It is a peculiar case. The funeral will occur to-day. Mrs. ight in her own house is a murder which Scott was a prominent member of the

The house was searched and the commu nity became worked up to such an extent that Mrs. Cook was about to be arrested for his murder. It was known that the family did not agree and that Mrs. Cook was a woman who would have her own way, no matter how she obtained it and this was about the only evidence that could be procured against her. At this time word was received from Cook who had quietly walked out of the house and had kept walking until he had arrived in California from which state he wrote to some of his old friends. His death occurred soon after and Mrs. Cook settled the estate, which amounted to about $150 in cash after all claims were paid, came to this city where she resided up to her marriage.
