Governor Pennoyer and Professo McElroy, of the state board of educaschool. The party looked over the entire purchase very thoroughly, viewed the various sites for the main building, surveyed the water power and considered the location of the power house and shops. The appropriation made by the last legislature is sufficient to erect only the main building, bids for which are now advertised, and work upon offer you Bargains in these lines which will be commenced early in June. The board, as a part of its future plan, contemplates erecting shops, where the varions trades may be learned, and a thorough system of farming, and with this end in view desire to deprovement so that each part added may be a part of the harmonious whole. A better selection for the location of the reform school could not have been made. The power is sufficient for all needs, the view from some of the proposed locations of the buildings is magnificent and if there is anything in the refining influence, the boys are sure to receive its benefits here.
