A post office has been established at Hecla Head.
Miss Burnett, teacher in the public school, is down with the grip.
Garden hose by the thousand feet direct from the factory at Hudson's.
Figs, dates, lemons, etc., in numerous profusions. Good to eat. H. & G's.
W. Austin, whose death was reported in last week's paper, died of typhoid fever.
Gardner & Peckham will build a neat residence for Jos. Hoberg at the foot of D street.
Bishop Morris will hold service in the Episcopal church here on Friday evening, May 22.
Miss Laura Patty returned from the East Monday. She has spent nearly a year in Tennessee.
In answer to a telegram Sarah Bernhardt says she will come to Astoria for one night for $3000.
The nineteenth annual reunion of the Oregon pioneer society will be held in Portland June 15.
Western and Michigan washers for less money than ever. One in town can sell them at Hudson's.
Saddle Gortner is down with typhoid fever, making three in the family down with the dread disease.
The fruit growers of Polk county will hold their annual reunion at Monmouth a week from next Friday.
Mrs. A. J. Apperson and Mrs. E. Fellows have returned from a visit to Oregon City and Portland.
Nearly all the fish wheels at the Dalles are running, but the run of salmon is not equal to last year.
The new brick erected last year by the McMinnville Improvement Co. has been named the Union block.
Wm. Holl and wife are now in San Diego, Cal. They are making and extended trip through that state.
Deacon Hatch, of Salem, fell the other day while at Hubbard, fracturing his jaw and knocking out several teeth.
Henderson & Gaunt have the finest line of confectionery in the city. All flavors of creams, gums, etc. Try them.
The balloon ascension and parachute jump at Lafayette last Saturday was very plainly seen by a number of people in this city.
The papers that were enterprising enough to print a picture of the president thought it best to make some apology for the same.
There will be a social hop at the Armory on Saturday night. These dances are hugely enjoyed by all who attend. Good music and good order.
A gentleman from Michigan will start a nursery on a large scale near Newberg during this summer. Mr. Shurtleiff, of this city, is interested in the matter.
Mr. H. Bailey, of Williamson, was in town on Monday to see about purchasing brick for the foundation of a new Congregational church to be built at that place this summer.
It is reported that Capt. Crawford, of Dayton, has purchased the Ennis property on the corner of B and Third streets and will erect a brick business block, 70x90, immediately.
The well that is being bored in Harney City in search for artesian water is now three hundred and seventy-five feet deep and going down at the rate of ten to twenty feet per day.
Stout & Martin are working on the Star mill property and will build a new warehouse on the foundation of the old one. The machinery for the mill has been ordered and will be here about the first of June.
The farmer who sprays his apple trees properly, and destroys his enemy, the codlin moth, will receive greater profit on his outlay of money and labor than he who devotes such time to raising wheat. Let war be declared against the codlin moth.—Ashtland Record.
Mr. J. Selters is now running his brick yard near the fair grounds, having a full complement of hands at work. He has a new Quaker brick machine at work in it runs out the brick in a lively manner. The first kiln will be burnt in about three weeks.
Prof. G. M. Miller, twice prohibition candidate for congress from Oregon, was on Tuesday's train to Portland from Stanslaus, Cal. His wife has invented and patented a dish-washing machine so simple that a child can use it. Prof. Miller is putting it on the market.—Ashtland Record.
The ladies' aid society of the M. E. church will give an ice cream and Japanese social at the Grange hall on Friday evening, May 15th. Many articles useful and ornamental previously made by the society, will be offered for sale. Also a large variety of fancy goods from Andrew Kahn's Portland store will be displayed and sold. All are cordially invited.
R. M. Wade was in the city Tuesday and bargained for the Bangs corner, being 120 feet on Third street and 100 feet on B. The company of which Mr. Wade is the head will erect a brick building on the property as soon as the material can be had. The coming of this company to McMinnville is a good thing for the city, and especially so as the company has large capital and shows its faith in the future of our town by investing here.

Burns & Daniels' furniture store is supplied with a full stock.
Pies, cakes, cookies, etc., always fresh at Kims' Red Front bakery.

It now seems to be the impression that the big democratic daily that was to have made its appearance in Portland this month will not materialize. This is to be regretted for several reasons.
Judge Boise opened circuit court in Polk county on Monday. One of the principal cases in the docket is the suit to compel Polk county to pay its share of the expense of building the bridge across the Willamette at Salem.
Susam M. Wallace has sold her farm of 153 acres to James Connery, a gentleman from New York. The sale was made through Knight, Wood & Wallace. She also sold a tract of 13 acres to Geo. Sanders, a gentleman recently from the East, who will start a cheese factory.
The name of the sleepers is Legion. With whom Bed is a favorite region. 'Tis a matter for mirth. That whatever their birth. Their language is always Norwegian. These beds and all other goods in connection with house furnishing for sale at Evenden's store.
The Hubbard oil boom is not dead, although it has been sleeping. The material, etc., about the ground and within ten days boring will be commenced. They will sink down 900 feet before rigging a derrick. If necessary they will go down 3000 feet. A well is to be sunk near the well where oil was first discovered.—Woodburn Independent.
Next week our lady readers will have the pleasure of reading another well-written article from the pen of "Sam Somers," entitled, "Some Truths Concerning Agents." She writes of the many agents now canvassing the country for washing-machines, grease extractors and the thousand and one things usually sprung on the gullible public. It is a timely article. It is a timely article and will no doubt save dollars to the ladies who read it.
The opal find in Morrow county is about thirty miles south of Heppner, in the locality where the celebrated fossil beds are, between the John Day river and the Snake. The discovery was made by sheep herders in that vicinity as long as five years ago, and about two years ago Levi Shaner found the bed and took a specimen home, but had no idea of the value of it at that time. The rock crops out about 300 feet along the hillsides and tips into the hill in a ledge. The ledge shows that the interior contains a good quality of fire opal.
This paper does not print obituary poetry and matter free of charge and our readers will save themselves some annoyance by reading the standing notice to that effect on the second page of this issue. This notice has been standing for more than a year, but we still continue to receive obituary poetry, etc., long after the death of the person and after a notice of the death has been published in this paper. We always publish a notice of death and as much regarding the life of deceased as our judgment dictates, but it is impossible upon the proprietors to send in a half-column article and expect it to be published free of charge.
State Normal School Graduates.
Last week finished what is known as final examination in the State Normal school, at Monmouth. Twenty-two young ladies and gentlemen underwent written examination in all but three of the studies of the course—twenty-six in all. The questions were prepared by the state board of education. Of the twenty-five who were examined, six failed to obtain the required standard of 80 per cent. The names of the successful students are: Misses Anna Powell, Maggie Riddell, Ida Scofield, Alice Savage, L. Carothers, Laura Davidson, May Gilson, Helen Hillard, Cecelia Higley, and Messrs. Charles Simonon, W. A. Wann, C. Wester, C. A. Altman, A. L. Briggs, E. E. Edmonds, W. A. Gilmore, J. B. V. Hughes and Dale Ireland. The prospects for a large attendance at the school the coming year are very flattering.
New Democratic Daily.
The Portland Sunday Welcome states that May 22d has been set for the day of issuing the new democratic daily, the Morning Tribune. Mr. Gray will have charge of the editorial department, while Mr. John Burnett will be business editor. The Welcome further states: "It is said the new paper will occupy the building adjoining the cathedral on Stark street. As the machinery is not here yet, the date of launching may be postponed. When she does the life saving service will be duly notified to be ready with their appliances. We shall see what we shall see."

FROM GERMANY.
Chas. Grissen writes of Germany and Germania.
REIDERS, Baden, April 23, 1891. As it would be impossible to give a detailed and comprehensive description of a journey of nearly 7,000 miles in one article it must suffice to give but a few general observations.
Leaving McMinnville on the 3rd of March, I arrived at the home of my mother on the 25th, traveling incessantly day and night, with the exception of a five days' stop in Buffalo, the journey on land was anything but pleasant, as it was cold and snowed and rained alternately in America as well as in Europe. The ocean voyage lasted nine days. The "Havel, on which I crossed, is one of the largest and fastest of the steamers belonging to the North German Lloyd company, being 412 feet long, 54 feet in width and over 40 feet in depth; her immense engines consume from 250 to 300 tons of coal every 24 hours fed through 40 funnels; the slowest time made was 400, and the fastest 420 English miles in 24 hours. The English channel we crossed in five days, the weather being clear, we had, for a time, a fine view of the coast of France and England—here we passed the wreck of a sailing vessel, nothing but the top of the masts being visible above water—the weather, too, was warm and pleasant, an indication that we were near sunny France; but behold the change as soon as we entered the North Sea! The atmosphere grew cold, the sky cloudy, the sea rough, and an hour later it was snowing! Our visions of sunny days in Germany were soon dispelled, for, indeed, the day after our landing a regular snow storm was raging in Bremen, and on my way to South Germany a mantle of snow enveloped the whole country until I reached the upper Rhine valley. But here too it was snowing the week after Easter.
The city of Frankfurt, besides being known as the richest city in the world, is the most beautifully lighted city my eyes ever beheld—it is simply grand! It is said to have the finest railway depot in Europe; and such perfect order—such scrupulous cleanliness—but this indeed is a prominent feature throughout the length and breadth of Germany. Every inch of ground is in the highest state of cultivation and presents the aspect of an immense garden. The rivers and creeks are all carefully and substantially confined within proper limits and look like canals. And such streets and public highways; where else in the world can such roads be found? Built on the macadam system, every foot of these highways is attended to by men in the employ of the government or towns and cities, whose business it is year in and out to keep these roads in perfect order—they look more like an asphalt street in a city than a public highway. I noticed the difference the more when, a few days ago, I went over to the neighboring city Zurich, in Switzerland. Where the Swiss boundary line began there also could be seen the more careless supervision and, in part, dilapidated condition of the public highway in the little republic. Zurich is a beautiful city of 70,000 inhabitants; it lies on a picturesque lake of the same name. An American can scarce think himself in an European city, for its magnificent buildings, its handsome shops and broad streets are very much like one of our Eastern cities, with this exception that here is more decoration, more of the artistic and ornamental to be seen. The public buildings are all of solid sandstone and scarcely a facade but has its artistic carvings. The University stands upon a hill overlooking city and lake; it is an immense though not stylish building; a motor line running up to it from the city. More later.

A MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR.
A Woman Shot Through the Hand by a Stranger.
Friday the sheriff received notice that a woman had been shot at North Yamhill and he left immediately. The affair has created considerable talk and is mysterious, and as far as could be learned happened as follows:
A family of French people by the name of Montyon live several miles from North Yamhill, in the Pike neighborhood. Friday morning while Mr. Montyon was in the fields at work some one knocked at the door, and upon Mrs. Montyon opening it she found a man masked with a revolver in his hand. He said, "You know too much!" and aiming the revolver at her, fired. She threw up her hand and the ball penetrated the hand. The man immediately left and no trace of him has been found. The family immediately packed up and left for Portland. It is reported that in the seven years' residence near North Yamhill Mrs. Montyon has not once appeared in the town. The family were not sociable and little is known of them. It is a strange case and is a fit subject for a novelist, who, no doubt, could weave a thrilling tale from the circumstances known.

Behring sea has been for several days the subject of many rumors, probably because of the fact that the sealing season will be open in a few days. First it was said that Secretary Foster had instructed the commanders of the revenue cutters to seize all vessels caught illegally taking seals; then that England proposed sending half a dozen war ships there for the purpose of forcibly rescuing any vessel sailing under the British flag that might be seized. But little is known positively of the present status of the matter, hence the rumors. The special agents of the treasury department have recommended that all sealing be stopped for one or more seasons, to prevent extinction of the seals, and Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British minister, has intimated that his government would agree to that if the United States would see that its citizens caught no seals. But this proposition is violently opposed by the North American fur company, the present lessees of the sealing privilege, which denies that there is a scarcity of seals. Secretary Foster has sent J. Stanley Brown, once the private secretary of President Garfield, to examine and report to him the condition of the seals. Secretaries Blaine and Foster have had several conferences on this matter, and it is said that they are not in entire accord thereon.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease, which is in the brain. The only way to cure deafness is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running nose, a sore throat, a ringing in the ears, and a feeling of fullness in the head. It is entirely cured by the use of our catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.
We have a balanced dose for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that we cannot cure by taking Hall's catarrh cure. Send circulars.

Returned to the Old Home.
Twenty years ago a one-horse circus passed through this country and after its departure John Welch, of Beaverton, Washington county, missed his 15-year-old son, Martin Welch. The boy had run away with the circus. Nothing was heard of him, and the old folks long since mourned him as dead. Last week a heavily bearded gentleman of 35 walked into the Welch home, at Beaverton, and called Mrs. Welch "mother." She did not understand, and told the book agent to go. "I am not a book agent," said he. "I am your runaway boy, mother." That settled it. A messenger was sent out for the father, who came home to welcome the son back. Martin then told how he had gone with the circus and followed the occupation of a rider. He had been all over the world, but is now back to stay, though he left the circus behind.

A Mystery Explained.
The papers contain frequent notices of rich, pretty and educated girls and young women, tramps and coachmen. The well known specialist, Dr. Franklin Miles, says all such cases are more or less nervous, very impulsive, unbalanced, usually subject to headache, neuralgia, sleeplessness, moderate crying or laughing. These show a weak nervous system, for which there is no remedy except the Restorative Nervine. Trial bottles and a fine book containing many marvellous cures free at Rogers Bros., who also sell and guarantee the Restorative Nervine.

OREGON CONFERENCE.
Eighth Annual Session of the Evangelical Association.
The ministers of the Oregon Conference of the Evangelical Association of North America assembled in Spokane, Wash., the second week in May, 1891. Preliminary meeting viz: The Sunday School and Tract Union, Missionary society, and Educational association were held on Tuesday and Wednesday.
Resolutions were passed by the Educational society as follows:
WHEREAS, The citizens of Lafayette did in the month of February, 1889, convey, assign and deed the court house block or square and the east half of block 32 to the Oregon conference of the Evangelical association on condition that said conference maintain an institution of learning thereupon, and
WHEREAS, The representatives of said conference (which is the only legal Oregon conference) were prevented from managing and controlling said institution of learning during the past year by certain parties claiming to represent the Oregon conference, but who by their course at Albany, Oregon, on May 2, 1890, severed their active connection with the Oregon conference of the Evangelical association and hence, were legally disqualified from performing any of the duties connected with said seminary, and
WHEREAS, A resolution passed by the Oregon conference at Albany, Oregon on May 6, 1890, in respect to the action of these men who have been illegally managing said seminary the past year, has been misconstrued into an assertion that said Oregon conference would have nothing to do with the management of said seminary, and
WHEREAS, Said resolutions were designed and intended as a general public notice, that the action of the educational association at its annual session in May, 1890, and hence all the actions of the trustees elected by said educational association were and are null and void; therefore be it
Resolved, That we stand ready to fulfill all obligations and promises made to the citizens of Lafayette in reference to the maintenance and support of the Lafayette seminary of the Oregon conference of the Evangelical association, be it further
Resolved, That the citizens of Lafayette be and are hereby requested to give their unanimous support and assistance to the representatives of the Oregon conference in securing the control and management of the seminary, according to the original act and intent of the city, to the Oregon conference of the Evangelical association.

The Portland Murder.
Wm. Barbour, a furniture dealer in Lebanon, Oregon, left his home with about $800 on April 15 to make purchases in Portland. On arriving at Portland he made some purchases and disappeared without ordering the goods forwarded. His friends feared he had been murdered. But "no clue" to his whereabouts was found until Sunday, the 3rd, when Mr. A. E. Carrel discovered a dead man among the saw logs at Penney's log boom in the Willamette river. The face was so decomposed that recognition was impossible, but from the clothing it was determined that it was the body of Mr. Barbour. He was doubtless murdered for his money and thrown into the river. He leaves a young wife at Lebanon.

WEATHER-CROP BULLETIN.
For the Week Ending Saturday, May 9, 1891.—U. S. Signal Service.
WESTERN OREGON.
The temperature has been about the average for the week, while the rainfall has been in excess from one to two inches. In Southern Oregon the rain was unusually heavy; general rains prevailed from the 4th to the 7th, inclusive. On the 6th a thunder storm was experienced, which, in Benton county especially, was accompanied by high winds and hail, doing slight damage to cabbage and rye. Hail accompanied the thunder storm. Hail fell in sections on the 7th. Light frosts were general on 7th, 8th and 9th, doing no appreciable damage. Warm sunshine prevailed on the 3d, 8th and 9th.
The increased warmth has been of great benefit to crops of all kinds. The growth is remarkable. Winter wheat is, in places, quite rank. On low-land spring seeding is not completed, owing to the rains and wet soil. Some rye is heading. The hay and clover fields are unusually promising. Hay will be a big crop. The rain is very beneficial. Hops are pole high already, and so far are very healthy. Corn is being planted. Garden products are up and growing well. Strawberries are in blossom and the fruit formed. Grape vines are being trained on arbors, leaves are about fully formed. The vines are thrifty and clusters forming. Fruit trees are heavily laden. The frost has not pruned out the surplus fruit, hence considerable fruit pruning will have to be done by hand, else the trees will be broken down. The prospects for all products are unusually promising.

EASTERN OREGON.
The temperature has been about an average. Showers fell on 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th quite copious in Wasco county and decreasing in amount eastward. In Morrow county only sprinkles were experienced. Light frosts occurred in sections on 7th, 8th and 9th; no damage is reported. The weather has been more cloudy than usual.
Late spring grain is in need of more rain. Unless more moisture is soon had the spring grain will be a short crop. Fall wheat promises unusually well. In Umatilla county the ground is quite hard, but the late showers benefited it somewhat. In sections fall wheat has begun to head. In Baker and Malheur counties irrigation is mainly depended upon for crops and here they are promising, as the cool, cloudy weather retarded evaporation. In Union county wheat prospects are excellent. South of the Blue mountains wheat is backward, frosts are frequent. Fruit is now blooming. Frost has done no damage to it so far. Spring grain is coming up, but more rain is wished for. Snow yet lingers in the mountains, keeping the air cool. Throughout Eastern Oregon the fruit prospects are excellent. Sheep shearing is progressing finely. Some clouds are being delivered to warehouses.
