who were in range of this raging and fierce fire.

The fire started a few minutes past three o'clock and in less than two hours time had it its destructiveness.

As stated in yesterday morning's Statesman the fire started in Alexander Holmes' wheat field from a passing engine and spread with lightning rapidity through the farms of Alexander Holmes, John Holmes, Hugh McNary and Ben Hayden.

A Nelson who lives near Wood's grove lost 200 acres of fine wheat, which had just been cut and placed in the shock.

O'Brien Bros. on the Wood's place suffer the loss of 150 acres of fine grain as were grown. They also lost a good barn full of fine hay of this year's cutting.

Ben Hayden, who was in the district of what is known as the first fire, lost besides his grain, two good farm residences, two large barns, a dairy and other out buildings.

The wind was blowing hard and in many instances the men were compelled to run to keep from being burned alive.

There was a number of other losses, but the above are the principal ones.

From a gentleman of this city who is through the scene of last week's fire along the West Side railroad company express a willingness to pay all damages, as soon as it can be amicably agreed upon.

WEATHER BULLETINS.

No. 20 of the Oregon State Weather Bureau Co-operating with U. S. Signal Service, central office, Portland, Oregon, for week ending July 20, 1889.

The weather all over the state has been very dry with the exception of a light fall of rain Sunday and Monday and in some places rain is reported to have fallen on Tuesday.

The week has been especially notable in the reaction from the loss the farmers thought they had sustained in the grain crops, which have not proven near so bad as they thought before the harvest was well advanced.

In the coast region of the state a heavy northwest wind has prevailed during the week. Light rains on the 9th, 12th and 14th.

In the Umpqua valley, no rains during the week and want none until crops are harvested.

Hay-tender J. H. McCormick. Bids have been invited by Secretary Gregg from the several brass bands of the state as to the amount for which they would play during the fair.

The two new races ordered will add very materially to the interest of horse owners throughout the state and some of the fastest steppers may be expected.
